HINA'S QUARREL WITH JAPAN OVER LEASES SERIOUS

BY B. W. FLEISHER
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1923, Public Ledger.]

KING, March 29.—The dominating political issue of for an indefinite period will be questions arising China's refusal to recognize the 1915 treaty extending ... on Port Arthur and Dairen.

China is sending a second note to Japan, it is stated in reliable quarters and if that yields no result, Peking will request that the issue be brought before the Council of the League of Nations conforming to the suggestion contained in an official letter signed by Clemenceau and the council of five sent to the Chinese delegates at Versailles.

UNFORTUNATELY WORDED

That China's note was unfortunately worded and can only lead to resentment is the opinion of C. T. Wang, who is better qualified to speak for China on international affairs than any other man. Wang has just been appointed director of the Russo-Chinese negotiations which will be resumed in a few weeks. Adolph Joffe represents the soviet government.

Wang is confident the conference will be successful. He has just completed his task as director of Chino-Japanese negotiations on the return of Shantung. Recently he has been Foreign Minister and acting Premier of China simultaneously and this week declined an appointment to the former office.

In an exclusive interview today he said:

"I consider the wording of China's note to Japan unfortunate. It is unhappily framed and liable to provoke resentment. While the Chinese government and people are as sincere as they are determined in refusing to consider the treaty notes of May, 1915, and the subsequent so-called twenty-one demands as valid, yet the manner of reply should have been in such a form that would have permitted negotiations through a conference with a possibility if not a probability of reaching an amicable adjustment and settlement.

REASONS FOR LEASE

"There existed originally three reasons for Japan's desire to obtain a lease on the Kwantung peninsula. The first was regarded as a check and protection against the repetition of Russia aggression. That reason no longer exists.

"The second was they hoped it would permit an outlet for Japan's growing population through colonization. Time has proved that the Japanese cannot colonize on the mainland of Asia, as Chinese laborers and farmers can underlive and overwork them. And that reason no longer exists. The third was economic advantages, especially of trade, a reason which holds good today.

"The question for Japan to consider is whether the value of the economic advantages to be gained through political control of the peninsula would compensate for the loss of trade advantages throughout China. Japan stands to gain comparatively little. Further-

Scout Cruiser Has Easy Time in Speed Test

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

QUINCY (Mass.) March 29.—The big scout cruiser Detroit, intended as a destroyer leader and a new unit of highspeed in America's battle fleets, returned to her builder's yards at the Fore River Shipbuilding Corporation plant here today from a shakedown in Massachusetts Bay, in which, according to naval officers, she attained a thirty-knot speed without being pushed. The officers added that the cruiser, which has a 90,000 horsepower motive plant, the largest installation of its kind in the United States, proved in the storm which she rode out at sea last night, that she could weather the stiffest blows in good shape. The Detroit is in some respects a sister ship of the Omaha, built on the Pacific Coast. The latter is reported to have made thirty-two knots.

McSHANE IS CONVICTED OF FORGERY

Jury Agrees on Six of Thirty-six Counts; Will be Sentenced Monday

William F. McShane, former president of the defunct Sutherland Fruit Company, was found guilty yesterday on six counts in Judge Bledsoe's division of the United States District Court of forging bills of lading. The jury failed to agree on thirty counts and was dismissed after it had reported that further deliberations were of no avail. The conviction involved the forgery of two separate bills.

Judge Bledsoe announced he would pass sentence on McShane at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

McShane is at liberty on $12,000 surety bonds.

The government started its case against McShane a week ago. It went to the jury yesterday afternoon. The jury reported shortly before midnight.

McShane was held to answer by the government to a charge of forging bills of lading on fruit shipments which it is asserted were never made. The bills of lading were consigned to cover loans obtained on the fruit said by McShane to be in transit.

The maximum penalty provided by law is $5000 fine or five years' imprisonment, or both, on each count.

Private Dalzell to Get Diploma at Eighty-four

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON (Pa.) March 29. Private Dalzell, known to Grand Army of the Republic men all over the country, is to get his diploma from Washington and Jefferson College sixty years after he left his studies to enter the Northern Army in the Civil War.

The story came out today when announcement was made that the trustees, on recommendation of the faculty, had voted to confer the degree of Bachelor of Arts on J. M. Dalzell, 84 years of age, of the United States Soldiers' Home at Washington, D. C. He will be present, if able, to receive his diploma at this year's commencement exercises.

Germany Ready to Discuss Reparations With Entente

BY JOHN CLAYTON
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1923, by the Chicago Tribune.]

BERLIN, March 29.—Germany is ready to negotiate before the Ruhr is evacuated, declared the government officially today in answer to statements made in the British House of Commons yesterday.

An official announcement says that neither in a note to foreign countries, nor in official speeches has Germany declared otherwise. But she insists that she be given guarantees that the Ruhr will eventually be evacuated when an agreement is reached.

NOTHING EXPECTED NOW

The Foreign Office does not expect negotiations for months, however, all feelers and attempts to bring about conversations having failed. Herr Rosenberg told the foreign committee in the Reichstag that Germany must be prepared to keep up the resistance until winter.

Herr Rosenberg's speech was not any threat of war, the government declares. The Havas Agency twisted the text, asserts German official sources, making it appear bellicose.

UNEMPLOYED RESTLESS
By Paul Williams
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DUESSELDORF, March 29. — The increasing uneasiness among the unemployed is becoming more and more embarrassing to the municipal government.

The workless council has demanded an immediate distribution of 150,000 marks per head, which is to be obtained through a special tax.

This peculiar organization also insists that the burden of the jobless be lightened by exemption from taxation. The unemployed receive doles of 10,000 marks daily for single men, 15,000 marks for married men, and 500 marks for each child. The city has arranged to employ 1000 of them for public improvements.

Sixty men were arrested today by German police, charged with thefts of goods valued at 6,000,000 marks from the railway warehouse at Osterfeld.

About 15,000 men are striking in the state mines where the French and Belgians are loading coal and coke.

The French today confiscated 5,000,000 marks which the German government had sent as aid to the strikers at Recklinghausen.

Autoist Killed; 3 Hurt

REDDING, March 29.—One man was killed and three others were injured seriously early this morning when an automobile in which they were riding plunged from a 200-foot precipice. The men were discovered by passers-by several hours later.

Accidentally Shoots Man

Demonstrating for her companion what she would do if a bandit appeared, Miss Gean Johnson last night drew a small revolver which in some manner was discharged, inflicting a flesh wound on the neck of John Reedy of 1124½ Kensington Road, president of the Los Angeles Market Company. Mr. Reedy was treated at the Receiving Hospital. No arrests were made.

New Air Speed Record

DAYTON (O.) March 29.—In setting a new world's airplane speed record here today, Lieut. Lester J. Maitland, U.S.A. aviator, attained a speed of 281.4 miles per hour and his average for four trips over the one-kilometer course will exceed 240 miles per hour, Orville Wright, representative of the Federated Aeronautique Internationale, said tonight. Official time on the record will be determined tomorrow. The former record of 233.01 miles per hour is held by Sadi LeCointe, a French aviator.

AMERICA IS DRAFTING NEW TRADE TREATIES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March. 29.—State officials are working on drafts of new commercial treaties and arrangements which it is planned to negotiate with a number of countries created as a result of the war. Conventions also will be replaced.

A new commercial arrangement is being prepared for ratification with Spain.

NEW YORK MAN POSED AS SINGLE, POLICE ARE TOLD

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, March 30.—Frederick W. Burnham, noted contractor, clubman and owner of Riverview Manor on the Hudson, died early today of a pistol wound inflicted yesterday by Miss Helena Zeigler, just before she shot and killed herself. Mrs. Burnham was at his bedside when the end came. Miss Ziegler, police believe, became infuriated when she learned Burnham was married.

The second barrel of the old 45-caliber Army derringer with which she shot Burnham was emptied into her own brain and she died instantly.

POSED AS SINGLE

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Lee Zeigler of Riverside Drive, learned for the first time last night that the man they had entertained as a friend and with whom their daughter had become infatuated was the same Frederick W. Burnham who maintained the magnificent Riverview Manor estate at Dobbs's Ferry and, with his wife, was a social leader in that exclusive suburb.

The double shooting occurred in Burnham's private office on the second floor of the Grand Central Terminal.

Police have begun a search for Miss Ida Murphy of Brooklyn, who was said to have accompanied Miss Zeigler to the terminal and waited in the corridors while her friend went in to face Burnham.

It was believed she fled when she heard the reports of the pistol.

TEA AT WALDORF

The two young women had tea at the Waldorf Astoria yesterday afternoon and, as far as police have determined, went from there directly to Burnham's suite in the terminal, ten blocks away.

The wealthy contractor met Miss Zeigler at a social function ten years ago, her parents said. Burnham and his wife were said to have been married about that time. Since that occasion, when she was but a girl, Burnham had been a frequent visitor at the home and had been considered a suiter for Helena's hand, her parents said.

Helena was warned, the mother told police, not to marry Burnham, for, she declared, he often came to their home under the influence of liquor.

Burnham was said to have played cards at the Zeigler home last Saturday night. Mrs. Zeigler knew, she told the police, that her daughter had an appointment with him at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

NEIGHBORS SHOCKED

In Dobbs's Ferry, members of that exclusive suburban colony expressed amazement when informed their neighbor had been shot. They would not believe he had been involved in any triangle. Close friends of Mr. and Mrs. Burnham accompanied the wife to the hospital.

Mrs. Burnham is a member of the Woman's Club and is one of the leaders in the Christian Science church there. Burnham belonged to several fashionable clubs, and many of his leisure hours were spent on the golf links.

Police reported that Mrs. Burnham had become aware of his attentions to Helena Zeigler several months ago and that she had demanded that he either end his visits to the Riverside Drive apartment or give up his wife and home. Burnham was said to have promised that he would see no more of Miss Zeigler.

These facts led the police to believe that the shooting resulted in Burnham's attempt to shun Miss Zeigler.

It was thought that she had learned that he was married and went to his office to demand an explanation. Police believed that Burnham told her he was through, turned and walked away from his desk, then dropped with the bullet in his brain.

SKIDDING CAR CARRIES CONTRACTOR TO DEATH

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

YREKA, March 29.—Christopher Quigley, Klamath Falls (Or.) logging contractor, was instantly killed today when the automobile which he was driving from Treka to Hornbrook, skidded off the rim of the road at a turn and fell 140 feet into the Shasta River. Three passengers in the car were seriously injured.

WARRANTS FOR STRIKERS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SYDNEY (N. S.) March 29.—Warrants were issued tonight for the arrest of thirty-five steel workers, charged with participating in clashes between pickets, nonunion workmen and police during the strike at the British Empire Steel Corporation plant last month.

KLAN MEMBER TO BE OUSTED FROM SENATE

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Senator-elect Mayfield of Texas, notorious as a Ku Klux Klan leader and supported by the Ku Klux of Texas, will lose his seat in the Senate.

He will have to walk the plank because of alleged frauds in the primary and election. The majority of the Senators believe his fight against Senator E. K. Peddy was unfair [illegible] tainted with fraudulent practices which deprived the electors of Texas of a right to freely express their choice at the polls.

A poll of the Senate, composed of ninety-two members since the death of Senator Nicholson, shows sixty-three are against Mayfield and only thirty-two for him. This check-up shows there are but five Republicans for seating Mayfield and only twenty-seven Democrats will vote for him to retain his seat.

Opposed to his remaining in the Senate are forty-seven Republicans, fifteen Democrats and one independent. No amount of pressure between now and the time the Senate votes can change this line-up much, if any. Texas is all wrought up over the Mayfield case. Many of the prominent Democratic leaders in the State demand his expulsion. They boldly assert that he was unlawfully elected.

CHARGES AGAINST MAYFIELD

The charges on which the opponents of Mayfield base their contention that he should be ousted are:

That his name as the Democratic nominee was "unlawfully printed on all ballots used in the more than 105 of the more populous counties" and unlawfully stamped, written or pasted (by election officers) on the ballots used in other counties" and more than 200,000

CALIFORNIA'S PORK BARREL BLOC WORRIED

BY KYLE D. PALMER
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SACRAMENTO, March 29.—The business of accommodating the $30,000,000 revenues of the State to the $100,000,000 program of the pork-barrel bloc in the Legislature has been actively undertaken by the Senate and Assembly Committees on Ways and Means. A working basis for the undertaking is furnished by Gov. Richardson's $79,000,000 economy budget, which has been under fire from various sources for more than a month, but which appears to have materially advanced rather than receded in popular estimation during the process.

The open hearings on the budget have enabled the job holders' brigade and the various Johnson-McCabe machine politicians to expend days and hours and weeks in anguished protest and in violent denunciation of the Governor's determination to have the State remain within its income. And now, with all of this recital of bureaucratic dismay and political personalities, the legislative committees are enabled to begin serious consideration of the financial problems of the State.

TALK TO GALLERIES

With the exception of a very few individuals who content themselves with presenting the needs of their departments, stripped of bombastic pleasant self-praise, those addressing the budget hearings have talked to the galleries and for the benefit of the few opposition papers in the State. The absence of any real results from the protracted budget hearings became so marked during the last two weeks that even the most energetic antiadministration legislators were anxious to stop the fiasco.

Various changes in the $79,000,000 budget submitted to the Legislature by Gov. Richardson in January have been made and ad-

EXPECT PRELATE'S PARDON

Pope's Offer a Year Ago to Buy Sacred Treasures and Rejection by Soviets Revealed

BY GEORGE SELDES
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
[Copyright, 1923, by the Chicago Tribune.]

MOSCOW, March 29.—At tomorrow's meeting the All-Russian Executive Committee will take up the reprieve or commutation of Archbishop Zepliak's death sentence, which is the first item on the agenda. It is generally expected that the stay of execution will result in a pardon, which the president of the soviet, M. Kalenin, will sign when he returns from a trip.

The Executive Committee previously granted the right to Archbishop Zepliak to have a Roman priest give the sacrament if the execution was carried out. The priest is Father Edmund Walsh, professor of the Georgetown University, who is heading the Vatican's relief mission working with the American Relief. Father Walsh asked the soviet authorities for two hours private talk with Archbishop Zepliak, as well as to be present at the execution, in an official communication.

Father Walsh, since the arrest of Archbishop Zepliak, frequently has requested the authorities to consider the possibilities the trial would have upon subscriptions which the Catholic world is raising for Russian relief, which now totals $4,000,000.

Father Walsh stated that a year ago the Vatican, foreseeing the possibility of the event which actually happened, made an official offer to the soviets to purchase all sacred objects of gold, silver and jewels in the Roman churches at any price competent appraisers named, payable in gold, which would be given for famine relief to the Russian government without strings.

Father Walsh showed an official note which had been delivered to

Admiral Sims Tells Why He Likes British

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OAKLAND, March 29.—Rear-Admiral William S. Sims, United States Navy, retired, in an address before the Oakland Chamber of Commerce today, replied to critics who have accused him of being pro-British by saying:

"I am. I like the British. I admire the way they stood the gaff during the war."

Speaking of Asiatic conditions, the admiral declared the Pacific Coast need have no fear of an invasion.

"But," said the admiral, "with its present Navy the United States would be powerless to enforce its open-door policy in the Orient."

To maintain American safety in the Far East, he urged development of the naval base on the Island of Guam because "war vessels cannot operate successfully more than 3500 miles from their supply base."

SENATE PASSES LOCAL MEASURE

Two More Police Judges for City in Prospect

Upper House to Reconsider School-Supply Bill

Assembly Smokers Desist in Deference to Utah

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, March 29.—The State Senate today voted 18 to 21 to reconsider a bill by Borgs of Stockton to permit co-operative buying of school supplies and equipment. On first roll call the vote stood 18 against reconsideration and 12 for. As 14 votes were required for reconsideration a call of the house was demanded. It brought the reappearance of eight members, of whom five were for reconsideration.

The bill was passed yesterday after much debate, proponents arguing it would lead to the savings of large sums. Opponents, on the other hand, contended the bill would divert business from California supply firms to eastern concerns. The Chamberlin bill giving two additional police judges to Los Angeles was also passed by the Senate.

Other bills follow:

By Senator Crowley, San Francisco, providing that every registered pharmacist in the State must be at least 21 years of age, and a citizen of the United States.

NEW FORESTRY MEASURE

By Ingram, Grass Valley, providing that public lands of the State situated within the boundaries of any national forest, may be exchanged for Federal timber lands of equal value in any other portion of the State. The measure would authorize the surveyor-general to make such exchanges. The object is to establish a State forest reserve by uniting scattered tracts.

By Sample, San Diego, two bills, one to give the State control of Mission Bay, and the second to permit the State Board of Harbor Commissioners to extend leases in San Diego Bay from twenty-five to fifty years.

An amendment exempting Chinese from the provisions of Senator J. M. Inman's bill to prohibit aliens from taking fish from the waters and streams of the State was adopted today by the Senate.

Inman explained he desired to exempt Chinese engaged in shrimp fishing in the vicinity of San Francisco. Action on the bill itself is expected next Tuesday.

PAPERS TO GET PAY

Sixty-four thousand two hundred and twenty-two dollars and sixty-four cents due newspapers in the fifty-eight counties of California is somewhat nearer payment than it was before the Claims Committee of the Assembly met today, as that body passed out a bill recommending payment of the sum. This money is due the papers for advertising the Veterans' Welfare and the Land Settlements acts as required by law, the statute creating them having requires that there be certain preliminary advertising, but having neglected the detail of the pay therefor. The matter was brought before the committee by the Board of Control, which recommended payment.

If there is any rule of the Assembly, that, to quote members, is "cussed and discussed," more than any other, it is Rule No. 71, forbidding smoking while sessions are on. Today when the afternoon session started, somebody moved to suspend the rule, and it was so ordered.

Pretty soon it appeared that Gov. Mabey of Utah was to be the guest of the Assembly.

CLEAN AIR FOR GOVERNOR

"Mr. Speaker," said Miss Broughton, "inasmuch as they have a law against smoking in Utah, it seems to me it would be courteous to Gov. Mabey if we suspended the suspension of Rule No. 71, while he is in the chamber."

"But, Mr. Speaker," said Frank Ekward, "that law has been repealed, at least in part, so I don't believe we need stop smoking for the Governor."

"Mr. Ekward," rejoined Speaker Merriam, "the repeal of the Utah law is not effective until May, so I think we might dispense with the smoking while the Governor is with us."

It was so ordered, the windows were opened, and the atmosphere was clear when the Governor arrived.

Gov. Mabey gave a short address on the interstate spirit of the West.

Both houses will meet tomorrow morning, but have planned to adjourn during the afternoon, because of the day being Good Friday. As Monday is to be devoted to the funeral of Dr. G. H. Douglas, the Assembly member who died Tuesday evening, this means there will be little business transacted between tomorrow noon and Tuesday morning.

TRAFFIC PROBLEM UP

Members of the Legislature, sheriffs and district attorneys at an informal conference in the Senate chamber this afternoon discussed legislation to overcome the recent Supreme Court decision prohibiting county officers from appointing deputies during the terms for which they have been elected. The situation is said to be acute regarding the inability of counties to obtain sufficient traffic officers.

Attorney-General U. S. Webb suggested that the Legislature by means of a constitutional amendment create the post of county traffic officer. However, if this is done, it will not relieve the situation until four years hence. Webb advised that relief could be had meanwhile by amendment of the existing Motor Vehicle Act, so the State might lend to counties the aid of its traffic force, and so that county boards of supervisors might recommend local candidates for appointment by the State as traffic officers in their home counties.

A committee was appointed to draft the necessary legislation. All counties not operating under free-holders' charters are affected.

As a result, Miss Laura Volstead, driving, forfeited $2 collateral on a charge of parking in front of a public watering trough. The Congressman himself was not present.

NEW CONSTITUTION OF RUMANIA IS NOW LAW

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BUCHAREST, March 29.—King Ferdinand, in the presence of the Crown Prince, the Cabinet ministers and the president of the Chamber of Deputies, in the Senate today gave formal sanction to the new constitution, which was voted recently by both houses of Parliament. The constitution now becomes law.

The new Rumanian constitution insures to all Rumanians without distinction of race or religion, the same rights and liberties. There is but slight difference between the new constitution and the old.

WAR MENACE IN FAR EAST

Chino-Japanese Controversy Grows Serious

Settlement Necessary for Peace, Says Wang

more, a change in the political control of Dairen and Port Arthur would not necessarily mean the loss of established economic institutions.

"Japan has already relinquished 70 per cent of them under the articles of treaty of May, 1915. The only ones which have not been canceled through agreements or international conferences are Articles 1, 2, 3 and 4 of Group 2, of which four are from the seven articles referring exclusively to Southern Manchuria and Eastern and Inner Mongolia, and two articles of Group 3 which concern the Han Yeh-Ping Company.

LEADING TO CONFLICT

"There would be little difficulty in settling the question of Han Yeh-Ping through a new agreement. With the adjustment through a conference of the extension of the lease of Kwantung and the Manchurian railway, the last of the twenty-one demands would be expunged, and the relations between the two countries would be increasingly friendly and prove of mutual advantage to both. It must be evident if the question is not settled it will continue indefinitely an open issue and not only develop hostile feelings, but also ultimately lead to conflict.

"I am a strong believer that a clear understanding can be reached but threats by either side only widen the breach. The settlement of Shantung was a long step forward, while an amicable settlement of this question would be one more step in the right direction, which would lead to continued friendship and reciprocity of mutual advantage."

PEOPLE FORCED METHOD

The Premier, in answer to my questions regarding the tone of the note, said: "International political conditions and public opinion forced that method. Nothing less would have satisfied the Chinese."

The Premier also said the question had two sides, as it would also help to unify the various factions within China on an external issue. He admitted the government would be helpless to prevent a Japanese boycott if it was instigated.

Student demonstrations taking place at various points throughout China, demand the unconditional return of Liaotung.

At all these meetings demands are being made for a Japanese boycott. The government is instigating and encouraging the students because they distract public attention from corrupt and inefficient conditions. The Peking government is almost bankrupt and barely functioning, and only under the orders of whatever Tuchun may be dominating the situation. It is only existing because of foreign recognition. No legation is supporting China's contentions. All of them are either indifferent or regard the present threat of an anti-Japanese boycott with disfavor.

DURESS IS CHARGED

China's claims are based on the claim that she acted under duress and the fact that Parliament has not ratified the 1915 treaty. The claim of duress is an open question as China agreed to extend the leases for ninety-nine years March 8, and Japan's ultimatum was delivered May 7, replying to China's note of May 1, which did not refer to that clause.

It is also pointed out that with a few exceptions all treaties and agreements with China have been concluded under duress. Most of the concessions and leaseholds held by treaty powers are the result of coercion of the Chinese government. On the other hand the lease clause was part of the twenty-one demands, all of which the Chinese claim were obtained under duress.

RAIN NEARS LAND FROM FAR AT SEA

Severe Gale Raging About Thousand Miles Off-Shore May Mean Wet Easter

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—One of the most severe storms of the year is raging in the Pacific Ocean, about 1000 miles west of the Coast. It is traveling toward land. It will bring rain some time about Friday night or Saturday. Just where, the Weather Bureau here is as yet unprepared to say.

If it strikes California we will have a wet Easter day.

It will end the most severe spring drought ever experienced in the State. Rain will mean millions of dollars to farmers. If the storm fails it will mean the loss of millions.

Since February 12 there has been but .02 of an inch of rain.

Concerning the storm at sea George H. Willson, official forecaster, said he had received four messages from the steamer West Ivan, Batavia to San Francisco, "that she was in a full southwest gale," and that the wind recorded was as high as seventy-five miles an hour.

The steamer Bearport, Manila to San Francisco, reported a westerly gale. The West Ivan was 1100 miles off Point Arena, Cal., and the Bearport 1900 miles off Cape Blanco, Or., when the last reports were received.

The storm is expected to reach the coast of the Northwest States tomorrow afternoon, and later is expected to bring rain and winds to California. The amount of rain is problematical, according to Willson, but there should be enough, according to present indications, to relieve the present drought in the State.

The full force of the storm is expected to strike the Oregon coast. The disturbance is then due to spread northward and southward over a territory the extent of which could not be forecast today.

GERMANY READY TO NEGOTIATE

formerly of Coblenz, where he was known to many Americans.

SENTENCE COMMUTED

A French court-martial sentenced to life imprisonment a train dispatcher at Ludwigshafen, who withheld a train order, resulting in a wreck. The reviewing authority commuted the sentence to twenty years.

The director of a small mining company with offices in Bochum was arrested for his refusal to pay the French coal tax. The mine owners again have been notified that they must pay this tax without further delay. Wholesale action is expected next week.

The French today began confiscating all vineyard property of the German state in the Rhine and Moselle Valleys. This includes vineyards and nurseries and stocked wine cellars.

Smuggling into the occupied territory is developing on a large scale along the Dutch and Luxembourg frontiers, where the French and Belgian customs service is not a perfected organization. Most of the illicit trade is in foodstuffs, as was the case in 1919.

A Hollander was arrested today by German police, charged with running in fifty-five bags of coffee. During his trial he appealed to the French, expressing his willingness to pay the import tax to them. The French ordered the release of the prisoner and his property, informing the authorities that in the future they must co-operate with the French in similar prosecutions.

TO OUST NATIONALISTS

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ESSEN, March 29.—A vigorous campaign to rid the Ruhr of German Nationalists who have been strenuously opposing the French and Belgians since they marched into the valley January 11, has been started by the armies of occupation. The Nationalists are held responsible for the outbursts of violence which have taken place lately against French and Belgian officers and soldiers.

Many leaders and members of the party have been arrested in Essen during the last few days. The French police have been systematically searching the homes of Nationalists in Essen, Bochum, Recklinghausen and other centers of trouble.

They have found vast amounts of propaganda tracts and arms, and other material connected with the operations of the Nationalists and their allied secret societies which the French assert have been very active recently.

LOAN DISMAL FAILURE

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BERLIN, March 29.—Only 25 per cent of Germany's interal 50,000,000 loan has been covered by popular subscription, according to returns made public today, and while this result is designated as meeting official expectations under prevailing political and economic conditions, the financial critics frankly concede that the showing is anything but flattering.

The extent to which the loan is underwritten by the public through the mediation of private banks leaves the banks with a deficit of 50,000,000 gold marks, which they now are obligated to assume, in keeping with their promise to the government and to the Reichsbank. Whether the Riechsbank will succeed in disposing of all or the major portion of the unsubscribed balance is highly doubtful, although the hope is expressed that the loan will be listed on German bourses and will consequently find added takers.

KLAN SENATOR TO BE OUSTED

such illegal ballots were cast for him.

"The placing of Mayfield's name on these ballots was unlawful," the formal complaint now filed with the Senate says, "because it is alleged Mayfield and his representatives and his alleged conspirators (including the Ku Klux Klan) violated all material provisions of the Texas Corrupt Practices Act in that they expended for campaign purposes more than $150,000 in the primary elective campaigns; the lawful maximum being $10,000."

It also is charged that several thousand votes actually cast for George E. B. Peddy, who is contesting Mayfield's election, were counted for Mayfield. A recount is demanded.

PERSONAL QUALIFICATIONS

Mayfield's personal qualifications are challenged upon these grounds:

"Alleged violations of the Corrupt Practices Act and of alleged false swearing in connection with such violations; alleged false testimony given by him in connection with the Corsicana injunction case, which involved alleged violations of the Corrupt Practices Act; alleged misuse and abuse of his official position and powers as railroad commissioner to compel financial and personal support and contribution by individuals, corporations and others having business with the Railroad Commission of Texas and his alleged membership in and approval of the Ku Klux Klan and its activities."

The petitioners, urging Mayfield's banishment from the Senate, connect the Ku Klux Klan with each and every illegal and fraudulent act charged in connection with the primary and general elections, it being averred that the Klan "thus sought to secure the nomination and election of Mayfield to further the accomplishment of its real purposes."

Republican leaders here are going to the bat good and hard on the Mayfield petition. Many Democrats are in close quarters in the controversy.

Senator Sheppard of Texas is between two fires in the politics of the State. If he supports Mayfield he will alienate the old Culberson and Bailey forces. On the other hand, if he votes against Mayfield he will anger the Ku Klux Klan and thousands of his prohibition friends.

The Klan is said to be losing out in the State, and a show at the polls now would result in a death blow to the organization. In a recent mayoralty contest at Houston, the Klan lost heavily.

Senator Samuel M. Ralston of Indiana has aspirations for the White House. The Ku Klux Klan cut a big figure in the last Hoosier State election. It held the balance of power and eliminated many previously popular candidates. Vigorous efforts are being made there, however, to destroy the influence of the Klan. This makes a ticklish situation for an ambitious Senator. The Mayfield contest will force a line-up.

GREATEST ROLE HER FINAL ONE church beneath the balcony was draped in sable-hued curtains fringed with white, which hung from white stone arches and were held back against the supporting pillars.

TRIUMPHANT REGRET

The altar candles seemed to burn all the brighter on account of being against a black background. It was like some exquisite stage setting—the odor of incense seemed almost out of place. There was no omnipresent sense of sorrow. The emotion one felt everywhere was that of triumphant regret.

When the coffin was placed in an open hearse with its black and silver draperies it was literally buried under white blossoms—roses, lilies, violets and carnations. Preceding it were five huge floats filled with flowers; black draping the wagons and the trappings of the horses.

Such a floral tribute has rarely been seen even in Paris, the city of flowers. There were eight sheafs of wreaths measuring twelve feet across. One of the most exquisite was composed of palm leaves and 1000 calla lilies sent in memory of Rejane, the great French actress, who made her exit before the divine Sarah. Other beautiful ones bore ribbons of American organizations, notably the Lambs' Club, the Players' Club and the Actors' Equity Association.

REPRESENT AMERICA

James K. Hackett acted in the capacity of their representative here. He and Mrs. Hackett attended the obsequies on the invitation of the city of Paris, and sat in the section of the church reserved for state and municipal officials. Mrs. Hackett was the only woman in their midst.

At the cemetery tens of thousands waited within the gates and many more without. So great was the press that the crowd at times resembled a mob—a mob that forgot the solemnity of the occasion and growled angry defiance at the gendarmes lining the avenues leading to the last resting place of the great actress.

Reaching that spot was like going through armed territory. Even those who attended the services at the grave as official guests of the city of Paris had to show their credentials at least twenty times in progressing from the gate of Pere La Chaise to the place of interment.

There, while the police held back the throng, the body of the great French woman was laid to rest amidst the simplest of services. At the church there was no discourse delivered, although a Cabinet Minister had prepared one. As the last rites were said the guests filed past the open grave, at the bottom of which rested the flower-strewn coffin, and above which rose the low, ugly, spider-like granite monument which Mme. Bernhardt caused to be built many years ago.

The final floral offering placed upon it was a bouquet of white violets containing two red roses laid there by Mrs. Hackett—the roses reproducing the color of the ribbon of the Legion of Honor which rested upon the coffin below.

TRIBUTE TREMENDOUS

SAUZON, BELLE ISLE-EN-MER, March 29.—In a simple and touching ceremony today the citizens of this island, off the Britanny coast, where Sarah Bernhardt spent many of her summers, joined in spirit the innumerable friends of the great actress, who, in Paris, were accompanying her body to its last resting place.

The mayors and councilmen of all the municipalities on the island, followed by practically the entire population of fishermen and workmen, ascended the steep hill leading to "Houlain's Terrace," which Bernhardt loved so much, and from which on many summer evenings she watched the sun sinking into the ocean.

The toilers of the sea and the weather-beaten workmen literally covered the drawbridge and entrance to the little fort with lilies and wild flowers. No speeches were made. The silence was broken only by gruff expression of regret that Madame was not to be buried on Belle Isle in compliance with the wish she had so often expressed.

Their simple tribute over, the fishermen dispersed and put to sea, while the workmen resumed their tasks.

CHICAGO CEREMONY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, March 29.—Antonin Barthiemey, French Consul, and actors on various stages of the city today paid tribute to Sarah Bernhardt while her funeral was being conducted in Paris.

Local theaters were decorated in the Tricolor and the Stars and Stripes, while speakers called attention to the high place the French star held on the stage for so long, and the irreparable loss occasioned by her death.

Officials of the Orpheum Circuit theaters announced plans for a nation-wide contest to select a fitting tribute to the "divine actress" to be cast in bronze and placed on her tomb.

GOVERNMENT OIL IS STORED FOR MARKET

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Storing of oil belonging to the government in tanks to prevent its sale at low prices has proved a success, the Interior Department announced today.

A test made of 13,121 barrels of royalty oil accruing to the government from public land leases that was accumulated in storage prior to January 1, this year, has been sold at $1.65 per barrel. Had the oil been disposed of at current prices at the time of production only an average price of $1 per barrel would have been received.

The Department of the Interior is outlining further plans for the storage of royalty oil when a fair price cannot be obtained by its sale at market prices.

STATE MACHINE GRABBERS SAD

ditional adjustments are being made by the Governor and the Board of Control and it is probable that the Ways and Means Committees of the two houses will have the revised budget early next week. Further changes recommended by the committees will be made and the Senate and Assembly will receive for final attention the much-discussed biennial financial program.

LEGISLATURE'S POWERS

Under the new budget law, the Legislature may, by a majority vote, change the whole or any part of the budget and refer it back to the Governor, who may either accept or veto the changes. Should the Governor refuse to concur in the changes and restore the appropriation item or items as originally submitted, a two-thirds vote in each house will be necessary to override his veto. The present line-up in each house indicates the possibility of a majority vote to change certain recommendations, but it appears very unlikely that the opposition can muster a two-thirds majority in either house.

However, should the veto of Gov. Richardson be set aside by legislators willing to add to the tax burdens of the State and several million dollars be added to the total appropriation, it is the opinion of State authorities that a direct tax on general property of the State will be inevitable in 1924.

This very apparent condition, rather than a willingness to assist the Governor in carrying out his retrenchment program, is expected to deter many of those who desire a return to the era of the Johnson-Stephens pork barrel.

An all-day fight to purge the State election law of its nonsectarian permission to any candidate to run as the nominee of any or all parties ended in defeat today for the sponsors of a "purity of party" measure introduced by Assemblymen Weller and Mitchell of Los Angeles. The Weller-Mitchell bill provided that no partisan candidate should seek office on any party ticket of which he is not a registered member. Arguments against the proposal coming largely from the personal supporters of Senator Johnson, ranged from objection to the added cost of contest, both in the primary and general election, to an assertion that all State offices should be declared nonpartisan and candidates selected thereto without regard to party affiliation.

MEASURE ABLY SUPPORTED

Those supporting the measure, including Mr. Weller, whose calm and unbiased presentation of his case, won general approval—and the votes of two or three undecided members, who announced that they admired his attitude—urged adoption of the measure on the ground that it proposed the elimination of political personalities and the restoration of party principles in government.

Debate waxed so warm as the afternoon waned that members arose to explain that oratorical references were aimed at the merits of the bill and not at the authors thereof and, quite as a side issue a decided split occurred in the San Francisco delegation, giving rise to an exchange of remarks in which some of the secrets of boss rule in the Bay City were revealed. A reconsideration of the bill will be asked tomorrow.

WOULD ABOLISH ALL PRIVATE PROPERTIES

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, March 29.—The text of Philip Snowden's anti-capitalist bill, to come up for debate in the House of Commons after the Easter recess, was published today. The bill provides for "the nationalization of land and the abolition of private property in Great Britain." The main provision is "to abolish private property in land and transfer it in Great Britain to a newly created Ministry of Lands."

HARDING ACTION ASKED

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 29.—The National Civic Federation today made public a telegram sent by its president, Alton B. Parker, to President Harding, urging him to make known to the world the righteous indignation and profound horror of the American people at the "brutal and barbarous sentence of death by the Russian soviets against Archbishop Zepliak and his Vicar-General.

"The trial of these two Prelates was simply an attack, disguised under a thinly veiled legality upon the church they represent and is only a part of the persistent campaign carried on against all religion by the soviet regime in the beginning of its sinister despotism over the Russian people, the telegram declared.

storm that crippled steamer and rail transportation an dblocked the coast with ice fields, today was in the throes of another furious blizzard. Throughout last night and today the storm raged about the island. Tonight, the temperature was 5 deg. below zero, with the mercury steadily falling.

Reports were coming in of vessels just freed from the ice pack again caught in its bonds. The mail steamer Kyle, which escaped from an imprisonment of several days on the south coast, had been held in ice off St. Pierre for two days, it was reported. The sealing fleet is frozen in on the eastern edge of the grand banks, 200 miles from this port.

The position of the sealers is said to be most unusual, as the seal herds are usually found much further north. The exceptionally severe winter is said to be the reason for their southward journeying.

FOUR FROZEN TO DEATH

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NORFOLK (Va.) March 29.—Four men were frozen to death today in Albemarle Sound near the mouth of the North River, thirty miles below Elizabeth City, N. J., when the tug Julian J. Fleetwood capsized during a storm. Five other members of the crew were rescued by the Annie Vanselver of the North River Line.

REALTOR NAMED BENEFICIARY BY WIFE, PROSECUTION WITNESS STORY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SANTA CRUZ, March 29.—Prosecution witnesses in the case of John R. Mosier, oil operator, charged with murder of his wife, on February 1, testified here today that Mosier had been intimate with Mrs. Stellman and that he had taken out insurance policy with Mrs. Mosier designated as beneficiary.

E. G. Grewell, automobile mechanic, testified that he had gear of an automobile in the garage of Mosier and Mrs. Mosier was present, which went over an embankment several months ago, resulting in the death of Mrs. Mosier. Grewell testified he was asked to assign no reason for the accident.

Master stamped the machine safely. Mrs. Mosier suffered only minor injuries in the accident.

NEBRASKAN IS NAMED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, March 29.—Harry L. Keefe of Walthill, Neb., was elected president of the United States Grain Growers, Inc., at a meeting of the board of directors here today. J. M. Mehl of Chicago was elected secretary.

The officers said the present policy of the grain growers will be to bring into proper relationship to each other the existing forces, including local farmers' elevators and the single commodity marketing organizations. A committee was named to meet a committee of the American Wheat Growers' Association at Kansas City to discuss plans for harmonizing the two movements.

The organization also voted to acquire elevators and terminal facilities for the conditioning and selling of grain.

FAKE FILM PROMOTER ARRESTED

Berlin Police Nip Plans of Youthful Self-Styled Large-Scale Producer

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERLIN, March 29.—A well-attended meeting to organize an international film company was turned into a one-reel tragedy yesterday when the police arrested the youthful promoter, Bernard Rosofsky, in the midst of his inaugural address as general director.

Upon his arrival here a few weeks ago he was interviewed by the leading newspapers as one of America's greatest producers and received much attention from the trade press. He was asserted to have New York, London and Paris branches for hiring film stars and German actors here for America. Rosofsky introduced himself as a "well-known financier and successful large-scale producer." He succeeded in convincing scores of Germans that he knew where dollars grew on trees, but the lad was exposed when the police began investigating his connection with the American motion-picture industry.

Valentino Is Real Husband, Hoosiers Say

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

INDIANAPOLIS, March 29.—Whatever doubts aroused by the opinion today of Mrs. Edward Franklin White, Deputy Attorney-General of Indiana, as to the validity of the recent remarriage in Crown Point, Ind., of Rodolph Valentino, the screen star, and Miss Winifred Hudnut, were apparently settled by a statement of the office of the Lake County Clerk to the effect that both the issuance of the license and the remarriage were legally conducted and that no question of their validity has been officially placed before the clerk.

The Indiana law, strictly interpreted, is said to require that women be residents of the county in which the license is issued. No action against the couple is contemplated by the State, it was learned today. Determination of the eligibility of applicants for marriage licenses is left to the county officials, it was pointed out.

MEDICINE MAN IS PATIENT'S VICTIM

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SOMERTON (Ariz.) March 29. Stump Barley, a Yuma medicine man, has been murdered, the body found in his wickiup, with evidence that someone had crept up while the victim was asleep and had crushed his skull by a blow over the right side, presumably with a heavy club. There is assumption that the killing was in pursuance of some tribal custom that threw upon the medicine man responsibility for failures to cure his patients.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

MOSCOW, March 29.—The condition of the soviet Premier, Nikolai Lenin, is reported unchanged, although his temperature has improved slightly since yesterday. The bulletin issued by the physicians this afternoon gave his general condition as without change: temperature, 100, pulse, 104; respiration, 30.

CHECK JOKER BUSY IN NEW YORK'S JUBILEE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 29.—New York City's proposed $500,000 jubilee, which the Citizens' Union contends in a court action is $400,000 too much, looked for a short time today as if it would be celebrated with a whoop and a bang.

Controller Craig received a check for the much-needed $400,000, apparently from a public-spirited citizen. At the bank on which the check was drawn it was found the citizen, a manufacturer, had a balance of only $120.96.

NEW PROBLEMS MIGHTY TOUCHY

Dry Laws and Ship Board Rules Tangled

Canadians Want Vessels but Dislike Proviso

Industrious Skipper Might Get Boat Seized

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Enforcement of the prohibition laws and the disposition of the surplus ships owned by the Shipping Board, two complex and irritating questions, each containing enough political dynamite to keep an administration in perpetual state of nervous prostration, have produced an entirely new set of highly explosive problems by becoming entangled with one another.

While in general opposed to selling any of its surplus ships to alien hands to be operated under alien flags, the Shipping Board nevertheless is willing to sell to foreign register certain of its smaller craft, including some vessels built on the Great Lakes, for which no home market exists. Demand comes from Canada for some of these vessels. Canadians express a willingness to buy at a reasonable price certain ships that no Americans seem to want at any price.

The Shipping Board is perfectly willing to sell, but, with a speculative eye on some aspects of offshore trade, as practiced by the nationals of certain contiguous countries, the Shipping Board insists on writing into the contracts a provision whereby the purchasers agree not to use the purchased vessels in any trade or commerce that is forbidden by the laws of the United States.

TICKLISH CLAUSE

No one needs an interpreter for that clause. It simply means that the purchaser is not to permit his vessel to be used as a rum runner to satisfy American thirsts on palm of having the United States government take ship away from him if and when it can.

The would-be Canadian purchasers, scrutinizing this provision, find it highly undesirable. The thought of subjecting themselves to any such pains and penalties, in the event that a thoughtless skipper or an overmercenary one attempted to do a little hooch business on the side, absolutely against orders, of course, gives them excruciating pains. They don't like the provision or any part of it. They have laid their troubles before the Dominion government at Ottawa. That government finds the proposed provison almost as deplorable as do the individual Canadians. All sorts of unpleasant complications might arise if a Canadian bought an American ship on the conditions demanded. Accordingly, the Dominion government, through proper diplomatic channels, has submitted its protest to the British Embassy at Washington, which in turn has taken the matter up with the Department of State.

UP TO HUGHES

Upon the broad shoulders of Secretary Hughes there has been thrust, accordingly, this new burden, crowding the Ruhr situation, the many-sided dispute over elevating the ranges of battleship guns, the question of forming a more intimate association with South and Central American republics, and the question of America's entrance into the Court of International Justice for place. Maybe it will find room on the spot where the questions of the recognition of the Russian and Mexican governments have been standing.

The Shipping Board is sitting tight on its proposed form of contract. Prohibition enforcement interest which helped get the disputed clause written into the contract form, likewise is standing pat. Both, however, make slight attempt to mask the eager expectancy with which they are awaiting word from Secretary Hughes's office. Both are willing to be consulted, but neither has been as yet. The British protest is too recent.

Police Believe Dorothy Keenan Killed by Some One Whose Presence Did Not Frighten Her

BY JULIA HARPMAN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, March 29.—Dorothy Keenan was murdered by a person whose early morning entrance into her West Fifty-seventh-street apartment was not sufficiently surprising to cause the girl to cry aloud in alarm.

Ferdinand Pecora, chief assistant District Attorney, so expressed his opinion today, at the beginning of the third week of the investigation of the crime which has bared the skeleton of the family closet of E. T. Stotesbury, Philadelphia's mightiest financier.

CONFERS WITH POLICE

Pecora conferred at length with Capt. Arthur Carey, of the homicide bureau, and conversed over the telephone regarding the case with Inspector John Coughlin. Every phase of the investigation to date was discussed and there was a general fusing of opinions and theories, based on evidence which has come to the hands of the authorities.

As an outcome of this conference, every person remotely connected with the life of Dorothy Keenan during the last week of her life or who might have some knowledge of her chloroforming is to be questioned.

Members of the Keenan family will come first and their examination will take place tomorrow afternoon at the criminal court in the presence of Pecora and Coughlin. There will be Dorothy's mother, Mrs. Anna Keenan; her rather belligerent brother, John; her milder mannered brother, Francis, who was at one time employed by his sister's friend, Maj. Draper Daugherty, son of the Attorney-General of the United States; and Mrs. Helen Whitson, sister of the dead girl.

WILL QUESTION MITCHELL

J. Kearsley Mitchell, Philadelphia millionaire, who married E. T. Stotesbury's daughter amid blinding social glamour, has been notified to be at the District Attorney's office Saturday. Mitchell provided Dottie Keenan with a fortune in cash and jewels and established her in the West Fifty-Seventh-street apartment.

John H. Jackson, Mitchell's private attorney, who has admitted he is the mysterious "Mr. Wilson" who accompanied Mitchell on his philandering excursions, will also have to undergo another questioning Saturday.

John Thomas, elevator operator, and Miss Keenan's maid, Ella Bradford, who found the body of the murdered girl are included in the list of witnesses to be questioned.

LETTERS TELL LITTLE

Letters which were found in the safety deposit box at the National City Bank and which are said to have been written by Mitchell to Dottie Keenan were examined today by the police. Capt. Carey told Pecora that he did not consider the letters of value in the solving of the mystery. The fact that no outcry was heard on the morning of the murder by anyone living in or near the apartment building in which Miss Keenan resided is basis for Pecora's statement that the person who killed the girl was no stranger. This might, of course, apply to a number of persons.

UPRISING IN MEXICO TAKES SERIOUS TURN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MEXICO CITY, March 29. — The situation in the State of Vera Cruz, where armed bands of agrarians have committed depredations recently, has taken a serious turn. Minister of War Serrano is preparing to leave for Jalapa for an investigation.

President Obregon has asked an inquiry into the circumstances of the ambush at Soledad de Mobiado on Monday, in which Gen. Salvino Garcia and four soldiers were killed. It is reported that the agrarians in Vera Cruz are receiving arms and munitions, and that more than 1500 men are armed.

KING GEORGE'S FARM ESCAPES IN STRIKE

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, March 29.—While there have been many additions to the ranks of the striking farm laborers in Norfolk county in the past few days, large numbers of the original strikers have returned to work.

King George's farm has not been affected by the strike as the men there, all of whom are members of the Farm Laborers' Union, have not had their wages reduced. Laborers in the employ of the King's tenants, however, were called out at the beginning of the strike.

Real Salaries in Russia Are Shrunk by Law

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MOSCOW, March 29.—Under soviet Russia's new income-tax law a man receiving more than $100 a month salary will pay 80 per cent of the excess to the government.

Incomes below 1,350,000,000 rubles, or about $27 a month at present rates of exchange, are not subject to taxation, but from that sum on the tax ranges from 6 to 80 per cent.

During February the maximum salary for government officials was 2,600,000,000 rubles monthly or about $52, which was received by Premier Lenine, War Minister Trotzky and other important officials. There are thousands of Russian merchants, speculators, etc., who now make as much as several trillion rubles, or many thousands of dollars monthly and the tax is particularly aimed at this class.

RETURNS FROM STOCK IN STANDARD OIL COMPANIES REACH HIGH

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, March 29.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., owns 7,638,396 shares of stock in nine of the more prominent companies composing the so-called Standard Oil group, having a market value of $410,674,399. From these he receives dividends at the rate of $11,946,622 annually at the present rate of payments, according to a compilation made by Dow, Jones & Co., from testimony given at the recent Senate investigation of the petroleum industry. In its summary, Dow, Jones & Co. say:

"Holdings of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., on June 30, 1922, in nine Standard Oil units, after allowing for numerous stock dividends since that date, totaled 7,638,396 shares. This represented about one-sixth of the 46,726,757 shares these companies now have outstanding.

"At current market prices the younger Rockefeller's holdings in these companies are worth $410,674,399. Dividend payments at present rates total $11,946,622 a year on his holdings in these nine companies, or slightly less than a 3 per cent return of market value."

FRENCH AIRMEN WILL BEGIN WORLD FLIGHT

FIVE WILL START ON SUNDAY, GOING THROUGH ASIA TO ALASKA

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

NICE (France) March 29.—The "round-the-world squadron," or "Capt. Bapt's flying circus," as it is known in French aviation circles, has been assembled at the Istres airdrome near Marseilles and will start tomorrow for Nice, where it will take off on its flight to circle the globe. Bapt. has decided to start next Sunday, in spite of the fact that it is "All Fools' Day."

Five French aviators will attempt the world flight. Leaving Nice, the program is to fly eastward, crossing Asia by way of India to Japan, and thence to Nome, Alaska; then down the Pacific Coast of North and South America to Southern Chile, and thence over the Andes to Argentina. The jump across the Atlantic will be from Pernambuco, Brazil, to Dakar, French West Africa, whence the fliers will proceed northward to the starting point at Nice.

LENROOT SEES HAWAII HUGE DEFENSE FACTOR

ISLAND'S STATUS CHANGED BY WASHINGTON CONFERENCE SENATOR SAYS

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

HONOLULU, March 29. — The Washington conference made Hawaii the farthest west outpost of the United States and left the islands more important than ever in the scheme of national defense, according to Senator I. L. Lenroot of Wisconsin, speaking at a dinner here given by L. M. Judd, president of the Territorial Senate.

"Hawaii's importance in a military sense, I think, is fully realized," Senator Lenroot said. "There is no fear that adequate Federal appropriations will not be made both for military and naval purposes. What we need on the mainland is a little more education regarding other needs of the territory."

Gen. Charles P. Summerall explained the needs of the Army. A slight illness prevented former Gov. Lowden of Illinois from being present.

WORK IS GIVEN OIL CONSERVATION PLAN

CO-OPERAION OF INTERIOR DEPARTMENT SOUGHT IN WYOMING

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 29. — A proposed program for conservation of oil reserves in Wyoming was presented to Secretary Work today by a committee representing operators in the Salt Creek field, which adjoins the famous Teapot Dome pool.

The co-operation of the Interior Department will be sought to obtain an agreement which would prevent indiscriminate drilling upon any one holding which the committee declared could only result in inefficient operation and waste, since companies owning adjoining leases would be forced to embark upon a similar drilling schedule in order to prevent their own reserves being drained into neighboring wells.

Mohammed's General Order to Mountains Obeyed

One Moves Fifty Yards in Four Months

Turk Village Disappears in Bowels of Earth

[Copyright, 1923, Public Ledger.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 28. Mohammed evidently was not patient enough—not one but two mountains at Geivi, near the mouth of the Sakhara River, finally have decided to move.

According to reports received, one of them advanced fifty yards at intervals in the last four months, steam-rolling the village of Jumalikny, swallowing up more than half a mile of road, spreading consternation through the countryside and threatening to dam the river close to the famous strategic Geiva mountain pass.

STRATA STUDIES

In its wake Jemil Bey, a Turkish engineer, has investigated the mineral deposits uncovered and laid bare an interesting cross section of geological strata giving up other secrets of the mountain likely to prove valuable to scientists.

Natives thus describe the mountain's activities—it starts suddenly the earth trembles and fissures appear engulfing houses on the line of march. It sounds like a distant cannonade, followed by a noise like a giant panting tchuhu, tchuhu, as it moves.

MOVES SLOWLY

The other mountain, which started thirty years—before the jazz era—has advanced very gradually, only fifty feet.

Another geological disturbance reminiscent of biblical times is reported at Abia near Basra, where the earth suddenly swallowed up an entire village without leaving a trace. Pious Arabs point the same moral as the Jews at Sodom, saying the villagers were punished for not saying their prayers regularly and for other sins.

MEMORY OF PICTURE UNITES LOST SISTERS

WOMAN WITH CLAIM TO FORTUNE FOUND IN POOR FARM BY BROTHER-IN-LAW

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) March 29.—Two sisters who had not seen each other since girlhood were reunited here today, and one of them, who had been discovered at the County Poor Farm, was hoping, as a result, to recover an estate said to be worth $300,000.

Mrs. Jennie Natterstadt, until a few days ago a ward of the county, was recognized by Lloyd L. Lee, foreman of the county grand jury, as the sister of his wife and he took her from the institution to his home.

Lee was visiting the farm on an inspection tour, and recognized the woman from a photograph he had seen of her sixteen years ago. Lee told Dist.-Atty. Stanley Myers that Mrs. Natterstadt was entitled to share in an estate left by her second husband, who died in Washington State twenty years ago after being accidentally shot. The estate to which Mrs. Natterstadt lays claim, according to Lee, consists of timber lands in Pacific county, Washington, and tidelands in Wahkiakum county, Washington.

MOTHER OF BERGDOLLS SUGGESTS JAIL TERM

SAYS ASSERTED THIEF SHOULD SPEND TIME "BEHIND BARS"

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PHILADELPHIA, March 29. — Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll, who fought hard to keep her draft-dodging sons out of prison, aided today in sending an asserted petty swindler to the county prison for eight months.

Maurice Rappart, accused of fleecing different persons out of small amounts, obtained $170 from Mrs. Bergdoll to use his influence with persons in Washington to gain the release of her son, Erwin Bergdoll from the Federal prison at Fort Leavenworth.

Counsel for the prisoner asked Mrs. Bergdoll what she wanted done with Rappart and she replied:

"He should go behind the bars."

"Do you want him shot at sunrise," again queried the lawyer.

"No, no shooting," replied Mrs. Bergdoll. "Just behind the bars where he belongs."

AGED COUPLE DIE AS HOUSE BURNS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ESTHERVILLE (Iowa) March 29.—Mr. and Mrs. Ed Clausen, 81 and 79 years of age, respectively, were found dead in their home near here late yesterday. Clausen, who is believed to have been mentally deranged, is thought to have slain his wife, set fire to the house and to have suffocated. Mrs. Clausen's body was found in the basement badly burned. He was found dead in a chair.

Ross to Return From Chicago to Face Charge

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, March 29.—An immediate return to face pending charges at Los Angeles on the part of Herbert I. Ross was seen today when he volunteered to waive extradition measures from his cell at the detective bureau. Detective Sergeants Bahr and Birch prepared to leave for the Coast city with Ross, and his wife, Mrs. "Patsy" Ross bade him a tearful farewell, but refused to discuss his case.

Ross was arrested Wednesday on request of Los Angeles police on charges of passing worthless checks totaling $550. Other business deals of his totaling more than $5000 in amount, are reported under investigation also. Mrs. Ross is said to be a former wife of Thomas Thorkildsen, millionaire "borax king of Death Valley," but Ross stoutly maintains this is untrue.

ATTEMPT TO SELL SHIP TONNAGE HELD FUTILE

MERCHANT MARINE SPOKESMEN SAY PRESENT LIMITATIONS TOO STRINGENT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Spokesmen for the American merchant marine are unanimous in the opinion that it is useless under existing circumstances for the Shipping Board to attempt to sell its tonnage with the provision that the purchaser continue to operate specified routes.

A committee of the Council of American Shipbuilders in conference today with the policy committee of the board, indorsed the opinion previously expressed by representatives of the owner and operator groups as to the unattractiveness of government tonnage in the shipping market. The committee, through Homer L. Ferguson, president of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, its chairman, declared that specific preferential treatment to American shipping would be necessary to offset advantages held by foreign tonnage.

Among suggestions advanced for such preferentials were:

The bringing of the Philippine trade with the United States under the coastwise laws, giving of reduced railroad rates on through shipments for export and import only when carried on American flag ships; abrogation of those portions of commercial treaties with foreign nations that prevented preferential treatment in tonnage taxes to American flag ships; giving of preferential customs duties on imports in American vessels, and preferential treatment to American flag vessels in Panama Canal tolls

NAVAL WAGE BOARD FILES PAY REPORT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 29. — The report of the Naval Wage Board, organized to readjust wages in navy yards throughout the country, has been laid before Acting Secretary Roosevelt by Rear-Admiral Straus, the chairman.

It was understood today that the recommendations of the board, if approved, were not likely to become effective before June 1. The basis of the adjusted scales, it was said, would be the prevailing rate of each trade in the community in which the yard is situated. No details of the findings were made public.

RADIO CORPORATION EARNS LARGE PROFIT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 29.—The Radio Corporation of America earned a net profit of $2,974,579 in 1922, according to the annual report made public today. The funds were applied to the amortization of patents, Federal income taxes and organization expenses. Although there were no dividends on either the common or preferred stock of the company for 1922, the directors reported that current assets increased $3,775,984 during the year.

My 20 Years In the Ring.

BY JACK BRITTON
HERO OF 500 FIGHTS

Title Fight Betting "Queered" by Odds

Just before the start of the contest that took the world's welterweight championship away from me and the bout that practically ended my career in the ring, something happened that I had not experienced in a career of twenty years.

Never before in more than 500 ring contests had suspicion been directed on my work. It had been the source of pride and great satisfaction to me, on the other hand, to hear friends say that I was always on the level and that I always gave them my best.

For two years I had been aware of the fact that the end of my career was approaching, and while I looked to the end with regret, I felt that I should be proud in leaving a fine record behind when I was finished.

Quite naturally, then, it was a severe blow just before the start of my last contest with Micky Walker to hear the announcement made to 10,000 fans at the ringside in Madison Square Garden:

"All bets are off on this contest."

I looked across the ring to Walker's corner and he seemed just as surprised as I felt. I turned around to Dan Morgan, my manager in my corner and he told me to go ahead and do my best, and that everything would be O.K.

Before going into the ring I had an idea that something was in the air but I passed it off, as I had things of more importance to occupy my mind.

While I was getting into my ring togs, Tex Rickard came into the dressing-room. Rickard and I have always been good friends, and when I was boxing for him in Madison Square Garden he usually came around to the dressing-room to have a few words before the bout.

RICKARD IS CURIOUS

"How do you feel, Jack?" he asked me rather casually, and I told him I felt pretty good.

"You're the champion! Are you going out to win?" he came back quickly.

I thought it was an unusual question and would have considered it a joke had his expression not been so serious. After a little hesitation I answered that I certainly was going to try to get the decision.

"Aren't you in good shape?" he continued.

"I'm in as good a shape as I can get in," I told him.

I added that I didn't feel as good as I did before the Leonard fight in June, but that I had been training indoors and that I had not been able to sleep well. I also reminded him that I was getting old and that I couldn't work myself into condition like youngsters can.

ODDS CHANGED SUDDENLY

Dan Morgan then came into the dressing-room and Rickard told him there was some funny betting going on and that the Boxing Commission was on him.

"They were betting eight to five on Britton this afternoon and up until the time the doors were open. Now they're offering two to one and three to one that Walker wins and some of them have money that Britton will be knocked out," Rickard said.

"There's nothing wrong with that betting. It's wise money going down on Walker. Anyone who saw them when they weighed in this afternoon would know that Britton shouldn't be the favorite," Morgan replied.

"That's partially true, but I can't understand the reason for the sudden change in the betting," Rickard said.

"Well, there's nothing wrong with our end," Morgan said. "You'd better see who your judges are and talk to the referee."

MORGAN CHEERS ME

Rickard then went out. He returned later and said that he couldn't find out a thing but that he would be satisfied if I would assure him that I was going out to do my best.

I told him that I was going to give the bout my best efforts and he went out again.

After he had gone, Morgan said to me: "Old man, you were right when you said you were going to try your best to win and you're going to have a helluva time. Did you see that Walker boy when he weighed in?"

I told him that I had seen him, had noticed in what perfect shape he seemed to be and had been impressed that he was down to 144 pounds, a weight at which he was particularly good, as I had learned previously.

"Listen, you got to use old generalship and everything else now. That kid is right and he'll keep coming into you. You should have called off the fight. I just told Maxey Blumenthal not to bet on you. He had 10,000 to lay. I told him I didn't think you were right," Morgan said.

FOUGHT TO DRAW ONCE

Dan has peculiar ideas about cheering up a fighter. I felt a lot the same way he did about it but it didn't do any good to be told about it. It didn't disturb me, however, as I thought that Dan was just a little more than usually pessimistic.

He didn't want me to take the Walker bout in the first place. Two years ago last August in a twelve-round no-decision bout in Jersey City, Walker gave me a fine pasting. The boys in the press box were nice to me (as they always have been) and they called it a draw. I put him on the floor once and that sort of evened it for me. I realized at that time that Walker was the best of all the contenders for the title. What impressed me mostly was his cool head and his courage.

Early in the fight I opened one of his eyes. In the eleventh round he had me in a bad way. I jabbed the cut open again and said to him in a clinch—"You've got a bad eye now, do you want to be disfigured for life?"

Mickey is rather proud of his good looks and I thought that crack would get a rise out of him but he didn't say a word. A little later I said again—"If you don't keep that right hand back and let me be nice to you I'll have to knock you out."

MICKEY IS GAME

He spread a wide Irish grin and answered:

"Gee, you're a wise old guy, ain't you?"

Morgan told me when I went back to my corner that I'd better save my winds, that socks and not words were going to get me out.

After the fight I told Dan that ever met and that I wanted to stay away from him. Dan was sur-

Asks Pointed Questions of Seraph Owner

Also Quizzes Lockhard and Wade Killefer

Demands Inside Dope on All Bank Accounts

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—William Wrigley, Jr., owner of the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast baseball league and stockholder in Chicago club of the National League, was asked today in a questionnaire sent to him by William M. McCarthy, president of the Coast League, whether or not he "directly or indirectly, aided or assisted or extended credit to Charles L. Lockhard or Wade Killefer, or any other person, to purchase stock in the Seattle baseball club."

The recent purchase of the Seattle club by Lockhard and Killefer is to be brought up by President McCarthy at the next league meeting to determine the truth of assertions that Mr. Wrigley is a "silent" owner in the northern team.

Questionnaires seeking to learn the business details of the transfer of the Seattle club were also mailed to Killefer and Lockhard, Wrigley, Killefer and Lockhard were also asked to sign an order which would permit Harry I. Stafford, attorney for the league, to inqufre into every record surrounding the transfer of the Seattle club.

The quiz sheets were sent to the trio after they indirectly refused to grant McCarthy's recent telegraphic request for permission to examine into the records of the Seattle club.

The questionnaire sent to Wrigley, Jr., is as follows.

"Did you, or did anyone for you, as trustee or otherwise purchase any of the capital stock of the Seattle Baseball Club, Inc.?

"If so give names, amount of stock and consideration therefor.

"Do you know of any audit being made of the books of the Seattle Baseball Club, Inc., prior to purchase?

"If so, by whom was it made?

"If a copy of an audit was furnished to you or your agent please append it or give information which will make it available.

"Name all persons authorized to transact any business by the Angel City Baseball Association, or who had authority from you or the Angel City Baseball Association to draw checks, furnish money or establish credits, or indorse notes.

"Please furnish all letters, data, telegrams or correspondence connected with the purchase of the Seattle baseball club which was directed to you or anyone in your employ.

"Name banks where you have had accounts connected in any way with the Angel City Baseball Association, and who was authorized to draw money therefrom.

"Please give copies of all letters, contracts, agreements, or, if verbal, full details of arrangement by which Wade Killefer left Los Angeles to assume duties with Seattle.

"If you have no personal knowledge of such an arrangement, please have person who acted on your behalf do so.

"Please give copies of all telegrams, letters, data, contracts, or agreements received by you or anyone in your employ, in any wise connected with the purchase or sale of the Seattle baseball club, Inc."

The questionnaires sent to Killefer and Lockhard differ from that direct to Wrigley, Jr., in that they are asked:

"What real property or securities did you own or have prior to purchase of the Seattle baseball club?

"Have you sold such securities or property? If so, when and to whom?

"Please name any and all banks in which you have had deposits or credits or to your knowledge have had any connection with the purchase or sale of any such stock either by yourself or others.

"What arrangement or contract was made with Wade Killefer to be relieved of the management of the Los Angeles baseball club and to assume charge of the Seattle club?"

HIGH SCHOOLS WILL HOLD TRACK MEET

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTERVILLE, March 29.—All of the lightweight track teams of Tulare county high schools will hold their annual meet at the new Porterville Union High School athletic field Saturday afternoon. This meet will be the first of its kind held on the new field but marks the second season that the lightweight track teams have been organized as a separate class. The local team, coached by A. S. Hamlin and D. E. Jamison, tied for first honors with Taft in the State track meet last year at Taft, and is reported in condition for strong competition this season. Other teams of the county have also been working hard and an interesting meeting is expected.

NEBRASKA TEAM ARRIVES TODAY

Cornhusker Track Crew in for Three-Day Stay

Will Tackle California at Berkeley April 7

Nebraska University's great track team, victorious by an overwhelming score Wednesday over the University of New Mexico, will arrive in Los Angeles this morning for a three-day stay. The Cornhuskers will work out on the fast Occidental College track this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon with Coach Pipal's Tigers and will leave for San Francisco Sunday. They meet California at Berkeley April 7.

The team, headed by Coach Henry Schulte and Manager Gish, consists of E. V. Allen, Morris Gardner, Cecil Hartman, Jacob Cohen, Monroe Gleason, Dave Noble, Heath Lloyd, Alfred Parks, Harold Hartley, Robert Weir, M. H. Layton, Everett Crites, Isaac Lukens, Lewis Trexler, Norris Coats, Howard Turner, William Lear, Clinton Kenner and T. M. Simmons.

TWO-YEAR CHAMPS

Nebraska has won the Missouri Valley conference championship during the last two years. They have also won all dual meets in the same period defeating Kansas twice, Ames once, Kansas Aggies once and several minor colleges. Last year Nebraska equaled the world's 440-yard relay record at the Drake relays. They hold the Missouri Valley 880-yard relay record and at the recent Illinois indoor meet they won the medley relay.

Heath Lloyd holds the Missouri Valley indoor 50-mile record, Allen holds the mile indoor record, Gardner, the indoor 880-yard record. Nebraska holds the Missouri Valley outdoor records for the 100, 220, the shot and the 880-yard relay.

IS HAROLD'S COUSIN

Harold Hartley, javelin thrower, was captain of the great Cornhusker football team last year and Noble, sprinter, was halfback on the same outfit. Weller, discus thrower, was a tackle, weighing 227 pounds. Hartman was a backfield man and so was Lloyd, who is said to be a cousin of the illustrious movie star.

Nebraska has played 256 football games in the last thirty years and has won 181 of these and tied sixteen, losing only forty-one games. Nebraska has won eighteen and lost nine to Kansas, her chief rival; has won twelve from Iowa and lost only three, has won thirteen and lost three with Ames, won fourteen and lost none to Missouri, won three from Illinois, has equaled Notre Dame, Michigan, Northwestern, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Rutgers and Syracuse.

The Cornhuskers will dedicate a $500,000 stadium with the Nebraska-Syracuse game next October. The Nebraskans will play five Missouri Valley teams, Illinois, Notre Dame and Syracuse next year, as tough a schedule as there is in the country.

Coach Fred Dawson, director of athletics, and dean of men, former Princeton football star and later coach at Columbia, is coming with the team, making a special trip to meet with the alumnae of the university in Southern and Northern California. They will hear from Coach Dawson the plans of the new stadium, and at the big alumnae meeting Saturday night there will be numerous guests, including Presidents Bird of Occidental and Von KleinSmid of U.S.C., and numerous coaches.

Sunday-School Casaba Squads Start Playoff

Drawings have been completed for the semi-finals in the Sunday-school basketball league, according to W. A. Reynolds, Y.M.C.A. physical director and president of the S. S. Athletic League. Knights of St. Paul, Vernon Congregational and Hollywood Baptist quintets promise to be the final contenders for city championship.

The drawings pit teams as indicated: Tuesday, April 3, Asbury M. E. vs. Christian Reform; El Sarrano Community vs. Vernon Congregational. Friday, April 6, Swedish Mission vs. Knights of St. Paul; Church of Open Door vs. Hollywood Baptist.

Saturday, April 7, the winners of Tuesday and Friday matches will contend respectively for a place in the finals which will be played Tuesday, April 10. All games begin at 7:30 p.m., in the Central Branch Y.M.C.A.

The Hollywood Baptist aggregation has come through its sectional league in fine style, having won every game, and is expected to show its opponents a fast type of open teamwork. According to Mr. Reynolds, April 13, has been set for the annual banquet at which time the trophy will be presented the leading team in the city tournament.

Cards Defeat Trojans by a Belated Rally

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

STANFORD, March 29.—Stanford varsity defeated the University of Southern California baseball team, 7 to 3, this afternoon, thanks to an eighth-inning rally by the Cards. With the score a 3-to-2 tie, Patterson, the Card catcher, came to bat in the last of the eighth and slammed a drive through center field for a home run. A few minutes later Hackendorf tripled and was scored on a wild pitch. Solomon of Stanford struck out seven and walked no one. The score:

U.S.C.	3	9	3
Stanford	7	7	3

Thornton and Setzer, Solomon and Patterson.

ONLY ONE CHANGE IN BOWLING TILTS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MILWAUKEE, March 29.—Only one change in the five different leading events of the American Bowling Congress tournament took place today. C. Lemington and J. Cantwell of Kenosha, Wis., rolled into second place of the doubles when they totaled 1231.

Standings of the leaders: Five-man team: Petersen, Parkways, Chicago, 2961.

Doubles: F. Kolacke and J. Jacobs, Milwaukee, 1295.

Singles: G. Baumgarten, Cincinnati, 724.

All events: M. MacDowell, Cleveland, 2002.

JACK McAULIFFE TO TAKE ON FIRPO

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 29.—Jack McAuliffe II, Detroit heavyweight, was chosen today as the opponent for Luis Angel Firpo, South American boxer, to appear on the same card with Jess Willard and Floyd Johnson at the Yankee stadium May 12, for the benefit of the milk fund. The selection met with the approval of William Muldoon, chairman of the State boxing commission.

MIDWICK JUNIORS ARE OUT

San Mateo Cardinals Are in Rare Form and Easily Take Honors From Locals

DEL MONTE, March 29. — The Cardinals of San Mateo eliminated the purple-shirted Midwick juniors from the Pacific Coast circuit cup, a junior event, in the polo championship here today. The score was 14 to 4, and produced the fastest so far seen in the tournament. Elmer Boeseke, the long-legged, hard-hitting star, was a veritable seige gun for the Cards. Elmer shot nine goals, which is the individual scoring record so far, and his long carries of the ball and clever cuts to goal stirred up much enthusiasm on the side lines. Boeseke was especially good in the fourth and eighth chukker, and when astride his star pony Midnight. Willie Tevis was also on top form, and when Willie is right there is no stopping him. He played nice combination work with Boeseke in defending and changing positions to through.

The Cardinals introduced a new player in Sidney Fish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Stuivesant Fish of New York, prominent in the business and social world. Fish is rated as a zero man, but played like he should be handicapped at three. He showed a variety of strokes, and was in the game all times. George Moore, the lefthander, was out in front, and put through three goals.

Midwick was up against Carleton Burke's team, that has been making a sweep of Coast polo honors for the past couple of seasons, has been so highly handicapped that it is no longer eligible for the junior event. Burke accordingly put in a new line-up, "Carty" himself was in there putting up his usual heady and strong game, but he missed his old side partners. LaFayette Hughes was brought back from No. 1 to No. 3 position, and it left inexperienced players in the forward line. LaFayette Hughes scored all of Midwick's goals, and he showed a wonderful pony called Satan in the third and seventh chukkers. The pony displayed wonderful speed and LaFayette Hughes put through three of his goals when astride of Satan.

Chaffey and San Bernardino Chances Best

Citrus League Belt Meet to Begin Soon

Redlands-Riverside May Be Stumbling Blocks

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

REDLANDS, March 29.—Chaffey and San Bernardino are credited with being the two contenders for the championship of the Citrus Belt League in track this year, with Redlands and Riverside in the roles of stumbling blocks and Pomona an unknown quantity. Redlands and Riverside are not conceded a chance to win the championship, but they can pick up enough points to give the two leaders considerable to worry about, for it will largely depend on whom those points are picked from as to the winner of the meet.

CURRY TRACK

The University of Redlands track, where the big C.B.L. meet is to be held, is being curried and combed and groomed and slicked up until it will look like a new dollar the day of the meet. The straightaway, credited with being one of the fastest in the south, is being soaked carefully so that it will not pack and will have that elasticity and spring which mean good running. The whole track is being gone over and everything will be in good shape for the meet.

San Bernardino has a team of individual stars, Chaffey has a better balanced organization. Pomona is known to have some good men and can be depended on to place in a number of events. Redlands and Riverside have green but promising teams, and they will no doubt be able to do right well for themselves.

Perfumed water is distilled from the Egyptian willow flowers in India.

Annual output of fish of the Great Lakes is $3,500,000.

IRISH BOYS MIX UP AT HOLLYWOOD

Larry Murphy Vies With Willie O'Brien in War Vets' Ring Tonight

Two of the greatest fistic artists in the 128-pound Pacific Coast division will hold down the headline attraction at the American Legion Hollywood arena tonight. Cyclone Larry Murphy and "Wildcat" Willie O'Brien are the battlers who will mingle in that event. The men are so equally matched that there is really little to choose between them. Upon the result of tonight's affair will rest the Southern California championship and with that honor at stake it is expected that the battle will be fast and furious from start to finish. Both of the Irish lads are trained for a real struggle.

Young Dick Hoppe and Young McGovern, a brace of lightweights who have been showing a world of stuff of late, will clash in the semi-windup. These young men are terrific punchers and both will be on the lookout for an opportunity to win via the kayoe route.

Pete Herman, the 122-pound mixman, has just returned from New York where he defeated some of the best boys in his class. Tonight he faces Mike Solano, a "fightin' fool" from Mexicali. With two men of such caliber as Herman and Solano boxing in the special event it is expected that they will crowd the main eventers for the honors of the evening.

George Lamson and Jimmy Dime, heavyweights extraordinary, will supply the heavy artillery of the legion show. Ted Merry and Jack Russo, 158-pounders who like to mix, will also clash. Soldier Gardner has been selected to trade blows with Patsy Coggins at 125 pounds. The curtain raiser is allotted to Eddie Drew and Sailor Joe Jackson at 122 pounds.

ILLINOIS DOPED TO TAKE HONORS

Chicago A.C. Expected to Finish as Runner-up

Northwestern's Track Is Scene of Big Affair

Many Central A.A.U. Marks Should Be Broken

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, March 29.—The Central Amateur Athletic Union indoor track and field championships, which will be held tonight on the Northwestern University track in Patten gym, will be the final indoor cinderpath meet of the season.

The Illinois Athletic Club and the Chicago A.A., two old rivals, are expected to fight it out for first honors tonight, as they have been strengthening their forces with several star college performers.

MAY UPSET DOPE

However, the Cherry Circle boasts of a number of very capable point-collectors and it may upset the dope and nose out the I. A.C. aggregation. In addition to these two leading clubs, Northwestern University and the University of Chicago will have representatives. Chicago will send Krogh, Western Conference indoor mile champ, and Brickman, who recently won the Big Ten hurdle event.

Northwestern will be represented by Hafen, speedy quarter-miler and winner of the 440 in the recent conference games, and Telford, star half-miler, who has been performing in rather sensational fashion of late.

NEW CLUB CONDUCTS

The meet will be conducted by the North Shore Athletic Club, a recently-organized club in this city. It is expected that the North Shore A.C. will soon rank with the I.A.C. and the Chicago A.A., as it is out after a number of the best athletes. The meet will be held on a dirt track and a large number of floor and indoor Central A.A.U. marks are expected to be broken by the competing athletes.

TIJUANA RESULTS

First race, four furlongs—Buster Keaton (Carter,) won; Broadlea (Mertinson,) second; Bettie Bird (Thompson,) third. Time, :49.

Second race, five and one-half furlongs—Merry Lad (Carter,) won; Miss Dunbar (Long,) second; Pink Penny (Kessinger,) third. Time, 1:09 4-5.

Third race, one mile—Tuneller (Ryan,) won; McCrown (Long,) second; Clearfield (Kessinger,) third. Time, 1:44.

Fourth race, six furlongs—Tyle (F. Ryan,) won; Allie Gobi (I. Parks,) second; Hayseed (Dean,) third. Time, 1:13 2-5.

Fifth race, mile and one furlong—John S. Rankin (Stevens,) won; John Paul Jones (D. Ryan,) second; Roop (I. Parks,) third. Time, 1:53 4-5.

Sixth race, six furlongs—Cuniphan (Carper,) won; Labella (Powell,) second; Jerry (Wilson,) third. Time, 1:15.

Seventh race, mile and seventy yards—Barrikaas (Stevens,) won; Rosen (Thompson,) second; Billie (Powell,) third. Time, 1:47.

Eighth race, five and one-half furlongs—Little Jack (Kessinger,) won; Pat Stevens) second; Dalton (Thompson,) third. Time, 1:07 2-5.

SPORT SHRAPNEL

By HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Ping Bodie has not all that personal pulchritude which caused him to be so greatly admired all around the circuit last season, but he is stepping much faster.

Ping has trained down to a point where he is far from Bodiesque, which is flossy stuff for fat. Mr. Bodie is by nature a rotund athlete, said word being an offshoot of rotunda, meaning something large and round. The only way in which Ping will be round this year will be round and round the bases, and much faster than formerly.

The stocky and likewise powerful Vernon left fielder, when he is not playing right and center, has kept himself to his best playing weight by a judicious indulgence in winter baseball, and at a casual glance might be mistaken for the young Mr. Bodie who busted in with San Francisco in 1908.

Ping can hit, always could. It is one of the very best little things he does. And it wouldn't surprise the experts if he hit as well or better this season than ever before in his active life. Two things handicapped Bodie last season. One was that the race was six weeks old when his suspension was lifted. He had to break in against the real stuff, as most of the pitchers were going good by that time. Secondly, he was not wholly in condition, and had a charley horse or bad ankle which made his overweight a double burden. Yet Ping rationed more than one good pitcher before the thing was done.

Bodie is a native of Cow Hollow, where many great men have been cradled and nourished on sweet milk from contented bovines. He played his first professional ball in the old California outlaw league which at that time contained Joe Nealen, Hal Chase, Benny Henderson and other notables of the day. That was in 1908. In 1909 he left a semi-pro team in Vallejo and joined the San Francisco Coast League club. He helped win a pennant there in 1909 and at the end of the following season graduated to the Chicago White Sox, where he played four seasons. He was sent back to San Francisco, and in 1915 helped boost San Francisco into another championship. Harry Hellman was at first base for San Francisco. The year 1917 found him with the Athletics. The following season he went to the New York Americans, playing there until the middle of the 1921 season, when he was traded to the Red Sox, and refused to report. This trade deprived him of a share of the world series. Bodie joined Vernon last season, and played under the handicaps mentioned.

Kid Mohler is credited with the development of both Bodie and Oscar Vitt. In fact, the latter was recommended to Mohler by Bodie, and was stuck in at third for the club when Joe Curtiss jumped to an independent organization.

Ping is now feeling like a plutocrat, having been notified that the name of Cow Hollow has been changed to Golden Gate Valley.

prised when Rickard asked us last October what fighter we wanted him to get for me for a show in the garden and I told him Walker.

Dan thought I was cuckoo and told me so but I insisted and the match was made. I figured that I had been slipping for two years. I had been on the floor six times in that period against second raters and I couldn't be sure when I was going down to stay. I figured that it might better happen in a $20,000 bout than in one for $2000 out some place in the country.

All this was running through my mind when we walked through a packed house to the ring. My mind was absorbed. I was thinking of a lot of things and figuring that perhaps it would have been better to ask for a postponement when the insomnia hit me. I crawled up into the corner and looked around as usual without seeing anyone. Some fighters may be able to count the house with the light in their eyes, but I never could see beyond the first few rows.

BETS CALLED OFF

I had forgotten all about Rickard's talk of a few minutes previous when Joe Humphries, the announcer, came into the center of the ring, made the usual announcements, called me the "grand old man, etc.," and then blared out: All bets are off on this contest!"

My face was flushed when I walked to the center of the ring for the instructions from Referee Patsy Haley. I don't even remember what he said. I was trying to catch the conversation from the ringside spectators and the sport writers.

"Just watch yourself now. You're too smart for that kid," Morgan was saying when the bell rang for the first round.

The bout is a story in itself and I will continue it in the second chapter.

GOLFERS TO TANGLE IN CHALLENGE TILT

M. V. Hartman, captain of the golf trio at B. H. Dyas company, announces that the challenge issued to the Brownstein-Lewis company for a three-some match, has been accepted.

The play will be staged over the course of the Hillcrest Club within the next few days. The other two members of the Dyas team are Bill Goodman and J. Nunnally, while Ross and Larry Lewin and Julius Cohn form the Brownstein team.

OUR ATHLETES TO GET READY

Will Take First Steps for Olympic Games

Big Tilts Carded for Paris During Year 1924

Much Planning Is Needed in Undertaking

BY MIKE RYAN

Member of American Olympic teams 1908 and 1912, member of board of coaches, American Olympic team 1920, and now track coach and trainer, Colby College, Waterville, Me.

WATERVILLE (Me.) March 29. When the American Olympic Association, which comprises practically all of the great sport-governing bodies of the United States, held its quadrennial meeting and elected officers at Washington last month, the first step was taken for the participation of the United States in the eighth olympiad, which will be held in Paris in 1924.

The list of officers selected and the committees appointed are representative sportsmen and will hold office for four years, which means that they will be responsible for America's part in what will most likely be the greatest olympiad ever conducted.

DEAL OF PLANNING

In order to have America properly represented there is a great deal of planning and detail work which will have to be attended to in the next eighteen months, such as collecting funds to defray the expenses of the various teams, arranging for transportation, housing in Paris and training accommodations on the other side, and many details which will take up the time of the officers of the Olympic Association and the various committees and subcommittees which have been appointed.

There is no doubt that the men who have been intrusted with this work are fully capable and will attend to every last detail, so that the best organized and equipped Olympic team that ever represented the United States will be ready to depart from these shores and carry the American shield in competition with the representatives of the other nations in 1924.

WATCH THE WORK

While watching with interest and enthusiasm the work of the American Olympic Association from now until the time that the teams are picked and ready to sail, those who are most interested in sport and the success of the United States team are apt to lose sight of the fact that, in order to be successful, we will have to produce athletes who are capable of holding their own with the representatives of other countries that will take part in the games, and as yet no organized or systematic effort has been made to do this, although our European opponents have been laying their plans and making preparations along these lines for some time past.

It may be a long stretch of the imagination to even think of the possibility of the American Olympic team being beaten in the Olympic games or that America is due to relinquish her supremacy in track and field to some other nation, but a glimpse of some of the things that happened at the last Olympic games held at Antwerp, Belgium, in 1920 will readily convince one that the United States will have to look to her laurels and will have to stay on the job and keep the Olympic games in sight all of the time from now on if she is to hold her supremacy in the future.

SHY ON RUNNING

In 1920 representatives of the United States did not win one running event on the program over the 220-yard distance with the exception of the 3000-meter team race. We were also beaten in the broad jump, high hurdles, shot put, and one-mile relay race, all events which were adapted to American temperament and characteristics and which have always been won by Americans since the revival of the Olympic games in 1896. The Finnish team, which comprised twenty-six members, won nine first places, just the same number that the American team won with some 125 athletes on the team.

Of the twenty-six Finns who represented their country in the games, twenty-four of them figured in the scoring, which shows a far better balance than ever an American Olympic team possessed. Besides the Finns, England, France, Sweden and Italy boast of many first-class athletes and they are all making special preparations for the games. In view of these facts alone, not to mention some of the other points which could be taken into consideration, it would be well for the athletic authorities of the United States to begin at once to point the American athletes for the most effective participation in the Olympic games in 1924.

Oilers Favored to Nab Laurels at Fullerton

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FULLERTON, March 29.—Coach Ray ("Feet") Walker's collection of point-grabbing cinderpathers from Huntington Beach are favored to annex one more title to their rapidly growing collection when the athletes of Orange county clash in their annual track and field meet on the local track tomorrow.

The Oilers have been champs of Orange county for two years and are out to make it three in a row. In Nash, Nichols, Bickmore and Elliot the beach squad has four men capable of taking 36 points and this is doped as enough to bring victory. Fullerton and Santa Ana are figured to fight it out for runner-up honors.

Cliff Allee of Fullerton and Milt Nash of Huntington Beach are figured to put up three exciting races before the meet is over. These two speed burners hook up in the 100, 220 and 440-yard dashes, and each one is expected to be a battle worth seeing. Under proper conditions it is claimed that either of these two preps could run a quarter under :51.

100% POWER

"Red Crown" is an all-refinery gasoline, every drop of which vaporizes rapidly and uniformly in the carburetor, and is completely consumed in the cylinders, giving easy starting, quick and smooth acceleration and full power. That is why consistent users of "Red Crown" get greater flexibility and more mileage from their cars and have less trouble starting all the year round.

"Which gasoline do you prefer, and why?" the checker, standing at the corner of Seventh and Broadway, Los Angeles, in the midst of the heaviest flowing stream of automobiles.

The result of this count, which is fully attested by affidavits, showed that 63 out of the first 100 passing motorists answered "Red Crown," an average of 18 for the brand showing the next highest preference—a lead of over 250%. Of those 63 "Red Crown" users, the majority gave "quality" as the reason for their preference, quality including the factors of mileage, uniformity, and quick starting.

But Los Angeles isn't the only community that demands quality in gasoline. "Red Crown" is the most popular motor fuel everywhere. Taught by experience, a large majority of Pacific Coast motorists demand "Red Crown" and nothing else.

Sacramento Ball Club Doesn't Look Such a Wonder

NEW FACES IN SOLONS' LINE-UP

Sacs This Year Do Not Look Any Too Good

Fred Mollwitz Is Again on Initial Canvas

Manager Pick Retires From Active Service

BY HARRY A WILLIAMS
By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, March 28.—Charley Pick, manager of the Solons, has retired his ankle on full pay. Three fractures, two within three years have convinced Mr. Pick that he is growing brittle after sixteen seasons of professional baseball.

Hence his ankle bone has been withdrawn from the X-ray in which it has basked so long, and is being cooled in the shade of the bench. Many will miss Charley's ankle. It had become a seamed and weathered landmark in the great national pastime. But he will offer the public compensation in the way of a flock of new faces, which, after all, are really better to look at than a cracked lower limb.

Kuns, McGaffigan and Sheehan are missing from the line-up, but they have been more than replaced in quantity and possibly the quality is there also.

COOK IS FIRST

Behind the bat we found Cook, Schang, Koehler and Shea, who probably will catch in the order named. Cook will be the first-line bulwark. Schang, in addition to catching, generally is requisitioned for utility purposes. Koehler was obtained from Oakland in the McGaffigan deal. He looks new over here. Shea is a younger brother of Specs, the pitcher.

Fred Mollwitz will again be found towering over first base, and high and wide throws have no more chance of eluding him than a breeze does of missing a windmill. There perhaps is none better in this league.

Paddy Siglin will warm second. Paddy was obtained from Salt Lake in exchange for Pearce and Sheehan, and all parties to the deal seem satisfied. Pick, in the process of withdrawing his ankle, allotted third base to Hemmingway. This player comes from Sioux City via Vernon. The Tigers purchased him last season for use this year, and then traded him to Sacramento for Rod Murphy. Hemmingway is 30 years old, and therefore as good as he ever will be, which seems good enough for the present, as he has third base cinched. Hemmingway hit .316 and stole fifty-nine bases in the Western League last season.

IS A DUEL

Shortstop has developed a duel between McGinnis and Claude Rowher, the latter a brother of Ray Rowher, the Seattle outfielder. Claude, who is a University of California boy, was last year rent by Pittsburg to the South Atlantic League, where he hit .295. He is rangy and loose jointed, but is expected to tighten. Really a much better fielder than you think at first sight. McGinnis, who hit .286 with Sioux City in 1922, is a nifty performer, a bit more finished in his fielding than Rowher.

Thus far the outfield strikes one as just so-so, but may be helped by the development of one of the youngsters or some other newcomers. The two regulars are Kopf and Ryan. Kopf is fast and a fine fielder, but a light hitter. Ryan, a veteran, can still sting the ball. However, Buddy never was a Paddock, and of course, has lost the edge off such speed as he possessed. Schinkle, a converted pitcher, played seventy-five games in the outfield last season.

USED IN FIELR

He hit .294 and fielded .947, which placed him thirty-ninth in the latter respect. McNeeley, a rookie holdover, also is being used in the outer garden. Outfield recruits are Clarence from Enid, Okla., and Harry Brown from the Michigan league. Both had batting marks of better than .300 for the past season, and may assist in solving a rather difficult problem for Pick.

In the pitching department, none other than Paul Fittery is expected to again top the southpaw side of the business. A new lefthander is Thompson, who won seven and lost nine for Toronto in 1922. He also is an outfielder of ability. Canfield, rated as a corner despite the fact that he won only four and lost thirteen last season, is the third portsider.

IS A FIXTURE

Bill Prough seems to be as much of a fixture as that lighthouse on the end of the breakwater. Bill says he is really a young man, but has been in this league so long it makes him feel like Amos Rusie. Thus he is mentioned first among the right-handers. Second is Hughes from Rochester, who ranked eighth in effectiveness among the pitches of his circuit. He has curves, change of pace and control, and should win a majority of his games.

Then there is Herb Penner, who at times pitches phenomenal ball; Specs Shea, who wasn't quite as impressive last year as the season before, and Elmer Reiger, relief pitcher.

IS ONLY PAWNEE

This brings us down to Moses Yellowhorse, the only full-blooded Pawnee in this league. Yellowhorse is built on the lines of a Percheron and could drag an old-fashioned beer truck over cobblestones. He stands five feet ten, seems almost as broad, has expansive legs, and shoulders suggestive of the Golden Gate. He still has pitching faults, but these will be remedied in the process of evolution. His chief asset, apparently, is sheer speed. Seems to think he is shooting arrows at the plate. That's the way the ball comes across. When he is pitching, catchers will wear metal shield instead of old-fashioned chest protector.

Sacramento had a team last spring which many picked to win the pennant. But it was shot into fragments by injuries. Therefore, one cannot very well say that the present Solons are better. But there are several changes in the club and it cannot conceivably have as bad luck.

HAGEN AND KIRKWOOD LEAD AT PINEHURST

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PINEHURST (N. C.) March 29. Walter Hagen, British open champion, and Joe Kirkwood, the Australian trick-shot magician, partners in the exhibition business, were first and second, respectively, in the first round today of the North and South open championship tournament. Hagen's card was 33-37—70 and Kirkwood's was 38-33—71.

Alex Ross and Mike Brady of Detroit had scores of 73 and Johnny Farrell and Bobby Cruikshank scored 74. Jim Barnes's figure was 78, Bill Melhorn's 77 and Pat O'Hara, holder of the North and South title, took 86. Of the amateurs, Willie Hunter, former British amateur champion, and F. C. Newton of Boston, did best, with 83.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BERKELEY, March 29.—The University of California track team is to visit Cambridge, Mass., for the third consecutive season to enter the inter-collegiate Amateur Athletic Association of America meet on May 26, it was officially announced today. California won the two previous meets.

The decision of the California team to enter the race forced the cancellation of the dual meets scheduled with the University of Oregon, May 12, and the University of Washington, May 15. California, however, will enter the Pacific Coast conference meet at Pullman, Wash., June 8.

LADY CAISINE WINS HONORS

Montecito Mare Features at Horse Show

Morning Card Is Given for Brilliant Throng

Sinbad Walks Away With Ambassador Cup

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA BARBARA, March 29.—Lady Caisine, owned by Mrs. Harry G. Gantz, of Montecito and well known in Los Angeles society circles, won first honors today at the fifth annual horse show being held in the palm ring on the Ambassador grounds. Glittering Gloria, owned by E. A. Stuart, who has been a consistent winner on the two preceding days of the show, also held true to form, winning first place in the opinion of the judges. Sinbad, the feature horse of the show, completed its performance by carrying off the Ambassador Challenge Cup in the champion five-gaited saddle class.

This trophy must be won three times by the same horse and owner, or Sinbad today would have grabbed the trophy for keeps. In 1920 Sinbad won the cup. In 1921, Cochette, owned by Revel Lindsay English, captured it. Sinbad won the trophy last year, and his winning it this year entitled him for possession, but Sinbad is now owned by P. E. Stewart of San Francisco, the change of his owners disqualifying him from possession at this time.

BURBON FIRST

A thrilling feature of the show this afternoon were the performances in the exhibition of California stock horses, mounts right from the ranches. Marco H. Hellman's Burbon won first place in as fine an exhibition of agility as was ever witnessed, and his horse Orange took third place out of a full field.

The day opened bright and warm and because of the demand from the brilliant throng of society people gathered from over the Coast, and the need to close the show this afternoon so that the entries could be sent to Los Angeles to participate in the Los Angeles horse show next week, a morning card was given, which brought out a big audience.

The morning program opened with a strictly local card, there being seven Santa Barbara horses entered. Lord Kitchener, carrying the colors of R. H. Gudgeon of Montecito, was a favorite, but as it had appeared in a number of polo events during the week, the judges were forced to mark the horse down third place, with Lady Caisine first and Highbrow Bell, entered by Mrs. A. E. Ogilvy, second.

MARJOLINE WINS

Ladies' saddle horses, mares or geldings, ridden by women: Marjoline, entered by P. E. Bowles of San Francisco, first; Tiny Peavine, entered by Mrs. Sidney R. R. Dannenbaum, San Francisco, second; Delight, entered by Mrs. A. W. Pike, third.

Five-gaited combination, mares or geldings, any height shown to appropriate vehicle and judged as harness horses, unharness in ring, saddled and shown as five-gaited saddle horse in five distinct gaits; horse most suitable for harness and saddle, awarded prize: Miracle Man, owned by E. A. Stuart of Seattle, first; Del Rosa, entered by P. E. Bowles of San Francisco, second.

Saddle horses, open classes, three gaits, mares and geldings, 15 to 16 hands, carrying 200 pounds: Glittering Gloria, entered by E. A. Stuart, first; Glorianna, entered by Mrs. M. D. Bowers of Santa Barbara, second; Golden Lass, entered by Mrs. A. W. Pike of Redwood City, third.

Heavy harness horses, single, women driving: Cadagon Boy, entered by Mrs. W. P. Roth of San Francisco, first; Prince Mance, entered by J. D. Farrell of Seattle, second; Princess of Mance, entered by J. D. Farrell, third.

CHICAGO COPS

Pairs of jumpers, 15 hands and over, must negotiate jumps together, shown over four consecutive jumps, two at three feet, six inches, two at four feet post, post and rail and hedge, performances only county: Lady Bounty and mate, entered by H. Rasmussen of Chicago, first; Ben Bolt and mate, entered by Esther B. Hammond of Montecito, second; Lord Kitchener and mate, entered by R. H. Gudgeon of Montecito, third.

Afternoon card. California stock horses brought from gallop to halt, whirled to right and left and back to starting point, rider to open gate, pass through, close gate, reopen and return after closing gate without dismounting; rider to lasso bag and draw same across ring as in roping cattle: Bourbon, owned by Marco H. Hellman of Los Angeles, first; Fernando, entered by Dwight Murphy, Santa Barbara, second; Orange, entered by Marco H. Hellman, third.

ROYALTY IN FRONT

Harness tandems; Princess and Prince of Mance, first; Royal Victoria and Royal Alexandra, owned by H. Rasmussen of Chicago, second.

Saddle pairs, mares or geldings, any height, shown by woman and man, judged as to conformation, manners and gait of pair: Slippy McKee and mate, entered by E. A. Stuart, first; Marjolins and mate, entered by P. E. Bowles, second; Glorianna McDonald, entered by Mrs. M. D. Bowers, third.

Champion five gaited saddle class: Sinbad, owned by P. E. Bowles, first; Miracle Man, entered by E. A. Stuart, second.

Heavy harness championship: Army Lad, first; Princess of Mance, second.

Champion three-gaited saddle class: Glittering Glory, first; Marjo Line, second.

Jumpers, for $500. Santa Barbara Daily News and Press Stake: Lady Bunty, entered by H. Rasmussen, first; Petite, entered by H. Rasmussen second; Content, entered by Phil O'Connell of Stockton, third; Bunker Bean, entered by Esther B. Hammond, fourth.

TEE, FAIRWAY AND GREEN

BY 'CHICK' EVANS

Indicative of a new order in golf club promotion, the Square and Compass is about to be emblazoned on the portals of a new links in the Chicago district.

So great has been the spread of golf in America that this move on the part of the Masonic order — building its own course for Chicago Masons—may easily be the beginning of an era in which will flourish the golf club fostered by boards of commerce, fraternal organizations, private commercial organizations, etc., for the exclusive use of their members or employees, as the case may be.

The first club of the kind in the Chicago district, and perhaps the first one of the kind in the country, is the new Acacia Country Club, which is an outgrowth of the Mystic Golf Association of Cook county. This organization of golfing Masons heretofore has conducted several tournaments each season at different clubs about the city. This group of golfers became so numerous and so enthusiastic about the game that out of the enthusiasm came the promotion of the Acacia Club.

The Masons have introduced two factors into this promotion which are most commendable and sensible and which are worth serious consideration on the part of other organizations anywhere which might wish to duplicate the example. First, the cost of membership in this new Masonic club is $100 each for the first 200 members. The second block of 200 members will pay $210 each. The annual dues are $50 per year.

It is right and proper that the second block of members should pay more than the original enthusiasts, because the hard work will all have been done before most of the later members come into the project, but even so, the charge asked for the last 200 members gives them a private golf club at a most reasonable fee. I wish golf everywhere could be provided for not more than $200 for the initiation and $50 a year.

In the second of the two important factors of the Acacia Club is this: The Masons intend to do with nine holes until the way to have eighteen holes becomes perfectly clear and until the members can see the eighteen holes without a special assessment being levied. The second nine holes will be created "when there is sufficient money on hand to build them."

From nineteenth-hole conversations at golf clubs everywhere, one of my golf fundamentals is that it is better to have nine good holes, paid for, than eighteen holes and a debt, since the debt must always be translated in terms of special assessments. If there is anything that takes the joy out of golf it is the special assessment. Special assessments are the same thing to a golfer as taxes, only worse.

The Acacia Club has acquired 128 acres of land, which is sufficient for an eighteen-hole course, thus assuring itself room for development. The project is so well under way, I understand, that it is assured of complete success. Its officers are James D. Gibson, president; Dr. Dudley Dean Bayless, vice-president; Dave Baxter, secretary; E. C. Tubbs, treasurer. The governors are R. J. Barnett, William J. Bourland and Frank Baumel.

Army to Dish Up Opponents for Dempsey

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, March 29.—Plans of Gen. Robert Lee Bullard of the United States Army to produce opponents for Jack Dempsey, Johnny Wilson, Mickey Walker and Benny Leonard from the United States soldier ranks may obviate the necessity of digging up Firpos, Carpentiers, Criquis and other foreigners to match their powers with the present day crop of professional fighters and financiers. Gen. Bullard has already set in motion a program calculated to produce champions of all weights.

It was announced from Governor's Island that sixteen Army boxing champions, representatives of the central and southern districts of the Second Corps, will battle in the ring of the One Hundred and Thirtieth Coast Defense Armory in Brooklyn April 14. These bouts will be contested for the purpose of deciding which of the fighters will go into the finals of the Second Corps Area championship boxing tournament.

The bouts will bring together fighters in all weight classes, ranging from the flyweights to heavyweights. The central district, which comprises the eastern posts of New York State, held its championship bouts last week.

SAN GABRIEL TO HOLD JUNIOR TOURNAMENT

Tomorrow afternoon the junior tournament will start at the San Gabriel Country Club playing for the Hollabird trophy. About fifty boys have signed up for play in the event, which will no doubt be a great success. Prominent sportsmen have offered prizes, as well as several women members of the club. Every boy will get a prize who plays and the winners will be rewarded with clubs, bags and cups.

ALHAMBRA TO FEATURE SWIMMING IN FUTURE

The Alhambra swimming pool has opened again and due to the attention of Mr. Bonner, American Red Cross Life Saving Corps man, who is in charge, the place has assumed great proportions. The outdoor pool is as clean as it is possible to make water, and the locker rooms are spick and span.

The Paramount Moving-Picture Company will in the near future take pictures of the pool and its visitors in full action.

MOLLA IS CROWNED BY A YOUNGSTER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, March 29.—Mrs. Molla Mallory, American women's tennis champion, after several recent matches in her best form, slipped badly in her match with Mlle. Vlasto of France today, and was defeated, 8-6, 8-7. The victor is a comparatively new player in the Riviera tournaments. Mrs. Mallory had no command of her game.

NAPLES

Beautiful Famous Unique

Will be open to the Public for the purchase of homesites TOMORROW—SATURDAY, MARCH, 31st, 1923, at 8:30 A. M. You may make your selections of Naples' property at the offices of McGrath and Selover, 1015 Marsh-Strong Bldg., Los Angeles or at 129 East Ocean Ave., Long Beach. Los Angeles phone 821-331; Long Beach phone 64934.

Over five hundred names have been placed on the waiting list in advance of the opening day. Therefore it behooves those who desire property in this exceptional location to act at once.

Location of Naples is Supreme and Ideal!!!!!

THE newly born NAPLES of the west, like the NAPLES of the old world—famous in romance, song and story—is unlike anything in the entire nation. It is truly unique. Having once seen it, you will have to come back to see anything like it again.

RESTING on the shores of sparkling Alamitos Bay with the white capped Pacific eternally rolling just beyond, Naples is truly the western Garden of Allah.

JUST on the edge of the fastest growing city in the country, Long Beach, with tall trees shading the curving streets, winding canals and stately palms lending great natural beauty, Naples is a veritable paradise for homes—has been contracted for including fine streets, curbs, sidewalks, sewers, etc., while all public utilities are now at hand.

A Splendid and Complete Program of Improvements

The great State Coast Highway has been just completed through Naples and will soon be opened to the motorists. The fast Newport Pacific Electric line offers exceptional service—and another Pacific Electric line is to be laid through Naples in the near future — connecting Naples via Belmont Shore Place with Long Beach.

Everything has been done, now it's your move—
The opening prices will please you—ask about them—ask about the terms.

HOW TO GET THERE

By Pacific Electric—Take Long Beach train at Sixth and Main streets station, get off at main station on Ocean Ave. in Long Beach, walk one block and a half east to 129 East Ocean Ave. Special motor cars will do the rest.

By Automobile—Follow the Long Beach Boulevard to that city. Then either stop at 129 East Ocean Avenue or turn east on Ocean Avenue and follow to Livingston Drive, thence to Toledo Drive, follow Toledo across the bridge. The tract office is located in Naples on the Esplanade opposite the hotel.

TO KEEP CLOSE TAB ON NAVIES

Unreliable Information Is to Be Weeded Out

Programs Under Treaty Are Wanted in Capital

Comment on British Action Taken From Files

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Steps taken by the Navy Department to prevent a recurrence of the incident which recently led to the withdrawal by Secretary Hughes of certain comments on British naval activity, may result in each of the nations signatory to the Washington naval treaty being put on record as to their programs under the provisions of that agreement.

Orders have been issued for a careful revision of all information in the files of the government bearing upon the world's principal navies. Data derived from unofficial sources, no matter how reliable, will be plainly so labeled, and information which cannot be substantiated will be weeded out.

American naval attaches forming the principal source of the data upon which the department and the government depends, have been instructed to use every legitimate method in assisting the work. It is believed that in most cases their most logical step will be to make a formal request on the government to which they are assigned for the information desired.

ATTITUDES INTERESTING

The attitude of the various admiralties to such an approach is awaited with deep interest by officials here as having especial bearing upon the controversy as to the interpretation to be placed in some clauses of the naval agreement.

While accuracy of the official records is the primary purpose of the work now in progress by the Navy Department, there also is the intention to have available for President Harding, when he takes up the question of modernizing the American Navy, all possible data bearing on the subject. A conference will be held on the subject as soon as Mr. Harding returns to Washington.

The opinion held generally by the Navy, without reference to that of any one of its executive officers, is that the program presented to the last Congress is essential to insure a balanced fighting force adequate to meet the responsibilities arising out of the nation's interests.

In at least two instances the official files have been modified already in their references to naval programs. The denial by the British that any range elevation had been effected necessitated a complete review of all data bearing on the grand fleet.

FRENCH PROGRAM

Recently official advices have given details as to the program embarked on by the French for increasing the battle efficiency of the fleet allotted them under the 5-5-3 ratio.

This included, according to the French budget, the expenditure of more than 1,000,000 francs in 1922 and a like amount in 1923, largely in alterations on the first-line battleships. The fleet elevation in the French navy is to be twenty-three degrees, according to this authority, giving a range in excess of the battle range of both the British and American fleets.

Of the seven battleships included in the French reconstruction program, two are said to have been already sent to dry dock, and preparations are being made to start operations on four others.

Analysis of the French budget items indicated to naval experts here that emphasis was being placed on installation of modern fire-control apparatus, next to the elevation changes.

While the French navy does not occupy the potentially important position of the British and Japanese, proponents of the American modernization program insist that the principles involved are the same, with reference to its control by inhibitions of the Washington treaty.

SON OF HETTY GREEN TAKES OLD-AGE CURE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, March 29.—Col. Edward H. R. Green, son of the late Mrs. Hetty Green, underwent the so-called Steinach "rejuvenation" operation last month, it was revealed tonight. The operation was performed by Dr. Henry S. Pascal in St. Elisabeth's Hospital.

After a week's stay in the hospital and a brief convalescence in his apartment at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, Col. and Mrs. Green went South and are now cruising in Florida waters in the houseboat Pioneer, having taken it over temporarily after President and Mrs. Harding and their party had completed their cruise.

Before embarking Col. Green wrote to a friend in New York that he felt better than he had in fifteen years.

The popularization of the method of "rejuvenation" or "the retardation of senile processes," as it has been called, devised by Prof. Eugene Steinach of Vienna, is only a question of time, in the opinion of several surgeons, both here and abroad.

CHARGES SHIP CAPTAIN AND CREW WERE DRUNK

MEMBERS OF SINALOA CREW BEATEN, SEAMAN TELLS FEDERAL JUDGE

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—The tale of a ship, the steamship Sinaloa, which sailed from San Francisco to Corinto, Nicaragua, with a captain and crew who were said to have been intoxicated for days at a time was related in the United States District Court here today by Henning Jorgenson, a seaman.

Jorgenson joined with ten other members of the crew of the Sinaloa in a demand for wages due. He testified that the captain ordered necessary members of the crew off the ship at Corinto and deserted them there without money or clothing.

According to Alf Larsen, another member of the crew, the captain engaged in the practice of calling individual members of the crew to the bridge in his asserted-ly intoxicated state and, aided by the first mate, beat the unoffending crew members into insensibility.

Larsen asked $2000 in a separate suit for asserted injuries received from the captain in an unprovoked assault.

According to Jorgenson, all the crew were drunk part of the time and part of the crew was drunk constantly. He declared the captain imbibed more than any member of the crew.

BRITAIN FIRM WITH ZIONISM

Lord Robert Cecil Talks to Jews in America

National Homeland Certain in Palestine

Opposition to Movement Is Cast Aside

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 29.—Lord Robert Cecil, who recently arrived here from London, has given a statement to the Jewish Press which will appear in the New Palestine, organ of the Zionist organization of America, in its issue tomorrow. The statement says:

"The British government and the responsible, right-thinking people of England are for the establishment of the Jewish national homeland in Palestine. Great Britain will never withdraw from her promises."

Lord Cecil is also quoted as saying: "I believe that when the history of the war comes to be impartially written the two greatest results will be the establishment of the national Jewish homeland and the creation of the League of Nations. The two are not really disconnected. They represent the two great ideas for which we fought and by which we conquered—the ideas of nationalism and internationalism.

ZIONISM NOT DYING

"It is most absurd to say that Zionism is dying," Lord Cecil declared. "Zionism is synonymous with Judaism, and the Jewish people have had sufficient experience to know that the opposition of its enemies serves only to strengthen it."

When asked what influence the attacks on Zionism had on British public opinion, his answer was:

"No influence whatever. Great Britain does not listen to the enemies of the Jewish people and of Zionism. Great Britain is a friend of the Jews, and a friend needs no explanation, and to an enemy explanations are of no avail. The Jews, like all other people, must expect opposition. Has not Great Britain enemies? Has not America enemies? Why worry? The Jews, who have lived for 2000 years in strange lands, must expect that some one will attack them. But they should be proud of fact that they have good friends who will always be with them."

ATTITUDE OF ENGLAND

When asked as to the attitude of the present British government toward the establishment of the Jewish national homeland, Lord Cecil said:

"I have a profound and passionate conviction for the ideals of the Jewish people. I am a good Britain and know England will never go back on them. Governments may change; some Lords may attack the Jews and Zionism; but Great Britain will always remain steadfast in its purpose to carry out the Balfour declaration."

Lord Cecil's schedule, beginning April 6, includes an address before the national convention of the League of Women Voters at Des Moines, Iowa, on April 13.

RUSSIA MAY DECIDE TO PAY DEBTS

Moscow Seriously Considering American Condition for Soviet Recognition

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MOSCOW, March 29.—For the first time in the five years of muddled Russo-American relations one of the chief American conditions for recognition of the soviet regime is being seriously considered in Moscow.

The Pravda, the official organ of the government, says that Russia is prepared to make partial payments on its war debts to America in order "to purchase the possibility of peaceful trade relations."

Hitherto the Russian policy, as outlined by Georges Tchitcherin at the Genoa conference last year, was recognition of the prewar debts under conditions which settled the war debts by counterclaims.

Coming on top of the considerable discussion in political circles occasioned by Secretary of State Hughes's speech containing three proposals for the resumption of relations, the Pravda's proposal is considered as most important.

As far as propaganda is concerned, the Pravda claims that Russia is not conducting propaganda anywhere except within its own borders. However, it insists that Russia cannot refuse to shelter the Communist Internationale, which is an international association of Communists holding annual congresses in the Kremlin.

GOVERNMENT LANDS YIELD RICH RETURNS

ROYALTIES FROM OIL FIELDS BRING LARGE SUM TO NATION'S COFFERS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Oil royalties running into millions of dollars are being realized by the United States government as a result of oil and gas production upon leased public lands, Secretary of the Interior Work announced today.

The total net royalties from these sources up to the 1st inst., according to the figures just completed, reached $10,045,627. During February last alone, $519,930 was realized from these royalties, $465,719 of which came from oil produced, $13,888 from natural gas production and $11,290 from the manufacture of natural gas gasoline on public lands.

Oil and gas royalties accruing to the government by States during February included $279,298 from Wyoming; $14,981 from Montana and $225,690 from California.

NOTAS LOCALES

Suicidio de un Doctor en Medicina

Dos cartas, la una de su madre, rogándole que abandonara a sus malos amigos y se volviera a su casa, y la otra de su padre, riñéndole severamente por sus locos despilfarros, y, junto con las misivas, un frasco vacío que contuvo cloroformo, claramente revelaron ayer tarde a los Tenientes Detectives Craig y Oaker como y por que había puesto fin a su vida el Dr. W. G. Oliver en un hotel de la Calle Hope Sur.

Centenares de pesos había botado en unas cuantas semanas el joven doctor, según decía la carta escrita por su padre, el Sr. J. H. Oliver, de la estación Arlington, Riverside. Buena parte de ese dinero había sido conseguido, según se dice, por medio de cheques, a los que el padre había hecho honor, tan sólo para evitarle una vergüenza a la familia. En la carta de la mamá, decía ésta al doctor que se iba para el este, huyendo de su casa por la mala conducta de su hijo. Parece que la caída de este comenzó hace pocas semanas con la compra de un auto. Desde ese momento, y a juzgar por ambas cartas, empezaron a venir a menos los fondos de la familia, ante el asalto de una continua corriente de cheques.

Se Halla la Pista de los dos Chicos Plagiados

Ayer, al oscurecer, se habían desvanecido los temores de que los chicos, Dickey Jensen y Dean Meecham, se hubieran ahogado en el arroyo Warm, parque de Meadowbrook, que es un campo de recreo para niños, pues como 500 cansados exploradores regresaron a tarde paso a la ciudad, después de haber registrado fondos de arroyos, ciénegas, y muchas millas cuadradas de campo, al sureste de San Bernardino. Durante un descanso de los exploradores, dióse con un hilo que robustece la teoría de que los niños fueron plagiados. Y, Abi, abacero japonés, dijo a los policías que había visto a Dickey y a Dean la noche del sábado, a las 7; es decir, seis horas después de que sus mamás comenzaron a buscarlos. Dice Abi que los niños entraron a esa hora en su tienda, ubicada en la Calle Tercera, cerca de la Avenida Arrowhead, para comprar cinco centavos de dules. Está cierto el japonés de la identidad de las criaturas, pues con frecuencia habían visitado su establecimiento para comprar centavos de golosinas. Abi observó que, al salir de la tienda los muchachitos, atravesaron la calle, hacia la estación de los autobuses.

Se Ordena la Reducción de la Cuota del Gas

Los consumidores de gas de Los Angeles van a ahorrarse como $328.500 anuales, como resultado de la orden dada ayer en San Francisco por la Comisión de Ferrocarriles del Estado. La orden dispone que la Compañía Eléctrica y de Gas de Los Angeles y de los Condados del Sur, aumente el poder de su gas, de 750 unidades termales británicas, a 850 idem, lo que debe acarrear una reducción de un 12 por ciento en el consumo que marquen los medidores.

FOSTER DENIES STATE CHARGES

Takes Stand in Own Behalf at Michigan Trial

"No" is Answer to Question of Membership

Jury Hears Speech Delivered to Convention

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. JOSEPH (Mich.) March 29. William Z. Foster of Chicago, charged with criminal syndicalism for assembling in the Michigan sand hills with an organization asserted to have been formed to advocate the overthrow of the United States government by force and violence, took the stand in his own behalf today and, admitting his presence at the Communist convention, denied all connection with the organization.

He denied that he had filled out a questionnaire at the convention in which his occupation was stated as industrial organizer of the Communist party of America, and he denied he had been issued a portfolio containing radical documents.

Both the asserted questionnaire and the portfolio said to have been assigned to Foster had been introduced in evidence by the State.

Foster admitted on cross-examination that he had sat in one meeting of the presidium or governing body of the convention.

"Did you appoint your successor on the presidium when you left?" O. L. Smith, Assistant Attorney-General, asked.

"No," he answered.

NO LONG TALKS

Unlike Charles E. Ruthenberg, first witness for the defense, and one of Foster's codefendants Foster made no long speeches from the witness stand, nor did he try to engage in arguments with the attorneys.

Speaking in a voice so low that at times it was almost inaudible above the rustle of the crowded courtroom, he confined his replies to a "yes, sir," or "no, sir," unless some explanation was necessary.

Diffident and seemingly almost bashful, with a shy and bashful smile at times for jury and spectators, there was nothing in his bearing to indicate that he was the man who organized more than 200,000 steel workers and led the great 1917 steel strike, or who, according to his own statements, has been an active revolutionary leader for nearly twenty years.

WORK IS TOLD

His story, on both direct and cross-examination, was one of years of radical and union activities. At various times in his career, he said, he has been a member of the I.W.W., secretary of the Syndicalist League of North America, student of radical movements abroad, leader of many strikes, delegate to radical meetings and correspondent in Russia, member of the Seaman's Union, railway car men and other organizations, and for the last two years a subscriber to the Marxian communistic school of radical thought.

Mr. Smith attempted to show that Foster had a hand in unseating E. F. Grable, former head of the railroad maintenance of way men, who was defeated for reelection last fall after he had refused to call his men out in sympathy with the railroad shopmen's strike.

Foster denied that he had attended the union convention in Detroit at which Grable was ousted, although admitting he had opposed Grable's stand.

"You were against him because he did not call his men out on strike last year?" Mr. Smith asked.

"Mr. Grable," Foster sharply retorted, "betrayed the interests of the men who elected him to office as well as the interests of all men in the railroad workers' ranks."

"He betrayed them, in your judgment, because he did not call a strike?" Mr. Smith persisted.

"He betrayed the men when he didn't call a strike after receiving a vote 98 per cent in favor of it, yes."

WESTERN TRIP

Under examination by Frank P. Walsh, his attorney, Foster repeated as much as he said he could remember of the speech he delivered at the Communists' convention. He said he had told the delegates there of a trip taken through the West to address striking shopmen, from which trip he had returned just before the convention met.

On cross-examination, Mr. Smith brought out that Foster was in Ogden, Utah, about the latter part of July or first of August, and then asked him if he was accompanied on the trip by Joseph Kowalski.

Foster denied knowing Kowalski.

"Don't you know he was in your party and that a Federal agent followed him directly from a meeting which you addressed in Odgen and followed him back to New York, where he was arrested and sent to prison for slipping back into this country after being deported?" Mr. Smith asked.

"I never met Kowalski, never heard of him and never knew he was at any meeting I attended," Foster replied.

Kowalski is a Russian who was arrested in Chicago in the January, 1920, raids and deported to Russia. He slipped back into the United States, and when caught last fall in New York was tried and sentenced to a year and a day in Atlanta, after which he will again face deportation.

Emmett Kilpatrick, one of the half-dozen American soldiers returned by the Bolsheviki on the Archangel front during the war, identified Kowalski at his trial last November as the judge who sentenced the Americans to a Russian prison and also as the jailer who later had them in charge.

FIRST CARLOAD OF ASPARAGUS

Shipment Goes East Early as Officials Estimate Immense Movement

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WALNUT GROVE, March 29.—The first carload of asparagus of the 1928 California crop was shipped from here today for the East. Officials estimate the Delta region of the Sacramento Valley will move three times as much asparagus to eastern markets this year as was moved in 1927.

W. B. Vanderlip Home From Trip to Afghanistan

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 29.—Washington Baker Vanderlip of California, Kamchatka and Archangel, organizer of a syndicate that once claimed to have obtained options on a 10,000,000-acre timber land concession from the soviet government of Russia, returned on the Saxonia yesterday from Afghanistan. He had been traveling in Asia and Europe, except Russia, he said, for nine months and recently spent three months with the Emir of Afghanistan.

Mr. Vanderlip was reticent about his travels. He said he was going to his home in Los Angeles and would not be in New York long.

Bolshevism cannot gain a foothold in Afghanistan, he said. It meets there a solid wall, because Mohammedans are opposed to atheists.

Mr. Vanderlip visited Afghanistan to examine the country's economic possibilities.

BALANCE OF POWER HELD BY FARMERS

60 STATES RAILROAD CHIEF IN CHICAGO ADDRESS ON FEDERAL OWNERSHIP

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, March 29.—Farmers of the country hold the balance of power between the railroads and their enemies in what he termed a campaign of misrepresentation designed to discredit private operation of the roads, Charles H. Markham, president o fthe Illinois Central Railroad, declared tonight in an address before the Traffic Club of Chicago.

"I believe that the vast majority of business men of this country are sound on the railway question," said Mr. Markham, who predicted that the next Congress would see an effort to repeal the Transportation Act, which he declared would be a mistake. "The leaders of some of our organizations are outspokely in favor of government ownership, and it is to be presumed that they have a large following. Therefore it seems to me that our agricultural population has the balance of power and will settle the railway question. If the farmers should throw their influence on the side of nationalization, our railroads will be nationalized, but the farmers will never do that if they are given the facts in regard to the railroads, and if the radical propaganda about the railroads is fully answered fo rtheir benefit.

"Agriculture is founded on transportation. Impair the ability of the railroads to furnish adequate service and immediately you injure the entire agricultural industry. Some of the self-appointed spokesmen for the farmers pursue a policy toward the railroads that is very antagonistic to the welfare of those in whose behalf they claim to speak."

BANKER TO BE MADE CHIEF OF CURRENCY

HARDING TO NAME H. M. DAWES BROTHERS OF EX-DIRECTOR OF BUDGET

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. AUGUSTINE (Fla.) March 29.—President Harding let it be known that on returning to Washington he would appoint Henry M. Dawes, of Chicago, a banker, and a brother of Charles G. Dawes, former director of the budget, to be Comptroller of Currency.

Mr. Dawes will take the office filled by D. R. Crissinger, prior to his appointment to the governorship of the Federal Reserve Board. The Chicago man will be the second member of the Dawes family to be Comptroller of Currency, his brother Charles, having served as Comptroller in the administration of President McKinley.

CHICAGO CARPENTERS GET WAGE INCREASE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, March 29.—A new wage agreement has been signed by officials of the Chicago Carpenters' District Council with representatives of 305 manufacturers of interior building finish. The wage rate given inside mill workers, $1.10 an hour, is an increase of 20 cents an hour over that paid under last year's agreement. The increase affects about 3500 carpenters.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

FOUR DIE IN TWO RIVERSIDE FIRES

Three Lose Lives in Fruit Camp Blaze

One Man Burned, Another Injured in Leap

Flames in Shed Are Fatal to Little Girl

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIVERSIDE, March 29.—Four people were burned to death in two different fires within the city limits of Riverside today and two others are seriously burned.

The first occurred at the Windsor camp of the Arlington Heights Fruit Company, when J. J. Barrow, 60 years of age; H. W. Goff, 46, and his son, S. P. Goff, 20, lost their lives, being caught in bed. Z. N. Abbott was also seriously burned and is in the Riverside Community Hospital, but probably will recover. John Bunting is suffering from bruises and sprains as a result of jumping from an upper-story window.

Mary Ellen Zicovitch, 3 years of age, daughter of Mrs. Corrine Zicovitch, was burned to death at the home of Mrs. Zicovitch's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. White, at 920 Central avenue. The child was caught with her playthings in a shed attached to the White residence, which had caught on fire from an unknown cause. She was thought to have gone on a ride with her grandfather and the charred remains were not discovered until after the Riverside Fire Department had extinguished the flames.

No cause for the Windsor camp fire has been discovered.

Man With Same Name Arrested; Annoys Rancher

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, March 29.—Report of the arrest yesterday in Chicago of Herbert I. Ross, former oil company employee of Los Angeles, on a worthless check charge, was received with more than ordinary interest here today, because of the fact that Herbert I. Ross, prominent Ontario rancher and capitalist, residing at 715 North Euclid avenue, came in for some unpleasant notoriety in connection as a result of activities of his unknown namesake some two years ago.

The Los Angeles Ross, who has been the object of a nation-wide search for more than a year, is charged with having forged and cashed a check for $565 in October, 1921, and many other similar charges are said to await the man in Los Angeles.

ELECTION TO BE QUIET

Virtually No Opposition for Orange School Jobs

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ORANGE, March 29.—The quietest school-trustee election in the history of Orange and the surrounding districts of Olive, Villa Park and El Modena will be conducted tomorrow.

Unless "write in" candidates upset predictions, which is considered unlikely, the following candidates will be elected: A. H. Mulvane, this city, to fill the vacancy created by the expiration of the term of Elmer Hayward; C. A. Palmer, Olive, to succeed himself as Olive trustee on the Orange Union High School Board; Maurice Payan, Olive, to be re-elected on the Olive Grammar School Board; Mrs. R. W. Jones, El Modena, to succeed herself on the El Modena Grammar School Board, and John F. Allen, Villa Park, who will succeed H. D. Nichols, whose term expired on the Villa Park Elementary School Board.

MEXICANS ARRESTED

Seven Are Captured In Raid By Orange Officers

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ORANGE, March 29.—Seven Mexicans were arrested on gambling charges here last night when police raided a ramshackle building in the Mexican colony. The men were gathered around a delapidated table. They made no move to escape when the officers, led by City Marshal Jemison, broke into the room.

A flickering candle stuck on a silver dollar and placed in the center of the table furnished light for the players. Three decks of cars and $25 were seized. All the men save one, Manuel Mavoral, whom police suspect of conducting the gambling place, were freed after paying fines. Mayoral was sentenced to sixty days in jail.

TRUCK DRIVER DIES OF WRECK INJURIES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VENTURA, March 29.—Pedro Mangalaya, a Filipino, 57 years of age, alone in the world, gave his life that others might live. He was driving a truck and came upon several Mexicans on the highway. They scattered but there was a mix-up. His one chance to escape hitting someone was to ditch the truck. He did so and died two days later at the County Hospital of injuries received.

GROWERS ASK REDRESS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—The Sun Maid Raisin Growers of Fresno filed a complaint with the State Railroad Commission today, charging that the Southren Pacific and the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad companies of collecting excessive rates on carload shipments of returned empty fruit boxes and crates. The complaint asks that the railroad be ordered to make reparation for the asserted illegal charges.

VENICE MAY BE PORT OF MAGNITUDE

Du Ponts Reported to Be Considering Dredging Harbor to Culver City

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, March 29.—The possibility of a new harbor for this city to be dredged in the Del Rey section and extending as far inland as Culver City was given color this morning when it was learned that Robert Lee Dunn, personal representative of the Du Pont interests, has been in the Canal City for the past five days making a survey of the situation.

Mr. Dunn, associated with Los Angeles and Eastern capitalists, is directly connected with the Du Ponts who are reported to be interested in dredging the proposed harbor in event suitable conditions are found to prevail.

Ways and means of dredging such a harbor were discussed at a meeting of proponents held in Culver City yesterday. Assurance was given that the Culver company, the Santa Monica city commissioners and the Chamber of Commerce would be behind Venice in the undertaking. Each of these feels that the construction of such a harbor would directly benefit the entire community.

At this meeting Mr. Dunn pointed out that the entire project has reached a point where, if this city could demonstrate that her political situation is so stabilized that the people will vote a bond issue of $2,000,000 as evidence of good faith and co-operation in the matter, the harbor proposal may soon become a material realization.

Secretary H. B. Pier of the Chamber of Commerce and other members have been working quietly on the matter for some months and at the present time are enthusiastic over the ultimate outcome of the proposition.

Arcadian Jail Torn Asunder by Monrovians

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ARCADIA, March 29. — Two Monrovia youths, W. C. Glendenning and Frank Kimberly, literally took the Arcadia jail apart early this morning when they decided that they didn't want to remain inside any longer.

The only trouble with a perfectly executed getaway was that as they stepped out of the dismantled bastile, they ran squarely into the arms of Marshal M. J. Miller and Motorcycle Officer Dick Bloomfield on their way to the jail with the prisoners' breakfast. Glendenning and Kimberly were clapped into prison last night following their arrest on a speeding charge, and would have been released this morning, but for their impatience, which led them to wreck the jail.

Now they face the Superior Court under $2000 bail, under a charge that may involve a penitentiary sentence.

ROTARY CLUB ELECTS

C. A. Larson Named Club Head at Huntington Park

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

HUNTINGTON PARK, March 29.—C. A. Larson of the National Bank of Huntington Park has been elected president of the Rotary Club; Dr. Clinton Hubbard, vice-president; Frederic Groton, secretary, and Lloyd L. King, treasurer. The board of directors are H. B. Moorman, W. P. Stuckey, Frank Osgood and Edward B. Lowe.

The retiring president, Trustee Fred A. McClung, following the election of officers, presented the club with a gavel which he obtained during his trip to Honolulu in January. He also presented the San Antonio district of Boy Scouts with a check for $300, this being tendered to O. B. Mathers, who is Scout executive of the district.

Thomas V. Cassidy, for the Rotarians, presented Mr. McClung with a gold watch with the Rotarian emblem engraved on the case.

Rev. David Brigham, pastor of Community Church at South Gate, has been elected a Rotarian.

SECT LAND BOUGHT FOR PARK PURPOSES

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SOUTH PASADENA, March 29. With the issuance of a warrant of $12,270.23 to the California Holiness Church one of the last bars has been lifted to the final taking over of a large section as a municipal "Arroyo Seco Park." Bonds to the value of $100,000 for this purpose were voted a number of months ago. Purchase of a large number of small pieces of property have taken considerable time.

The Holiness property is quite large. It covers several acres and marks the passing of the most beautiful section of the biggest religious "camp meeting" grounds west of the Mississippi. Every year for a score of years this acreage has been used for a summer camp meeting by the quaint Holiness sect, the unusual religious observances of which have attracted thousands of curious visitors.

OFFICER IS INJURED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HUNTINGTON PARK, March 29.—Motorcycle Officer William Corcoran, while traveling along Alameda Boulevard on his machine, was struck by a car driven by a woman. He was knocked to the pavement and painfully hurt. He was rushed to the Huntington Park Hospital where it was found he was suffering from deep lacerations on his right leg as well as slight contusions. His machine was badly damaged.

ALHAMBRA TO PRESENT GREAT EASTER PAGEANT

Members of Pilgrimage Play Company Will Take Prominent Parts

Scene from Broadhurst's "The Holy City"

ALHAMBRA, March 29.—Alhambra will present on Sunday afternoon at Library Park an Easter pageant, which, for beauty and significance, will surpass anything of the kind heretofore attempted in the city. The affair is to be under the auspices of the Alhambra Pageant Association, of which Dr. Oliver S. Barnum is president, and which was organized recently to take charge of the annual Easter services and to promote civic enterprises of a pageant nature.

Local women have been busy for the past several weeks in making elaborate costumes for the pageant. The work has been done under the personal supervision of Mrs. Grace Eline, costume mistress of the Pilgrimage Play. The garments will serve also for use in other years in similar events.

Nearly 150 people will appear in the pageant, the principal feature of which will be an act from Broadhurst's "The Holy City," which will be presented by members of the Pilgrimage Play company. Florence Pierce Reed, famous for her interpretation of Mary in the Hollywood company, will appear as Mary Magdalene, and supporting her will be Jeffrey Williams, Paul Kruger and Paul J. Ritter, all members of the cast of the Pilgrimage Play. Mr. Williams assumes the part of Caiaphas, Mr. Kruger will be seen as "A Roman," and Mr. Ritter will depict the character of "The Centurian."

Russell Stimmel, stage manager of the Pilgrimage Play, will be the stage director of Alhambra's Easter celebration. Mr. Ritter, who, besides being identified with the Pilgrimage Play during the season, is also a teacher in the Alhambra High School, is general director of the entire production.

The beautiful natural surroundings of Library Park will furnish an artistic and appropriate setting for the Easter pageant and arrangements have been made to entertain thousands of visitors here on Sunday afternoon. The program will begin promptly at 4:45 p.m.

ELUSIVE BURGLAR SOUGHT

Two Hundred Officers and Citizens Guard Montecito Valley for Robber of Homes

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, March 29.—Warning to pedestrians that it will be dangerous to use the highways and byways of Mission Ridge, the Rivera and Montecito after midnight was issued today by Chief of Police W. J. Wall. The warning is regarded for the society burglar who night after night has been seen by officers, strung out in a cordon around these districts, and yet has evaded capture.

Last night the burglar was sighted by policemen near the city reservoir. He slipped into the shrubbery, disappeared and two hours later entered the home of Mrs. Irving Wright in the exclusive residence section, but was scared away by the family after he had obtained a loaf of bread and a carton of cigarettes.

Tuesday night he passed within thirty feet of an officer, one of 100 strung out in Montecito Valley, robbed the W. H. Cowles home on the top of Eucalyptus Hill, the officers surrounding the estate on seeing the lights turned on by the family who had been aroused. But he slipped away.

The night before he entered the home of Bishop Rhinelander of Pennsylvania. Tonight there were 200 officers and civilians, all heavily-armed, posted throughout Montecito Valley, and the foothill sections. That he is working unaided, and has a hide-out among the mountains, is the belief of the officers, who think when they find his lair all the stolen property, valued at more than $15,000, will be recovered.

CITIES WILL GIVE STORY OF RAMONA

Hemet and San Jacinto Are to Present Famous Novel as Pageant

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIVERSIDE, March 29.—The people of Hemet and San Jacinto are busily engaged in one of the greatest schemes of publicity ever undertaken in Southern California.

Under the direction of Garnet Holms, a great outdoor play will be staged on April 13, 14 and 15. It will be called the Ramona Pageant, basing its operation on the famous story, "Ramona," written by Helen Hunt Jackson in the interest of the Mission Indians about fifty years ago.

This play is particularly fitted to this valley, as at no one point in California are there so many of the characters of the story.

The work is being fostered by the Hemet-San Jacinto Chamber of Commerce. Over 100 people will participate, the leading parts taken by professional actors. Enthusiastic committees are busily engaged planning to take care of the great mass of people who will be in attendance.

Miss Virginia Calhoun, who owns the acting rights of Helen Hunt Jackson's novel, has kindly given permission to the people of Hemet and San Jacinto to produce their own version exclusively within the Ramona bowl.

WRECK TRIALS SET

Hard Battle Expected to Clear Murder Case Defendants

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, March 29.—A. F. Montano, charged with murder in connection with the wrecking of Santa Fe passenger train No. 23 on Dec. 2, 1922, near Bakersfield, will be tried in Superior Court No. 2 on June 4, with Judge H. A. Pearis presiding. Jesus Medina, indicted jointly with Montano, will be tried on June 13 in the same court.

Judge Pearis fixed the dates for both trials after consultation with Dist.-Atty. H. E. Schmidt, who is personally directing the prosecution.

In anticipation of extraordinary efforts to clear both men, Dist.-Atty. Schmidt has engaged Rowen Irwin of Irwin & Lair, as associate counsel for the commonwealth.

CHILDREN INJURED

Two Fresno Girls Run Down in Streets by Automobiles

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, March 29.—Two small girls, both daughters of prominent Fresno men, are suffering today from injuries received when they were run down by automobiles last night. Nellie South, 9-year-old daughter of N. Lindsay South, was struck by a roadster hauling a trailer loaded with wood. The driver was a man. A woman accompanied him. They hurried on without stopping. The police are searching for them. The child was able to give no description of the motorists except that both wore large straw hats.

Cleva Beck, 5 years of age, daughter of a theater manager, was struck by a car driven by W. H. Konkel. He said the child ran from behind a car parked at the curb and directly into the path of his machine. Neither of the girls is fatally injured.

CHEMIST WILL SPEAK AT YALE DEDICATION

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, March 29. — Dr. Arthur A. Noyes, director of the Gates Chemical Laboratory at the California Institute of Technology, left for Yale University yesterday to attend the dedication, on April 4, of the new Sterling Chemical Laboratory there.

Dr. Noyes is one of the three distinguished chemists of the United States who have been invited by Yale University on this occasion. The other two are Prof. G. N. Lewis of the University of California and Prof. Gomberg of the University of Michigan.

Dr. Noyes will present a paper on the systematic detection of the rarer chemical elements.

GEORGE A. WHIDDEN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, March 29.—George A. Whidden, 75 years of age, who has been active in business and fraternal life of Santa Ana since 1886, died at his home here last night. He had been ill but a short time, and the end came following an attack of acute indigestion superinduced by heart disease. He was secretary of the Royal Arch and Santa Ana Masonic Lodge No. 241. He leaves a son, Ray Whidden of San Francisco, and a daughter, Miss Hattie Whidden of Santa Ana.

CAMPAIGN IS HEATED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VENTURA, March 29. — City election on April 9 promises to be a warm one, not so much from the issues involved as from the number of candidates for the different offices and the strenuous efforts made by each candidate for election.

Five men are running for the Marshal's office, and running hard. Ten men are out after places on the Board of Trustees. Several bond issues are to be voted upon and the ballot will be the largest city ballot ever used here.

HUSBAND'S WOES GROW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, March 29.—Arrested at Hanford on a nonsupport charge, George W. O'Donley also faces bigamy charges, according to county officers. He is said to have married another woman at Hanford after leaving his family here. O'Donley will be brought here immediately to face trial on the nonsupport charge field by his wife, who formerly resided with him at Costa Mesa.

OIL WELL QUESTION IN SOUTH PASADENA

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SOUTH PASADENA, March 29. The City Attorney was today drafting a new ordinance to control "the drilling of oil wells within the city limits." This action came about when the building inspector approached the City Council for instructions as to what he should do if asked to grant a permit for an oil derrick. It is said that units are being disposed of to drill a test well in the hills back of Monterey Road and to the north of Sierra Vista.

Trustee Gruettner expressed a wish that the ordinance be made hard on unscrupulous promoters. The Council did not appear antagonistic to the idea of a South Pasadena oil field, but it is believed that the limits will be set far enough back in the hills so as not to interfere with residence values.

WOBBLY'S SENTENCE INCREASED

Term Tripled When He Threatens to "Clean Up" Court and Police

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

UPLAND, March 29.—When R. Reynolds, self-styled I.W.W. and Bolshevist, became boisterous in the Upland police court today after drawing a sentence of thirty days in jail and announced that when his term was up he would return and "clean up" the judge and the entire police force, Judge George R. Crane added sixty days more to the sentence for contempt of court.

Reynolds was arrested here more than two weeks ago on a charge of appearing on the streets in an intoxicated condition after he had given members of the police force a merry chase dodging in and out behind buildings in the packing-house district, and when searched was found to have seven bottles of Jamaica ginger in various states of fullness concealed about his clothing.

When taken before Judge Crane following his arrest, Reynolds demanded a jury trial. After hearing the evidence today it took the jurors but a few minutes to bring in a verdict of guilty. The thirty-day sentence followed, and this was promptly increased to ninety days.

At the time of his arrest, Reynolds had a decrepit automobile, in which he claimed to have driven here from Los Angeles. This car is being held by the police pending the man's release from jail.

OPEN SAND DEPOSITS

New Industry For Riverside Is to be Developed

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIVERSIDE, March 29.—What is expected to be an important addition to the city's list of industries was made known today when P. T. Evans signed a contract with the Mineral Supply Company of Los Angeles to open up molding sand deposits on the outskirts of Riverside.

The sand beds the company will work are located 800 feet south of the Union Pacific's bridge over the Santa Fe River and are said to be the equal of any in the United States.

The Crane Chemical Company of Chicago was employed to test out the sand before any efforts to develop it commercially were made. The company's report stated that the deposits showed 75 per cent silica, iron and aluminum and added that the sand was not surpassed by any other in the country.

MUZZLE DOGS AT EL CENTRO

Stern Order Issued When Canine With Rabies is Found on Main Street

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL CENTRO, March 29.—The appearance of rabies among dogs in Valley towns, one dog being killed in El Centro this afternoon, has led Chief of Police Barker to issue a notice that beginning at once, all dogs in El Centro must be muzzled or tied up, and if found at large will be killed.

The fact that a dog is licensed will not protect it, the Chief announced, nor will the fact that it is accompanied by its owners save it from being taken up.

The dog killed today was suffering from rabies, in the opinion of Dr. F. A. Burger, and hundreds of persons on Main street were exposed to the beast. Within the last month, seventy-eight dogs afflicted with rabies have been killed in Holtville. At present five persons in that city are taking the Pasteur treatment. Several also have been bitten in Brawley.

Four or five dogs were bitten by the dog killed today and all but one of these have been rounded up and will be killed.

Chief Barker also issues a warning to persons to be careful in picking up stray dogs or in any way being friendly with such animals.

HANFORD HOTEL SOLD TO SAN FRANCISCAN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, March 29. — The only hotel in the United States possessing a flowing artesian well in its central court changed hands today. Mrs. B. J. Turner, who has owned and conducted the Hotel Artesia for more than thirty years, sold it today to Maurice Rosenthal of San Francisco, who will use the lower floor for a department store and offices.

The hotel proper will be remodeled and leased. The building, two stories high, is 190 by 150 feet in dimensions and corners on two of the principal business streets. The new owner already operates fourteen stores around San Francisco Bay and in other parts of the State, three of them being located in the San Joaquin Valley.

GUSHER AT SIGNAL HILL IS CAPPED

Andrews No. 3 Breaks Records With Flow of 35,000 Barrels

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, March 29.—The gusher oil well brought in yesterday by the Shell Oil Company in the Signal Hill district as Andrews No. 3, admittedly the marvel of the American petroleum world, today was flowing more than 30,000 barrels a day, despite the fact that 5063 feet of three-inch drill pipe were still in the well.

Shortly after midnight, the "ten thousand dollar gang," headed by "Happy" Yowell, after a battle of several hours succeeded in closing the big master gate which they had struggled all day long to put into place, thus bringing the gusher under control.

They worked under a tremendous shower of oil, and several times risked their lives. This same gang a few weeks ago capped the Ryder Well No. 1, a near-by gusher, and were given a bonus of $10,000 for their work. Another ample bonus is promised them for their last success.

Three giant pumps were working to capacity today, and were unable to handle the flow from the well, which officials reported had reached 35,200 barrels a day.

This gusher, coming in so shortly after the Ryder No. 1, which is only two blocks away, has greatly excited all crews working in the district, who are feverishly speeding their drilling operations in anticipation of similar strikes.

Pomona Wins in Fight for Road Extension Work

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, March 29.—The West Second street extension for which Pomona has been continuously fighting for two years, is assured as a result of the decision of the County Board of Supervisors and the railroads at a conference held at the Hall of Records in Los Angeles this morning. Work is to begin immediately.

The Supervisors voted to pay one-half of the expense of the extension from the Valley Boulevard up to the Pomona, west city limits, the Southern Pacific agreed to pay 25 per cent of the total cost and the Union Pacific pledged $18,500 to carry the work to completion. Plans call for an overhead crossing over the railroads which will eliminate two dangerous grade crossings on which many motorists have lost their lives in the past few years.

The extension will be approximately two miles in length and will divert automobile traffic through the main business thoroughfare of Pomona. It will be a distinct asset which will forever establish this city as one of the fastest growing communities in the South.

El Monte Chamber Plans to Advertise Community

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

EL MONTE, March 29. — El Monte, one of the livest of the smaller communities in the Los Angeles district, is laying plans for an advertising campaign that will tell the world some of the advantages of the community as a place to really live and enjoy life.

Moreover, the campaign is not to be conducted by advertising promoters by an advertising club, but by the El Monte Chamber of Commerce, reputed to be the largest organization of its kind in the country in proportion to population.

A committee, consisting of George Stingle, chairman and Berkshire advertiser; C. C. Maltman, editor of the El Monte Gazette; P. J. Cooney, author and educator, and Earl W. Porter, Chamber of Commerce secretary and former advertising and newspaper man, will conduct the campaign.

Mrs. J. C. Thurman and W. H. Cass, other members of the committee, will have charge of the preparation of a booklet to be issued in reply to inquiries.

TELEPHONE REPAIRS IN ORANGE STARTED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, March 29.—All available repair men of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company were busy in Orange county today making repairs to the telephone system made necessary by damage from the wind which prevailed the past two days. The damage to lines was considerable, according to Manager E. S. Morrow, being mostly in the suburbs and outlying districts, where the full force of the wind was felt. It will take several days to return the entire system to normal, said Morrow.

INJURED IN CRASH

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

MONROVIA, March 29.—Mrs. Winifred Henak was seriously injured, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Beaman suffered broken bones and Mrs. Patrick Davies was badly shaken up when their automobile was wrecked in a collision with a car driven by F. L. Perry. The accident happened at the corner of the Foothill Boulevard and Double Drive, Arcadia. Mrs. Henak was taken to the Haben Hospital and the other victims of the mishap to their homes here.

More Than 2000 Names on Venice Petition

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENICE, March 29.—A petition containing more than 2000 signatures of Venice's citizens has been presented to City Clerk Ross for checking and presentation to the Board of Trustees next Monday night, calling an election for consolidation with Los Angeles.

The recent filing of a petition with less than the required number of names, under the law, specified that a subsequent list should be filed served as a stimulus to the movement, as citizens took on renewed vigor toward a second filing of the necessary petition. This was done so that there should be no legal technicalities to balk the matter.

The petition just filed contained in nine days the names of the five hundred signers appear on the petition, making a total of 2000 voters favoring consolidation with Los Angeles. This is equal to the total number of votes cast at the previous election.

Petition circulars say that other thousand names could be acquired easily within one week if it were necessary, but the campaign committee declares that Venice will show a majority of 6 to 1 at the election.

These results have been accomplished in the face of unremitting barding by the local newspaper which opposes consolidation at this time."

With an abundant water supply, a depleted treasury, a fine beach, our celebrated canals and inadequate water supply, with sewerage and what not—the people are determined to go beyond where such conditions are destined to land them in the very short time that we shall have an opportunity to take advantage of the multiplicity of great enterprises, one of the necessary prerequisites, a Los Angeles harbor," Thomas W. Alsbill, campaign manager, yesterday.

EXPANSION IN LETTUCE SALE TOLD

Imperial Valley Sent All Over Country, Says Bureau Head

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL CENTRO, March 29. — Evidence that the market for the Imperial Valley lettuce is practically limitless and that, as the acreage increases new avenues of sale will be developed, was made by H. Hall, local representative of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics in an address before the luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce today.

Mr. Hall announced that he expects to close the local office and discontinue the lettuce market report Saturday, as the demand has declined to a point where the service is not necessary. The daily reports on the lettuce market have been made since the office was established. Hall said the commission houses throughout the country receive the reports which is wired to the El Centro office, and from these reports throughout the season, which is approximately 90 days, Mr. Hall referred to the excellent advertisement for the Valley. Substantiating his claim that the country was clamoring for a maximum output of lettuce, Hall said that carloads of lettuce have gone to the East during the season, and he thinks that at least the future can handle increased shipments. To date 6811 cars have been shipped, and the estimate is said, and he estimates that the total will be between 8000 and 9000 cars, illustrating the growth of the industry, he said that only eight carloads were shipped in 1918.

CITIZENS PLAN CIVIC CENTER

Hanford Will Build Auditorium for Civic Enterprises

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, March 29. — Community plans for a municipal auditorium and establishment of a civic center in this city were formally started last night when a largely attended mass meeting of former school electors.

With only one dissenting vote the school trustees were instructed to dispose of the present school site, adjacent to the County Courthouse, for not less than $75,000, the understanding being that the city will purchase land at that price. The present buildings will be razed and the new school be erected on a new site.

The block to be sold will be used one-half for an auditorium, the other half to be given to Kings county, on which to erect a hall for the American Legion and a new building for City and school purposes. The Legion and other buildings will be erected uniformly on the property, and it seems assured by the action of the meeting last night that the plans will be carried out.

More Than 2000 Names on Venice Petition

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

VENICE, March 29.—A petition containing more than 2000 signatures of Venice's citizens has been presented to City Clerk Hannah for checking and presentation to the Board of Trustees next Monday night, calling an election for consolidation with Los Angeles.

The recent filing of the petition with less than the required number of names, under the impression that a subsequent list could be filed served as a stimulant to the movement, as citizens turned with vigor toward a second circulation of the necessary petitions. This was done so that there should be no legal technicalities raised later.

The petition just filed was obtained in nine days. About 1000 names of the first petition of 1500 signers appear on the second petition, making a total of about 2100 voters favoring consolidation with Los Angeles. This is equal to the total number of votes cast at the previous election.

Petition circulars say that another thousand names could be acquired easily within another week if it were necessary, and the campaign committee predicts that Venice will show a majority of 5 to 1 at the election.

These results have been accomplished in the face of daily boycotting by the local newspapers which oppose consolidation "at this time."

"With an excessive tax rate, a depleted treasury, a quarantined beach, our celebrated mud baths inadequate water supply, poor sewerage and what not—the people are determined to expand beyond where such conditions are destined to land them and in the very short time Los Angeles will have an opportunity to add to its multiplicity of great achievements one of the necessary points of vantage, a Los Angeles Beach," said Thomas W. CITIZENS PLAN CENTER

Hanford Will Build Auditorium for Civic Enterprise

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, March 29.—Community plans for a large auditorium and establishment of a civic center in this city were formally started last night at a well attended mass meeting of the Lemar school electors.

With only one unfavorable vote the school trustees were empowered to dispose of the Central grammar school site, adjacent to the new County Courthouse, for not less than $75,000, the understanding being that the city will buy the land at that price. The old school buildings will be razed and a new grammar school be erected on other sites.

The block to be purchased will be used one-half for the courthouse, the other half to be deeded to Kings county, on which to erect a hall for the American Legion and a new hall of records. City and school trustees and Legion and other bodies are working unitedly on the project, which seems assured of success.

RESERVE BANK MEETING ENDS

Guarded Statement Is Issued by Board Member

Many Matters Discussed by Nation's Bankers

Gold Exports to Resume Is Consensus of Belief

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The semiannual conference of the governors of the twelve reserve banks was concluded here today after more than six hours had been spent in discussing general economic and financial conditions with members of the Federal Reserve Board, who participated in the final session. Much of the more than three days taken up by the conference was occupied in a general exchange of information concerning bank operations.

Acting Gov. Platt of the Reserve Board issued the following statement at the close of the session, covering the board's part in the meeting:

"During the semiannual conference of governors, which closed today, the Federal Reserve Board, as usual, discussed with the governors many matters of operation, including the amendments to the Reserve Act contained in the Agricultural Credits Act, changes in the board's regulations made necessary by these amendments, the open-market operations of the system and many matters of a routine nature.

TALK OF CONDITIONS

"The board also discussed with the governors general economic and financial conditions, the conditions of reserves, open-market rates for various classes of paper, the demand for credit and the volume of credit in use and gold movements, present and prospective."

Although there was no reference to rediscount rates in the formal announcement, it was admitted generally that that phase of reserve banking operations was covered and the mention made in the statement to the conditions of reserves, open-market rates and the demand for credit constituted a guarded way of saying that attention was given to possibilities of a need for increased rates should the present tendency toward inflation continue.

The governors themselves declined to discuss that phase of their deliberations after the meetings, all of which were behind closed doors. Whether anything in the nature of rate increases on rediscounts results from the discussions, obviously will not be known for several weeks, since applications to the board for permission to increase the rates must originate with the banks.

The secrecy maintained regarding other matters before the conference extended to the subject of the amendments to the board's regulations being drafted under the new Agricultural Credits Act. It was made known in a general way that those amendments were of a perfunctory sort, and were such as are required under any new law to serve as interpretative guide lines in carrying out the law's provisions.

PREDICT GOLD EXPORTS

It appeared that the discussion of gold movements had created considerable interest among the governors, most of whom were said to believe that gold exports will begin inevitably in the not far distant future. The relationship of the gold movement to the banking operations, it was explained, obtains through the fact that part of the gold now constituting this country's reserves still is regarded as belonging elsewhere, since it is believed certain that in the natural order of commercial and economic restoration the surplus held in the United States gradually will return to the sources from which it came.

In contradiction of persistent reports of belief by many bank executives that a rediscount rate increase is ultimately coming, provided present conditions are maintained, was a statement by Reserve Board spokesmen that several of the reserve banks have not sufficient rediscounted paper to meet their running expenses. They have for some time, it was declared, been purchasing open-market paper to keep their earning assets busy.

The tremendous increases marking loans by banks which are members of the reserve system have not yet been reflected in rediscounts by the reserve banks, although it was admitted, should the rate of borrowing on commercial paper continue throughout the country the reserve banks will receive the overflow of paper which the member banks are unable to handle.

Members of the Reserve Board, however, reiterated tonight that no application for increases in the rates have come from the reserve banks, and anticipated none until the borrowings reach the point that member banks are no longer able to supply the funds sought of them, and must resort to rediscount privileges.

ESCAPED CONVICT BELIEVED CAUGHT

SAN QUENTIN, March 29.—A telegram asking him if he wanted a Walter Higgins, asserted escaped convict, was received today by Warden Johnston of the San Quentin State Prison from the Sheriff's office of Tulare county. The telegram said that Higgins had been captured in Visalia. The warden sent a message back telling the Sheriff to hold Higgins.

A convict named Walter Higgins was received at the prison from Visalia, Aug. 20, 1919, to serve from one to fifteen years for robbery. He escaped May 12, 1921, in a packing box in which shoes and other goods were being sent to a state hospital from the prison. When the box was put on a freight platform at San Rafael, Higgins knocked a board from the cover of the box and disappeared.

He was heard from later in Iowa, but came back to California before he could be captured. He is said by the warden's office to have a woman acquaintance in Visalia.

Beautiful Bellehurst Park GLENDALE

Vision the future! Los Angeles

In a very short time the Subway from Pershing Square Station to Glendale will be a reality!

The world-astounding growth of this mighty City will absolutely COMPEL its construction. Nothing can prevent it.

The biggest profits that will be made in real estate in Los Angeles, in the immediate future, will, in our judgment, be made by those who buy wisely in the path of this great civic development.

When the New York subways were put through, tens of thousands of people who wisely bought AHEAD OF THE SUBWAY were made, almost over night, financially independent.

The foundation was laid for many an immense fortune.

The same thing will happen here.

And those who buy ahead of the subway FOR A HOME will find, as it were, that home lifted bodily and moved one-third nearer IN TIME to Los Angeles' business center.

They will ride on winged trains!

Beautiful Bellehurst, Glendale, is square in the path of the FIRST Subway that will be built, and will benefit MOST.

Today Bellehurst Park is by majority vote of the people of Southern California the most wonderful value in a beautiful and ideal residential park that money can buy.

Six Hundred Thousand Dollars in purchases by delighted buyers within fourteen days of the appearance of our first announcement in the Los Angeles papers, is PROOF POSITIVE of that fact.

And now, on TOP of all the marvelous beauty and charm of this glorious two hundred-acre old estate property, comes the vision of a transportation development that makes it even more irresistibly alluring to those who want the very best there is.

There is still time to get a wonderful buy in Bellehurst Park, but you MUST hurry.

Come today rather than tomorrow or Sunday, on which days the immense crowds make it difficult for us with our small sales force to give you real service.

ALL U.S. HEARS OF LEIMERT'S COMING TO L. A.

B. C. FORBES the most widely read financial writer in the world, devoted a considerable portion of one of his daily signed articles last week to the coming into the Los Angeles realty subdivision field of Walter H Leimert, of San Francisco

Mr Forbes wrote about Mr Leimert as follows

Civic leaders of Los Angeles are delighted over the news that Walter H Leimert, who has been responsible for the transformation of several square miles of the beautiful hill slopes of Oakland, Berkeley and Piedmont, across the bay from San Francisco, into extremely attractive residential parks, has just succumbed to the lure of Los Angeles and has embarked upon a large scale residential development there along similar lines.

INSTANT and amazing success has been achieved by the Walter H Leimert Company in the opening sale of Bellehurst Park, now in progress.

The first announcement of this colossal sale appeared in the Los Angeles papers on Friday, March 16.

The demand for Bellehurst Park lots started Friday afternoon and rapidly increased in volume all day Saturday.

By Sunday special traffic officers were detailed from the Glendale police force to handle the streams of machines headed for the newly opened tract

Many of the early buyers were Glendale people who have been familiar with the property for years and have anxiously awaited the time when it would be converted to its rightful use as the highest type of residence community.

"The entire credit for this remarkable sale is due to the very evident high value of the property," said Leimert yesterday

"We naturally feel pleased at the large size of the total sales but we are even more delighted at the fact that so many people approve our selection of the old Thom estate as our first development enterprise in Southern California"

Mr. Leimert searched [illegible] Los Angeles in an effort to find a tract of unimproved land that could be [illegible]

BUSINESS NEWS OF BUSY MARTS

Wages Advance; Cotton Goods React Promptly

March Wholesale Trade Far Ahead of Last Year

Credit Bank Bonds Puzzle Investment Dealers

Within the next few months, the public will be paying materially higher prices for cotton goods, is the prophecy of Milton G. Cooper, head of the Milton G. Cooper Dry Goods Company, wholesale dealers of this city.

Mr. Cooper believes that the first increase will be made immediately as the result of the 12½ per cent advance in wages granted Wednesday to the cotton-mill workers in Massachusetts. Manufacturers and wholesalers will be forced to raise their quotations on cotton goods to offset the wage factor, and the retail buyers will bear the burden. However, the projected price advance is the first of importance to be made, and comes only after the wholesalers and manufacturers have absorbed a considerable portion of the effects of the high raw-cotton prices.

By summer time, wholesalers predict that the price on cotton goods to the retail consumer will have advanced to much higher levels than are prevailing now. The mills have almost exhausted their supplies of raw cotton purchased around 21 cents, and are now beginning to enter the spot market after 30-cent staple. These prices will be transferred as early as possible to the goods market, although the higher-priced cotton will not appear in materials until after the first of next year.

Additional wage increases can be expected as the cost of living mounts, and these advances will be reflected in the quotations on cotton goods. The demand for goods of all kinds is in record volume, and in some lines there is a serious shortage; that inevitably brings higher prices. At this moment, wide sheetings are almost unobtainable, and prices are prohibitive.

In Mr. Cooper's judgment, there will be no resistance on the part of the public to the higher market. The shortage of raw cotton is a well-known fact, and with a demand of unquestioned strength, there is only one result to be reflected in prices.

Buying of cotton goods in Los Angeles is proceeding on an upward scale. The results of Market Week, just concluded, were especially satisfactory to the wholesalers. Representatives of houses in Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Nevada and the Southwestern States were in attendance here, and their presence is taken by local men as acceptance of Los Angeles as the Pacific Coast distributing center.

March business in the wholesale trade will better the same month last year by about 20 per cent, it is estimated, and, compared with February, 1923, the increase is 300 per cent, indicating the unqualified participance of the consuming public in the market.

CREDIT BANK BONDS

Investment dealers throughout the country have been in a perplexed state of mind since Congress passed the agricultural credits bill authorizing the establishment of intermediate credit banks having power to issue tax-exempt debentures. The fear has been that if these securities are dumped on the market the large amounts of municipal bonds now enjoying wide popularity would be affected

Daily Average Production of Crude Larger

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, March 29.—The daily average gross crude oil production of the United States increased 49,450 barrels for the week ended March 24, totaling 1,846,660 barrels, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute. The daily average production east of the Rockies was 1,181,600 barrels, an increase of 4450.

California production was 665,000 barrels, an increase of 45,000 barrels.

Oklahoma-Kansas showed a daily average gross production of 500,200 barrels, a decrease of 600. North Texas showed an increase of 1950; Central Texas an increase of 1900; North Louisiana an increase of 600 and Arkansas of 150.

There were changes reported in crude oil prices for the major districts. Mid-Continent being quoted at $1.50 to $2.60 a barrel, according to the gravity of the oil. Bradford district being quoted at $4.25 a barrel and Gulf Coast, $1.75 a barrel. The imports of petroleum (crude and refined oils) for the week ended March 24, totaled 1,450,000 barrels, compared with 2,160,000 for the week ended March 17. Receipts of California oil (crude and refined) at Atlantic Coast and Gulf ports, for the week ended March 24, totaled 1,110,000 barrels, compared with 650,000 for the week ended March 17.

DAILY TRADE TALK

Business Optimism Expressed by Railroad Heads; Rising Commodity Prices; Holiday Today

Railroads hold the center of the financial stage at the present time in the stock and investment marts, and in commercial expansion, and freight movement. Through the rails we get a fresh angle in optimism as to business conditions.

H. E. Titcomb, president of the Southern Pacific of Mexico, in an interview given to a Times' correspondent in El Paso yesterday is quoted as saying that the Southern Pacific is willing to gamble $14,000,000 during the next ten years that Mexico will be peaceful and prosperous, surely a good sign that the time has arrived for the development of the enormous resources of that country by outside capital.

Mr. Titcomb was present at the start of work on the 100-mile Southern Pacific extension from Tepic, Nayarit, to Quemada, Jalisco. President Alvaro Obregon of Mexico officiated at the start of work and turned the first shovelful of soil on the project.

"Not only is the Southern Pacific undertaking new construction to open up the garden spot of Mexico," said Mr. Titcomb, "but it is going to rebuild parts of the Alamos and Tonichi branches that were damaged by revolutionists several years ago.

"The work on the extension will furnish employment to a large number of persons. Some of the rails are already on the ground. Grading will start soon. The Tepic extension and the reconstruction work on the branches will be pushed."

Mr. Titcomb is optimistic not only regarding the outlook in Mexico, but in the Southwest as well. The recent increase in the price of copper, the rains and better prospects in the cattle industry mean much for the Southwest, he said. Increased earnings of railroads all over the country are another sign that business is on the upward trend, Mr. Titcomb said.

At the same time Edward Chambers of Chicago, vice-president in charge of traffic of the Santa Fe system, said that railroad earnings for the first time since Federal control, now have reached the point where traffic demands new construction and improvement of maintenance on a large scale," said Mr. Chambers.

"In January, 1923, the net earnings of practically all class 1 railroads in the United States were nearly double those of January, 1922, according to the report of the Interstate Commerce Commission," Mr. Chambers continued. "That shows better than anything else that for the first time since Federal control the railroads are making money.

"Two years of depression and loss of operating revenue following the war, added to the increased operating cost, prevented railroads from making needed improvements. Not only has new construction and development of new territory been at a standstill, but the roads have been unable to properly maintain their rolling stock, rock bed and equipment.

"The Santa Fe, both on the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe, the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, and the El Paso branch, is doing more business now than for some time. The double-tracking program for the Santa Fe west of Albuquerque is progressing in fine shape."

The recent advance in copper is taken by Mr. Chambers as a good omen that prosperity is returning to the Southwest.

NO MARKETS TODAY

This is Good Friday. It is a legal holiday in New York and other Eastern States. Also in England. Practically all exchanges and market establishing centers throughout the world will be closed in commemoration of the tragedy of the Cross. Next to Christmas it is the most widely observed religious holiday. In California political recognition of the day is not taken, and banking and business will proceed as usual except that the Los Angeles and San Francisco stock exchanges and local and leased-wire brokerage houses will be closed. The New York Cotton Exchange will remain dark tomorrow, but other exchanges will open for the half-day, and quotations will be re-established in this department of The Times Sunday morning.

COMMODITY PRICES

The continued rise in commodity prices is the cause of considerable concern, especially among manufacturers, some of whom profess to see a possible trend toward more conservative buying if it continues. Spring buying has been upon a very satisfactory scale, and even with allowances for a natural quietness during Holy Week, an unusually large number of out-of-town traders have been in Los Angeles this week.

The advance in prices is particularly marked in textiles and metals. In the former case the situation is largely due to the cotton shortage, and with copper and other metals, the surplus stocks have been nearly used up and consumption is running ahead of production. Bradstreet's index number, giving the wholesale price of 106 commodities was $13.93, as compared with $13.72 on February 1, and $11.60 a year ago. The general rise in the price level, therefore, appears to have been about 20 per cent during the past year, and, as compared with the prevailing levels at the outbreak of the war in 1914, prices are about 60 per cent higher.

These advances are being directly reflected in the stocks of the principal producing companies, but

MARKET REVIEW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, March 29.—It was possibly because of tomorrow's suspension of business on the stock exchange, making today's something like a week-end market, that prices of stocks drifted downward, but something of speculative inertia and lassitude was visible on nearly all markets; cotton and grain prices acted much in line with the day's movement on the stock exchange. There was more or less talk of "waiting for the Reserve Board's statement," concerning which no one was actually even very curious and of "unfavorable February railway earnings" because one or two statements, notably that of the Pennsylvania, made poor comparison with February of 1922. But the evident reason for the market's hesitancy was that recent events had made both wall street and the general public stop and think over the question of obstacles in the way of an indefinite rise in prices.

The day's declines were irregular; they were largest, as might have been expected, in the industrial shares, which were bid up most aggressively after the market turned on Tuesday. For the most part, prices closed at the day's lowest. With one exception the business done in stocks today was the smallest of any full business day in eight weeks. The recovery in Liberty Bonds continued, though at a slower pace; some of them advanced ⅛ to ¼ point today, making about ⅛ point gain from the low prices of the week.

Foreign exchange attracted interest because of the rise in French and Italian rates while the market declined. Neither movement was ascribed directly to expectation of any immediate change in the Ruhr controversy; it perhaps reflected a speculation based on judgment of intrinsic values. France nearly recovered the high point reached since the January break in rates and today's best price for lire was the highest, except for a single day, since the Allies entered the Ruhr. In its reaction from the recent "pegged price" of forty-eight ten-thousandths of a cent, or thereabouts, the mark today reached the lowest figure in three weeks.

In view of the week's controversies, the Federal reserve statements were read with more than usual interest. They showed an increase of nearly $59,000,000 in rediscounts at the New York bank and of $11,000,000 at the other eleven reserve banks. But the New York reserve ratio, although somewhat lowered, stood at 81⅞ per cent, the whole system's ratio being practically unchanged at 75⅝.

CHICAGO, March 29.—If anyone doubts that prosperity has returned to the Middle West he should be convinced by a few additional bits of evidence appearing today. What better employment conditions and increased wages have done is shown by the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank's report on savings deposits. Such deposits on March 1 showed a gain of 1 per cent over February 1, of 9.1 per cent over March 1, 1922, and of 11½ per cent over the average for 1920, about the middle of which year the business depression began.

"The March settlement period in the agricultural sections this year found banks and farmers in better financial condition than in the year immediately preceding," the bank's report also states. "As a result, the period passed with little or no disturbance and without any noticeable change in banking conditions."

In commenting on the high rate of production in the automobile industry, Automotive Industries says: "Reports from the Middle Western States show increased buying disposition on the part of the farmer, the demand swinging with greater force toward that territory than was anticipated."

More cars have been loaded with revenue freight so far this year than ever before at this time of year, according to the American Railway Association. From January to March 17, 9,474,662 cars were loaded, marking respective increases over the corresponding period of 1922 and 1921 of 1,232,574 and 1,808,466 cars. Carloadings for the week ended March 17 were 904,286, an increase of 89,204 cars over the same week last year.

The American Brass Company increased wages 2½ cents an hour and four North Carolina cotton mills raised wages 15 per cent.

LONDON MARKET

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, March 29.—The Easter holidays exerted a restrictive influence on the stock exchange, but transactions were on a better scale notwithstanding and the tendency as a whole was upward, national budget prospects arousing optimism. The international political outlook, which was regarded as more favorable, was an additional factor. British funds rested somewhat in the gilt-edge market after yesterday's sharp rise. Dollar rails held steady. South American issues were dull. Oils were firm, Shells, 4¾; Mexican Eagle, 1 15-16. Rubbers were cultivated. American mines strengthened. Prices were 29s 9d.

Some stringency was noticeable in the money market. Loans until Saturday were 2¾ and failures 2¼. Discounts tended upward. Three-month bills being 2⅝. Foreign exchange: New York, 4.64½; Paris, 78.80; Berlin, 192,000@192,500.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, March 29.—Pre-holiday dullness characterized today's stock market, which displayed a reactionary tone. Except in a few isolated issues, however, the net losses among the active stocks were held to fractions.

Closing out of speculative commitments over the holiday combined with an apparent lack of fresh buying power at current levels, caused prices to sag throughout the list. Marking up of the call money rate to 6 per cent, after an opening rate of 6½, also tended to restrain trading, while the disappointing showing of some of the latest February railroad traffic statements brought about some selling in that group.

Revival of speculative interest in United States Steel common, which crossed 108 and then fell back to 107 3-8, up 3-8, was based on unconfirmed rumors of the formation of a big financial pool in that issue. The other steels lost ground. Republic dropping below 61½. Betnlehem B below 66 and Gulf States Steel below 99.

Heaviness also was noted among such recent speculative favorites as Pan-American, off ¾; American Woolen, off 1 3-8; American Can and Studebaker, each off 1; Baldwin and Allied Chemical, each off ¾; Cuba Cane Sugar preferred and Texas Company, each off ½, and American Locomotive off 3-8.

The Virginia-Carolina issues, weakness of which contributed materially to yesterday's late reaction, made partial recovery today, the common advancing 5-8 to 19 5-8, and the preferred 2 points to 56¾. Buying was based on publication of an official statement declaring that while current earnings are disappointing, the financial position of the company shows marked improvement over that of a year ago.

Canadian Pacific, Texas and Pacific, Rock Island, Great Northern preferred, Union Pacific, Frisco common, New Haven and the "Katy" preferred issues were the outstanding weak spots of the railroad group, each showing a loss of a point or more.

Little activity was reported in the time money market with all loans being made on a 5½ per cent basis. Out-of-town banks continue as the principal takers of commercial paper, the ruling rate for prime names remaining at 5 per cent.

The reaction in German marks to below 46-10,000 cents after apparently having remained "pegged" for weeks around 43-10,000 cents, was the feature of the foreign exchange market, trading in which was quiet. Demand sterling held steady just above $4.65 and French francs were firm above 6.60 cents. Italian lire were strong, rising above 5.02 cents for a net gain of nearly 10 points.

Day's total sales 794,000 shares.

Twenty industrials averaged 102.77; net loss .68. High 1923, 105.35; low, 96.96.

Twenty rails averaged 87.26; net loss .67. High 1923, 90.63; low, 84.53.

NEW YORK CURB

Schulte Stores Jump

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 29.—Considerable irregularity occurred in today's relatively dull curb market. Absence of many traders from the floor because of the coming holiday and the transfer of several active stocks to the "big board" were largely responsible for the lesser activity.

Speculative interest in the industrial group was divided between a jump of more than 4 points to 89, a new high record for all time, in Schulte Stores in anticipation of a dividend in preferred stock, and a break of 3 points in Armour & Co. of Delaware 7 per cent preferred, which was attributed to the withdrawal of syndicate support.

Douglas Packin Corporation, a newcomer to the board, was active between 12¾ and 13¼, closing at the top. Springfield Body Corporation improved fractionally, but the other motors lost ground.

Heavy trading in Carib Syndicate, which declined 1¼ previous top of 8¼, was the chief development in the oil group. The other South American oils were relatively backward. Standard Oil issues moved irregularly within narrow limits, except Prairie Gulf, which dropped 4 points on a small turnover.

Mining shares were generally sold at concessions, with the bulk of the trading in the cheaper issues.

Do You Know That—Type smaller than one point should never be used for advertising literature.
Often, too, this ten-point type should be leaded, as in the paragraph you are now
reading.
Here we have eight point solid. Twice as many words can be set to the square inch in this size as in the ten point leaded, as shown above.
Five out of ten people will continue to read an advertisement when it is set in type as hard to read as this.
When tempted to use a smaller sized type it is always better to boil down the copy to half of its original length and set it in ten point, leaded.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Irregular Trend

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 29.—Prices of bonds, particularly the United States government issues, displayed a better tone in today's relatively light dealings but there were enough weak spots to give the market a decidedly irregular appearance at the close.

The new United States government 4 1-4's dropped 14-32 of a point but all Liberty issues showed net gains of 1-32 to 11-32. Except for a drop of 3-4 of a point in Mexican 6's on announcement of another delay in the resumption of service on the Mexican debt, the foreign issues all showed moderate improvement. Firmness of French francs injected moderate strength into most of the French government and municipal liens.

In the railroad list some good gains were made by the liens of dividend paying roads, New York consolidated 4's, Northern Pacific refunding 6's and the Louisville and Nashville issues showing net gains ranging from large fractions to merely 1⅛ points. The obligations of the non-dividend payers moved in a conflicting fashion. Norfolk and Southern 5's and Kansas City Southern 5's gaining approximately a point each, while the Seaboard Air Line and Katy issues were slightly reactionary.

The sharp recovery of the Virginia Carolina Chemical 7's certificates and 7½'s, with warrants, each of which closed about 3 points higher, and the heaviness of Punta Alegre Sugar 7's, Philadelphia company 6's, Chile Copper 7's, Cerro de Pasco 8's and Commonwealth Power 6's off 1 to 3 points, were the features of the industrial list.

Total sales, par value, were $15,000,000.

There were only a few new issues today, the largest of which was the $1,500,000 Nevada-California Electric Corporation 6 per cent bonds offered at 96 to yield 6.30 per cent.

NEW YORK, March 29.—Following are the closing bond quotations on the New York Stock Exchange. Furnished by Logan & Bryan.

LIVE-STOCK MARKETS AT VARIOUS CENTERS

LOS ANGELES

[Furnished by Federal-State Live Stock Market News Service, 307 Exchange Building, Union Stockyards.]

Receipts and disposition of live stock at the Los Angeles Union Stockyards:

Estimated receipts Thursday, March 29—Cattle, 675; calves, 50; hogs, 380; sheep and lambs, 200.

Actual receipts Wednesday, March 28—Cattle, 475; calves, 14; hogs, 793; sheep and lambs, 531.

Disposition Wednesday, March 28—To Los Angeles packers, 844 cattle, 272 hogs, 9 calves; to other packers, 60 cattle, 6 hogs.

Cattle—A sluggish demand featured today's trading, steer prices showing a decline of 15@25c, while she-stock held fairly steady compared with Wednesday's market. Two loads of medium to good 1200-pound Nevada steers scored 7.35 without a sort. Four loads of medium steers, averaging 950 to 1050 pounds, scored 7.25. Three loads of common and medium steers, averaging 800 to 900 pounds, sold at 7.00.

She-stuff held fairly steady. A load of good 915-pound cows scored 6.00, as did a part load of like weight heifers. Part load of 1057-pound cows made 5.60.

Calves—Market steady. Two loads of common and medium 270-pound calves went over at 7.00.

Hogs—With trading practically at a standstill in the hog house, the market is barely steady. A part load of hand-picked 186-pound killers made 9.75. Odd numbers of heavy sows cashed at 8.00. Feeder pigs under slow trading are weak to 1.00 lower. Two loads of 84-pound pigs cashed at 8.00.

Sheep and lambs—Market steady on choice lambs, with commoner kinds weak; 250 trucked-in new crop lambs, averaging 62 pounds and grading good and choice, sold for 13.25.

Quotations, based upon sales at the Los Angeles Union Stockyards, follow:

Cattle—Beef steers, good grade, 7.25@7.75; medium grade, 6.75@7.25; common, 5.50@6.50; beef cows, good grade, 5.50@6.10; medium grade, 4.75@5.50; common, 3.50@4.50; canners and cutters, 1.00@2.50; bologna and butcher bulls, 2.00@5.00; feeder steers, 5.00@6.50.

Corn Futures Are Firm While Wheat Declines

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, March 29.—Grain values held within narrow limits, with wheat under and corn firmer. A break of ¼@1¼d in Liverpool led to local selling of wheat and at no time were prices more than a fraction above the finish of the previous day, with the close unchanged to ⅛c lower. Corn closed ¼@⅜c higher, oats ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher and rye ⅛c higher to ⅛c lower.

There was a noticeable lack of leadership on either side of wheat and with a holiday ahead until next Tuesday and all American markets and Winnipeg closed today the disposition was to even up on the part of a majority of local operators. On the break May wheat was taken by houses with eastern connections, presumably against cash sales. While export business was reported as limited, it is known that sales of hard winter, durums and Manitobas were made abroad with numerous bids slightly below a working basis.

General run of crop reports from the Southwest and West remain favorable, although rains would be beneficial in parts of Kansas. A cold wave was forecasted for the Northwest without affecting the market and Minneapolis September closed ⅛c lower.

Cash corn showed more strength than futures and with inquiries for shipment at the opening of navigation futures were easily bulldozed and the close was within a fraction of the top after a small break early. Broomhall raised his estimate on the Argentine surplus 13,000,000 to 118,000,000 bushels, but it had only a temporary effect. Owing to the continued cold weather feeling operations remain heavy. Receipts, 75 cars.

Cold weather is causing a serious delay in seeding of oats in many sections and is encouraging to affect the market to some extent. Trade was light the greater part of the day and largely of a local character. Receipts, 70 cars.

Buying of May and selling of July rye at the premium for the July early absorbed the surplus of May in the pit and caused the former delivery to advance, with the finish at ⅛c differences. Cash houses did the reverse. Receipts were after rye at the seaboard with sales of 150,000 bushels to Riga. The two northwestern markets had 77 cars.

ACCUMULATED ORDERS MOVE COTTON PRICES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, March 29.—An accumulation of buying orders, presumably for short account at the outset of today's cotton market, caused prices to start with initial gains of 3 to 21 points over last night's closing. On rather general demand it advanced about 15 to 50 points before liquidation was encouraged, causing a reaction at the loss of the early gain. Trading was fairly active. Further liquidation of May contracts was traced to commission houses and Wall street, while spot houses were reported buying them. Traders were highly nervous in the afternoon and the list moved irregularly lower. In some active trading and Japanese buying there was a temporary rally, lost on further liquidation of the near months. New crop months continued relatively steady on reports of unsettled weather in the belt but the market closed irregular, 30 points lower to 24 net higher.

Spot cotton was quiet, 25 points decline, 26.85 for middling uplands.

Southern markets were:

Galveston, 28.80, 25 points decline; New Orleans, 28.60, 50 points decline; Savannah, 28.15, 25 points decline; Augusta, 28.13, 50 points decline; Memphis, 29.25, 50 points decline; Houston, 28.75, 25 points decline; Little Rock 28.75, 25 points decline.

PRODUCE MARKET

Trading yesterday was moderate. Asparagus is moving freely at present price levels. Cabbage and good celery are scarce and prices are very firm. Peas are selling slowly and the market is depressed by heavy receipts of inferior stock from the Imperial Valley. Potatoes are slightly easier. Onions are firm and unchanged. Tomatoes are moving freely at present price levels.

LONG LEASE ON CORNER IS SOLD

Sale of the ninety-nine year lease on the property at the southwest corner of Seventh and Alvarado streets by A. C Blumenthal & Co., Inc., to the United Stores Realty Company, was announced yesterday by the former firm. The lease, which was acquired recently by the Blumenthal company, involves an aggregate rental of approximately $1,500,000.

It is the intention of the purchasing firm to erect a business block on the corner soon, at an estimated cost of $250,000. The corner has a frontage of 150 feet on Seventh street and 90 feet on Alvarado. At present it is improved with a number of frame buildings, which are to be razed as soon as the leases expire.

The announcement of the Blumenthal company stated that this firm intends soon to acquire other West Seventh-street properties, on which commercial structures will be erected.

The United Stores Realty Company is a subsidiary organization of the United Cigar Stores Company.

FIRE DAMAGES HOMES

Fire in the home of Mrs. Annie Miskovich at 734 Castalar street yesterday destroyed the upper portion of the house, causing about $1500 damages. The flames spread to two adjoining houses, which were also considerably damaged. Firemen succeeded in bringing the flames under control in a short time and prevented their spread.

DAILY MARKET LETTER OF THE NEW YORK COMMERCIAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, March 29.—Stocks of bulk Thompson raisins on the Coast are reported to be clearing up steadily with practically all holdings outside of the association sold. The market is held on a basis of $ 3-4 cents f. o. b. Fresno for outside packs. In view of improved situation a better market is looked for on the Coast when the market gets back in the hands of strong factors.

In a special letter to the trade the local officers of the raisin association today denied that there was such a shortage of Sunmaid raisins in New York that jobbers would have to take non-advertised brands in order to cover their sales.

Trading in the local market while fair has lost some of the irregularity which characterized last week's business. Buyers who were short are fairly well covered for the time being and buying in small quantities to take care of pressing requirements.

Prunes remain quiet both on the Coast and on spot. The association continues to hold the market on a firm basis and has only limited quantities of bulk stocks still available.

Florida oranges were 15 to 25 cents per box lower on the best stock and 25 to 35 cents lower on ordinary.

California oranges were slightly lower in spots, 24 cars of navels being sold at the following ranges: 80s, $2.30 to $3.03; 100s $2.45 to $5.10; 126s $2.75 to $4.85; 150s $3 to $5.28; 176s $3.40 to $5; 200s $3.40 to $5.15; 216s $3.40 to $4.70; 252s $3.40 to $4.80.

Two cars of California navelencias were sold at $3.90 to $4.60 per box.

California lemons were unchanged, one car being sold at $3.20 to $3.90.

CANNED GOODS

Developments were lacking in the canned food markets, prices remaining quotably good. Tomtato demand continues quiet along routine lines, most of the inquiry being for unlabeled stock which is in small supply. Canners are holding 2s at 97½ cents; for buyers label, with many of them asking 2½ cents above this figure.

The call for future tomatoes has quieted down somewhat but the market remains firmly held.

Salmon showed no quotable change during the day either on spot or on the Coast. The market on reds is now held at an inside figure of $2.35. Thus far inquiry for future salmon has been rather bright

SUGAR MARKET

Raw sugar market opened 5 to 8 points higher and under scattered liquidation sold off 2 or 3 points due to dullness in the raw and refined markets. There was a belated rally of a few points in all active months at the close which sent May to 5.62; July to 5.83; September 5.95, and December, 5.74. Sales including switches from May to July at 21 points and September to December, 22 points were estimated at 11,900 tons. Final prices were at a decline of 1 to 5 points.

A further cut of ten points was named in refined sugar by the Federal Sugar Refining Company just before the three-day suspension of trading. Arbuckle Brothers continue to sell on the 8.75 cents basis shipment on or before April 7, while other refiners are naming 9 cents and are shipping against contracts.

COFFEE, TEA

Coffee futures opened with prices 4 points higher to 2 points lower. The list advanced 2 to 6 points before noon and directly thereafter there was a bulge which carried May to 10.73 cents, up 18 points; July to 9.78 cents, up 2 points; September to 9.99 cents, up 14 points and December to 9.70 cents, up 4 points.

The New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange is closed for three days. Today's trading total 37,000 bags, inclusive of switches from September to December, 25 points; May to September, 160; July to September, 82. The market closed strong at an advance of 8 to 17 points.

As usual it is expected that after the Easter holidays seasonal buying of teas for hot weather use will commence. A good many hold to the opinion that hot-weather buying will eclipse cold-weather buying this season as prohibition has popularized iced tea, more than ever. Although the general position of the market was without special feature of new importance today the same strength which has characterized all of the various grades of fermented teas for months past continued in evidence.

The market for rice is very quiet and in about the former range of prices. The deadlock between planters and millers in the South is apparently unbroken.

BUTTER, EGGS

The demand was less snappy than earlier in the week and we find some weak spots in the butter market. Call sales were 100 tubs 50, 50, 100, 25, 50, 100, 100, 100 and 50 extra creamery all at 49 cents for spot delivery.

There were no sales recorded for future delivery.

In the egg market call sales were 50 cases eastern Tenn. firsts delivered at 24 cents; 50 cases northern Iowa storage packed firsts at 27 cents; 50 cases do. at 27½ cents for spot delivery. In future sales were one car n.p. firsts seller tomorrow at 28 cents and one car seller ten days at 28 cents per dozen.

COPPER, ZINC

There is no indication that producers will depart from their policy to hold copper at 17 3-8 for electrolytic delivered over the next few months.

London cables reported standard spot as advancing £1 to £74, 17s 6d; futures 2s 6d to £75, 15s; electrolytic spot £1, 10s to £82, 10s and futures £1 to £83.

Zinc is weak at 7.80 cents for spot and March delivery with futures still available at a discount of 10 points for each succeeding month.

London cables reported spot as declining 5s to £36, 7s 6d while futures were off 10s to £36, 5s.

GASOLINE

Standard Oil of New Jersey today announced an advance of 1¼ cents a gallon in tank wagon prices of gasoline in its Charleston and Columbia S. C. territory, new prices ranging 23 to 26½ cents.

BOND MARKET

The trend was definitely toward lower levels in bonds with the exception of a scattering of industrials and rails and Liberty bonds.

The 6 per cent money rate was with us again at the close and buyers of earlier in the day took profits freely.

Maryland oil issues which have featured the market with gains all week sustained at sharp decline, the 7½s with warrants closing 4 points under the opening.

Copper issues weakened slightly at the last.

An unusually heavy turnover in Katy adjustment 5s featured the rail issues. The second and fourth 4 1-4s headed the Liberty in activity though not in gains for the first 4 1-4s scored a gain for the day of 1 1-32 on light trading. The treasury 4 1-4s were under fire from the start and closed at the low of the day.

French bonds were up fractionally. British bonds managed to finish with an advance though sterling left little room for encouragement by its action.

EASTER TO BE GREETED AT HARBOR

Sunrise Services Will Be Conducted by Chaplain at Fort MacArthur

Under the huge guns of Fort MacArthur, sunrise services will be conducted at the port o Easter morning under the direction of Capt. A. K. Matthews, chaplain of the harbor artillery post. Ten thousand persons are expected to be present at the exercises on tre ocean slope back of Point Fermin as the sun rises out of the Pacific.

Artillery men from the Fort MacArthur garrison and Boy Scouts from Los Angeles Harbor troops will act as aides and guides during the exercises, over which Rev. Henry T. Babcock of Los Angeles Harbor will preside. Following the opening prayer and a selection by the Fort MacArthur Quartet, Shelley's "Easter Vespers" will be sung by the combined glee clubs of Los Angeles Harbor High School.

The address of the morning will be delivered by Capt. Matthews, the exercises closing with the singing of Knapp's "Open the Gates of the Temple," by Dan Gridley. The post band of Fort MacArthur will play religious selections as the worshipers depart.

Maj. George Ruhlen, commanding Fort MacArthur, yesterday issued a special order covering the control of the services. Automobiles will be permitted to enter the upper reservation of the fort by the main gate, but must park behind the first line of batteries. All gates, however, will be open to pedestrians. Maj. Ruhlen providing that worshipers may enter by the Thirty-sixth-street, Thirty-eighth-street, Point Fermin and Gaffey-street gates.

ASK PATRIOTIC PARK NAME

The request of the Sons of the Revolution that the name of Exposition Park be changed to Washington Park in honor of the first President will be considered at the meeting of the City Council's Public Welfare Committee next Wednesday afternoon.

NEW PARK IS FAVORED BY LEGION

Proposed City Playground in Bed of Arroyo Seco Brings Enthusiasm

Another step forward was taken in the plans for obtaining the new city park in the woodland glade between Sycamore Grove and the South Pasadena city limits along the bed of the Arroyo Seco. Under the guidance of Councilman Sanborn and Mr. Whitnall of the City Planning Commission, delegates from the American Legion inspected the site of the proposed park and approved the project.

Charles Williams of Garvanza, who has devoted his time and influence for many weeks to saving this stretch of natural scenery, explained the situation and pointed out how an adequate storm channel could be installed without cutting down too many of the magnificent sycamore trees.

If the park is accepted the Legion is anxious to obtain here a site for a clubhouse, where its members may enjoy the pleasures of a country outing within the city limits. For the same reason the name, "Arroyo Seco Victory Park," has been suggested.

Until final arrangements are complete, the Arroyo Seco Park Federation will meet every Monday evening at the home of Mr. Williams on Thorne street to take up further suggestions.

POLICE JAIL ASSERTED BOGUS CHECK WRITER

Arrested early yesterday by Hollywood police officers on a charge of passing bad checks, a man giving the name of Harold Van Tassel is today in the City Jail awaiting trial on a fictitious check charge.

In addition to the bad check suspect, Hollywood police are preparing to prosecute Ralph Johnston who, they charge, succeeded in palming off several thousand dollars worth of worthless securities on a Hollywood bank and also of buying $850 worth of diamonds from a jewelry store, giving checks on a mythical account.

LIQUOR RING MYSTERY IS CLEARED UP

Dry Chief and Asserted Rum Gang Head Appear Before Commissioner

The mystery concerning the location of Harold H. Dolley, prohibition chief investigating the Long Beach rum-running gang, and Jack Miller, asserted to be a ringleader of the asserted ring, was cleared up yesterday noon when both appeared before United States Commissioner Long.

Miller was represented by Attorney Herbert L. Iasigi. Mark Herron, chief arcistant United States Attorney, asked that Miller's $10,000 cash bail be raised to $25,000 asserting that Miller had made an attempt to flee the jurisdiction of the court. This was combated by Mr. Iasigi, who made the statement that Miller had at all times been in the custody of a prohibition agent. Commissioner Long declined to increase the amount of bail, and Miller's release card was signed.

According to Mr. Iasigi, Mr. Miller intends staying in Southern California, despite his interests, which are considerable and which are located in Vancouver, B. C. Agent Dolley overtook Mr. Miller last Sunday in San Francisco, and brought him back to Los Angeles.

Oscar Lund, who with Jerry King, Mrs. Hazel Talbot and Louis Dudrey, was released on a total of $35,000 bonds last Tuesday, declared yesterday that newspaper accounts, connecting him with Earle Remington, murdered Los Angeles society man, were untrue. Mr. Lund said that he had never known Mr. Remington, but believed that "his pardner" had had several small transactions with him.

While Mr. Iasigi represents Miller, who is said to have had charge of the Canadian angle of the shipment, Attorney Roger Marchetti is defense counsel for Lund, Dudrey, King and Mrs. Talbot. Alexander Stewart, Albert Leahy and Victor Lord, Long Beach business men who were arrested last Thursday, are defended by separate counsel.

COLLECTIONS SLOW

Volunteers of America Disappointed in Drive for Funds

NEWS ITEM:

Our personal representative now at SMACKOVER advises:

"I took a run out to see the PAUL VITEK gusher well today and such a sight you never saw; she is now making better than 20,000 barrels per day, and he has six wells surrounding this one, so there is no possibility of anyone taking his flush production.

"I was in his office yesterday and had a very long talk with him, and he is very sincere in what he says and I believe that this stock is the best buy today for the money and I believe that he is going to make good in every way."

What Do You Think of My Boys?

Folks, don't you think they are the "keenest bunch of drillers" that ever opened the fog to a twin engine? "Gee! I'm proud of them."

Whether you know it or not, I don't know, but I want to tell you that to me "they are the keynote of my organization," without their co-operation it would soon be "curtains for me."

It's not like working for the "Standard" or the "Union," where they can take it easy, my boys know that I have everything in the world at stake when I come out and talk to you the way I do. They know better than you ca nrealize that when I make you a promise that I am depending on them to "deliver the goods."

Whether it be three o'clock in the morning or three in the afternoon, step into any of my drilling rigs and "I'll lay you plenty of dough" that you find each and every one of my crews on their toes, giving me the best that is in them, and I want to say right here to my boys in the field, that my great ambition in life today is to build an oil corporation second to none in our "Golden State" and that there will be a place worth while in that organization for every one of you.

Boys, don't think for a minute because I run out to the field and hurriedly look things over and sometimes don't have much time to talk to you all, that I don't appreciate your efforts, because I surely do, and I know how hard you are trying, and I want "you" to know, too, "that I'm for you strong." I'm not playing this game one-sided, to me "the steady pull of all together" is the keynote of the situation, and any time things don't break for you, I want you to know that "I'm a 'he-man' and for you all the way." "When they don't look good for you, tell your troubles to me."

Possibly you boys don't realize today how really important we are going to be in this oil industry, but I do, and let me tell you that my Superintendent, "Bill Wellman," and I have some nice things in store for the boys that made it all possible, and "Mike Leonard," our little "son-of-a-gun," we are not overlooking you.

Rosalie, in business, could not be entertained and did not sufficiently admire. She had to have a special early breakfast; she disappeared; she was not in to lunch or tea; she was not sufficiently impressed by what cook had prepared, but had rather too much to say about what she had been doing, at dinner; and she excused herself away to early bed on the ground of fatigue or of having certain books to study. Rosalie, in business, was not a guest at all in Aunt Belle's sense of the word indeed, there came an occasion—Rosalie twice in one week late for dinner—when Aunt Belle said awfully, "My house is not a hotel, Rosalie. I cannot have my nice house turned into a hotel."

It was the nearest thing to an unkind word ever spoken by Aunt Belle to Rosalie, and it was so near but it brought Aunt Belle up to Rosalie's bed that night—solicitude in a terrific dressing gown of crimson silk—to express the hope that Rosalie was not crying (she was not; she had been sound asleep) at anything Aunt Belle "might have said." "But you see, dear child, there are the servants to consider, all that delicious soup and all that most tasty turbot au gratin to be kept warm for you, and there is your kind Uncle Pyke to consider; men do not like their meals to be . . ."

Federal Office Employees Get Traffic Tickets

The two-hour parking law yesterday brought grief and consternation to the scores of employees in the Federal Building, who have been in the habit, from time to which the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, of parking their cars along New High street.

Yesterday a blue-coated minion of the law, reading up on the traffic regulations, made up his mind that somebody was violating the law, so he quietly slipped along and affixed a ticket to each machine.

It wasn't necessary to make a diagram—they all knew what that meant. But there was an explosion of language all along the line when the boys went to get their machines last night.

They claim they knew nothing of the city ordinance, but ignorance of the law is no excuse, according to the books.

The owners of flivvers declare they will take their machines up the elevator this morning, and put them under their desks hidden away from the prying eyes of the patrolmen. Thus every day in every way they are becoming more and more familiar with the provisions of the parking ordinance, with no obligations to old Dock Coue, either.

Carpet-Layers' Strike Said to be Flat Failure

The strike of carpet layers, which was called Monday in an effort to spring the going wage $1 a day, has fallen flat, according to F. J. Zeehandelaar, secretary of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association.

Mr. Zeehandelaar announced yesterday that the carpet layers only walked out in one or two establishments and made no noticeable impression upon the employers. He expects to see most of them back at work by the first of the week.

A peculiar angle of the carpet-layers' strike came to light yesterday when the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association made known that the only employer who has refused to sign an agreement to keep carpet-laying on an open-shop basis is hoping to get the Biltmore Hotel carpet job and hire all the carpet layers who are on strike.

An investigation revealed the fact, Mr. Zeehandelaar says, that the carpet for this job is coming from the East and that the actual work of laying it is still many weeks ahead.

SALES TAXES UNPAID

Collector Goodcell Gives Warning to Local Merchants

In the matter of sales tax returns, Collector Goodcell says that many taxpayers are making themselves liable to the payment of a heavy fine, by their failure to observe the provisions of the law.

The statute requires that sales taxes be paid each month for the preceding months, or penalties will accrue. It is also necessary that sales tax forms be properly prepared, signed and attested to in duplicate or a penalty of $1c00 follows. If the tax liability exceeds $10 the signature must be sworn to. If not over $1c, two persons may sign as witnesses to the signature. Hundreds of taxpayers pay no attention to these requirements, he says.

"Now I don't want to make a record for collecting penalties," says the collector. "I want this district to continue to be what it now is, the foremost district in the United States in the collection of taxes. Therefore, I urge all sales tax payers to read and comply with the instructions on their returns and avoid penalties."

DOPE PEDDLERS SCATTERED

Pursued by Narcotic Squad They Flee to Near-by Towns; Nine Nabbed in San Joaquin Valley

The war against "dope" peddlers in Los Angeles has succeeded in driving scores of them and hundreds of addicts from this city into smaller cities in Central California, and to a large degree has lessened the crime wave here, according to Federal Narcotic Agents Wood, Bright and Brown, who returned yesterday from a survey of the situation in the San Joaquin Valley.

Recognizing that they face arrest in Los Angeles many of them have transferred their operations to towns where the police force is not capable of coping with them. The addicts have followed. These are the men who commit the majority of the hold-ups and burglaries to get the money to satisfy their craving for narcotics.

The agents visited a score of towns on their trip and arrested nine suspects. The charges against the men were filed in the Federal court at Fresno.

In Visalia, said Mr. Wood, Dr. C. C. Fitch, a widely known physician, was arrested and charged with violating the Federal Narcotic Act, after he had sold the agent a bindle of morphine. An ounce of morphine and an ounce of cocaine were taken from Dr. Fitch's residence, Wood said, and declared that the doctor did not have narcotic records, which are required by the government of physicians dispensing the drugs.

Four men were arrested in Visalia, one in Armona and four in Fresno.

"Armona is a small town near Hanford," said Mr. Wood, "where there is a large Chinese population. Apparently the peddlers operated there without much interference. As soon as we made one arrest the whole town knew who we were and closed up. There are several underground smoking dens in Armona, the first I have seen since the old days in San Francisco.

"In Fresno there are scores of addicts. They come down into the valley from cities hundreds of miles away to get their supply. You can see them standing on the sunny side of the street in bunches of six and seven, just like they did at the Plaza in Los Angeles several years ago.

"The campaign against them in the large cities certainly has had its effect, for they crowd into the little towns.

"Most of the seized narcotics were manufactured in the United States, probably having been smuggled into this country from Mexico after being legally exported."

ENDS HIS LIFE WITH DRUG

Doctor's Spending Orgy Revealed in Letters From Parents Found in Hotel Room

Two letters, one from his mother, pleading with him to forsake his evil companions and return home, and the other from his father, sternly arraigning him for his wild extravagances, and an empty bottle which had held chloroform plainly told Detective Lieutenants Craig and Oaker yesterday afternoon how and why Dr. W. G. Oliver had ended his life in his room at a hotel on South Hope street.

Hundreds of dollars had been spent within the past few weeks by the young physician, according to the letter written by the father, J. H. Oliver, Arlington station, Riverside. Much of the amount is said to have been obtained by means of checks which the father is said to have made good in order to save the family from open disgrace.

In her letter the mother wrote that she was leaving for the East, driven from her home by the son's asserted misdeeds.

Apparently the downward journey began but a few weeks ago with the purchase of an automobile. Since them, it seemed from both letters, the family's funds had been drained low by a constant trickle of checks.

Two checks for $50 each and another for $80 had been made good by the father, it appeared, on the 16th inst., the day his letter was written.

A veiled hint that much of the money was being spent for narcotics was found in each letter. The mother urged upon her son to exert his utmost will to throw off some habit and his father wrote bluntly that he would have to go to the County Hospital if he needed any further help.

Oliver registered at the hotel on the 17th inst. On the night of the 27th he paid his bill and retired to his room. Yesterday afternoon, when a maid was unable to gain an entrance to the room, she reported the matter to the management. A porter forced open a window and found Oliver dead. An empty chloroform bottle lay on the floor beside the bed and a pillow covered the head. The hotel manager said that Oliver appeared to be about 30 years of age.

Pair Held Under Bail on Charge of Liquor Sales

Bail was fixed at $1350 each for Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Murphy of Ocean Park Heights, when they were arraigned in Justice J. Parker Wood's court yesterday on a charge of possession and sale of liquor.

Murphy is said to have acted as commissary agent for a Hollywood motion-picture studio during the past twelve years.

The couple were arrested early Wednesday morning by agents working under George Contreras of the District Attorney's office, after a four-night watch had been kept on the Murphy home.

A quantity of choice bonded liquors was confiscated, including champagne, Gordon gin and benedictine. The agents reported that Mrs. Murphy and her 14-year-old son assisted in the sale of liquor. They said that customers of apparent wealth would drive up to the Murphy home and that the lights would then go off in the house. Then, they reported, the people inside the house would bring out cases of the liquor and put them on the front porch, which the customers in their waiting automobiles are said to have carried to their machines.

Preliminary hearing in the case was set for April 12.

GUNMAN SENTENCED

Mike Sutherland Goes Up for too Much Joy-Riding

"Three-gun" Mike Sutherland, whose noon-day nap in a stolen car recently resulted in his recapture by Deputy Sheriff Dewar, was sentenced yesterday to serve from one to ten years at San Quentin by Judge Reeve of the Superior Court on a charge of joy-riding. On April 13 this term will probably be increased by a considerable period as Sutherland will come up then for sentence on two charges of grand larceny and another of joy-riding.

Sutherland was granted probation by Judge Reeve on February 12, last, after pleading guilty to joy-riding and was allowed to work in the county detention camp. On the way to the camp, however, he broke away from his guards and escaped. Some time later he was found sleeping in an automobile and rearrested. Sutherland had three loaded revolvers in his possession when recaptured.

POLICE HERE ASKED TO FIND BRENT HARBAUGH

Chief of Police Oaks has received the following telegram from the Chief of Police at Springdale, Pa.:

"Please locate Brent Harbaugh, staying in Los Angeles. Aged 31, height five feet seven inches, slim brow, big scar on neck, butterfly on left forearm. Wife and brothers are seeking him."

TWO SEEK DIVORCE

Lee M. Hamman says his wife kicked him in the ribs while he was lacing his shoes one morning. She also flung some dishes at him he says.

Joseph Potter says his wife, Adalene, pushed a gun into his ribs on one occasion and beat him over the head with a shoe. They both filed suit for divorce.

Judge Defines Teddy-Bear and Grants Decree

Judge Summerfield yesterday gave a judicial definition of a teddy-bear in granting a divorce to Mrs. Josephine Miller from her husband, Earl Miller, an attorney.

Mrs. Miller testified that she became suspicious of her husband's actions in October last and employed a private detective, who, she said, led her one night to a girl's apartment.

"And how was the girl dressed?" asked the judge.

"She wore only a teddy-bear," replied Mrs. Miller.

The court reporter was unable to believe his ears.

"Teddy-bear?" he interrupted. "What is a teddy-bear."

"A teddy-bear," retorted Judge Summerfield judicially, "is not much of a garment."

Mrs. Miller then proceeded to testify that the girl admitted improper relations with her husband. The suit was not contested. Leroy M. Edwards, attorney, represented Mrs. Miller.

March Receipts at Postoffice Show Increase

It is estimated that the March receipts of the Los Angeles postoffice figures of which will be available tomorrow, will amount to $570,000, or an increase of 25 per cent as compared with the same month last year, when the sales were $456,371.45. The growth of the business this year so far has been greater than ever before in the history of the office.

The daily sales for the month of March have ranged from $17,500 to $27,000, the last named figure being the largest ever recorded for a single day, except during the holiday season.

It is believed that the transactions for the calendar year closing December 31, next, will not be less than $7,000,000, or in round numbers, $1,500,000 more than in 1922.

The increase is said to be solely due to the abnormal growth of the city, and the increase in the volume of all commercial operations.

VENICE GROCETERIA SUES RIVAL CONCERN

Suit for $100,000 damages for asserted libel was filed yesterday by the Venice Groceteria and Meat Market, 105-109 Windward avenue, Venice, against the Groceteria Stores Company of California, and others.

The plaintiff charges that the defendant broadcast pamphlets showing prices purporting to be comparative, and that at the bottom of the pamphlet were the words:

"Dad: Be honest. Be original. For right in the long run always wins."

The plaintiff is represented by Attorneys Bearmon and Engelhart and George Appell.

SHIPPING and Los Angeles Harbor NEWS

Ruling on Ship Valuation for Taxes Amended

Collector Goodcell of the Internal Revenue Department has been informed that the regulations regarding the amortization allowances for domestic steel vessels have been amended and new ratios established for use of taxpayers in computing claims for tentative allowances.

On ocean-going passenger steam vessels replacement cost shall be 120 per cent of cost per deadweight ton of steamers of similar type, size and speed.

On ocean-going cargo-carrying steam vessels, exclusive of tank steamers, 40 per cent of the cost per deadweight ton of steamers of similar type, size and speed on June 30, 1916, shall be accepted as residual value of the vessel, whether in use or not, unless actually abandoned. If so, sale or salvage value shall be substituted in lieu of the allowance, provided that the residual value of a steam vessel, not permanently disabled, shall be in no case less than $56 per deadweight ton.

On tank steamers replacement cost shall be computed at 90 per cent of the cost of deadweight ton of steamers of similar type size and speed.

DAMAGE SUIT WON BY STEAMSHIP COMPANY

Judge Hardy in Superior Court yesterday refused to grant an $800 suit for damages brought by the California Importing Company against the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company and others.

The plaintiff charged that a $1300 shipment of cheese, brought from New York by way of the Panama Canal, was not properly protected by the steamship company, and arrived spoiled. The steamship line contended the shipment had been accepted with the understanding that refrigerator capacity was limited, and that the cheese had been given the best possible care. Judge Hardy upheld this contention.

DENY NAVY IS GOING NORTH

Washington Contradicts Reports of Transfer of the Fleet

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, March 29. Officials of the Navy Department today denied reports current at Los Angeles Harbor to the effect that the bulk of the Pacific Fleet will be transferred to San Francisco from Los Angeles permanently after May 28. On that date a number of war vessels will go to the Bay City for the American Legion convention and others will be in other Pacific Coast ports for varying periods during the summer. No change in the permanent base is contemplated at present, the officials said.

DISBELIEF IS DECRIED BY PASTOR

Refusal to Accept Christ as Son of God Greatest Tragedy, Speaker Says

The idea advanced by Jesus Christ concerning the establishment of the Kingdom of God on earth is the most revolutionary thought ever let loose upon the mind of humanity," declared Dr. Edwin P. Ryland, pastor of the Mt. Hollywood Congregational Church, preaching at the Morosco Theater at noon yesterday.

"The tragedy of Christendom today is that people do not really believe in Jesus as the Son of the Most High," said Dr. Ryland. "They either cast His kingship aside or they emasculate it. However, He was a real king, although the world's greatest servant. He was a real king although He abjured armies and navies and munitions of war.

The battles He fought were genuine battles. He never yielded to temptation but He could have done so, else His temptations would be meaningless said the speaker. "Everything about Him and His life were real. When He spoke of the Kingdom He was not dealing in meaningless language. The atonement was and is real and out of that atonement shall come the world's redemption, a rebirn humanity which shall constitute His spiritual kingdom.

"What the world needs today is a change of thought, of motive, of purpose, and no power other than the religion of Jesus Christ will ever bring about such a vital reformation. Please God the time shall soon come when Christ's kingship shall be as real in our lives as it was and is in His own Divine thought."

FLOOD DAM PROJECT IS ABANDONED

Supervisors Vote Channel From Canyon to Van Nuys as Substitute

Abandonment of the plan to build a flood control dam in Pacoima Canyon, and the substitution of a channel from the mouth of the canyon to the City of Van Nuys, was voted yesterday by the Board of Supervisors on recommendation of Chief Engineer Reagan of the Flood Control district.

The Chief Engineer declared that the foundations had been found to be insufficient at the site picked for the big dam, in view of the large area burned over in the forest and brush fire of 1918 which greatly increased the amount of flood waters, and said that in his opinion a dam large enough to control the waters could not be built so it would stand the pressure.

The channel suggested by the Flood Control engineer will be seventy-five feet wide and six feet deep, and will start at the Pacoima Wash. The City of Van Nuys, Engineer Reagan said, would arrange to take care of the flood waters at that point.

A considerable saving to the county will result from the change in plans, as the dam would have cost $1,500,000 and the channel can be built for $200,000, the engineer declared.

NEGRO CAMP RAIDED

A raid by four deputy sheriffs on a negro camp at Twenty-sixth street and Santa Fe avenue, along the river bottom, resulted in the arrest of seven negroes yesterday afternoon. Five were released after questioning, but the remaining two, Robert Lee and Charles Jefferson, are being held. Lee is charged with an offense against a young negro boy and Jefferson is held on a charge of violating the State poison law. The raid was made by Deputy Sheriffs Sweesy, Allen, Brooks and Large.

SAILOR MAKES LIFE JOYFUL

Seaman in Cairo Goes on Spree of "Auto Buying"

Orders Cars in Captain's Name Then Leaves

Arrest No Worry to Him, He Had Good Time

BY FRANK WILLS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

[Copyright, 1923, by the Chicago Tribune.]

CAIRO, March 28.—An amazing tale of duplicity and nerve was revealed in the arrest of a seaman on board the United States cruiser Pittsburg, the flagship of the American naval forces in Europhean waters. Stealing a shipmate's liberty card, Ringling slipped ashore at Alexandria last week and entered a garage where, it is said, he posed as the agent of an American destroyer captain with a commission to buy an automobile.

After a careful inspection of the garage stock he persuaded the dealer to deliver him a car on receipt of telephonic confirmation by the captain. The sailor then sped to the nearest phone, where he impersonated the captain. He returned and took charge of the car, driving to the Savoy Hotel, where he took a room. He borrowed a suit of clothes from an exporter.

After two days filled with daring exploits he told the garage that the owner had decided to sell the car and buy another. He was allowed to try out two other cars for demonstration purposes. The garage advanced $188 against the future sale of the first car.

On Sunday at midnight he entered the garage with a stolen key, usurped another car and started for Cairo. Before leaving he telephoned the Alexandria signal station that three American bluejackets had been stoned to death, naming himself as one of the victims.

When he arrived at the Cairo customs barrier a telephone message was received stating that a naval patrol card had been stolen. He asserted that he had recovered it and was taking it back. Accordingly, the official did not notify the police and, after registering at the Continental Hotel, he began the return journey.

In the meantime the garage had notified the police, who stopped the car at the border. After an examination by the British Chief of Police, an American Consul almost liberated the man, when the American authorities, communicating by long-distance telephone, identified him as a thief. He was taken into custody, and is awaiting trial by court-martial.

He confesses the entire story and is proud of the fact that he obtained three automobiles, a $100 suit of clothing and a hotel room for four days on sheer nerve alone. He shows several scars and claims to have been wounded at Chateau Thierry and that he ran away from a hospital.

CITY OFFICIALS TO RUSH TUBE

Mayor Says Work Is to Start Shortly

Will Run Underground Through City

President Outlines Plans of Pacific Electric

Assurance that actual construction of the tunnel that will run from Hill-street station and Hollywood, Glendale and Pasadena cars underground through the congested district and within sixty days, and marks the most forward move made to solve the traffic problem, E. V. Pontius, vice-president of the Pacific Electric Railway, last night, and a statement regarding what his company has made conditions.

The tunnel should be completed in question within fifteen months after this bore is first used, Mr. Pontius. Its completion will enable the railway company to materially relieve traffic conditions on Hill and Sixth streets, as most of the cars now operated on those thoroughfares are routed through the tube.

MERIT ANSWER

Mayor's statement, given in response to query of Max J. Hamburger, manager of the Los Angeles Development League, as to whether the Pacific Electric was doing its utmost transportation conditions to relieve congestion in the down-town districts, follows:

"Nothing more in trains is the way to give satisfactory service to many traffic street-car lines. The Hollywood-Glendale-Pasadena tunnel, which will cost $6,000,000, and which will be under construction within sixty days, should it will be possible for the Pacific Electric Railway to run its trains through the tunnel and give service to people living in those that it is physically impossible to do under the present conditions. This is the most forward move that has been made by anyone in any way toward the relief of congestion in the business district of Los Angeles. The tunnel is to be completed and in operation fifteen months after ground is under way. When in operation it will be possible to take the major portion of cars off of Hill street and Sixth street.

NEW LINES PLANNED

The Pacific Electric Company with the Los Angeles Railway has agreed to install a line on Western avenue between Hollywood Boulevard and Melrose, issuing transfers between yellow and red cars at the crossing of Western avenue. It has been given the permit to operate buses this will provide a cross-town local service for the convenience of tremendous numbers of people who desires to use it.

The railways have also agreed to install similar service on Vermont avenue, Vine street, Hollywood Boulevard, and other streets in the western district of the city. Transfers will be issued on these lines in the same manner as on Western avenue.

The Pacific Electric Company has announced before the Board of Public Utilities that in addition to the bus service on Sunset boulevard between Gardner Junction and Pacific avenue it will install bus service to act as feeder to the Pacific Electric and that it is desired by the board of Public Utilities.

FINANCIAL TRANSFERS

Because of the very liberal privileges which the railroad companies can offer and the fact that the companies are often willing to install it seems to me that the municipality should have the same privilege to install it also as will be of benefit to a greater number.

During the year 1922 the Pacific Railway Company has put in equipment to the value of $2,000,000, which plainly shows that it is going ahead with the improvement of its facilities and service in its districts in and tributary to Los Angeles."

FREDERICKS IS PARTY'S CHOICE FOR CONGRESS

Republican County Committee by Unanimous Vote Indorses Him as Best Man for Tenth

Capt. John D. Fredericks was unanimously indorsed by the executive committee of the Republican County Central Committee yesterday as the man best qualified to succeed the late Henry Z. Osborne as Congressman from the Tenth District. Great enthusiasm marked the meeting, held at the Clark Hotel, and the feeling was expressed that the indorsement, together with that of the Tenth District Congressional Committee given Capt. Fredericks the previous day, insures for the candidate united party support at the special election to be held May 1. The district is overwhelmingly Republican.

The resolutions, introduced by Harriet W. Works, read as follows:

THE RESOLUTIONS

"Whereas, the Republican Congressional committee of the Tenth District has indorsed the candidacy for Congress of Capt. John D. Fredericks; and

"Whereas, the candidacy of Capt. Fredericks, in our judgment, represents the best interests of the Republican party in this district and insures the election of a Republican, qualified properly to represent all the people of the district; and,

"Whereas, the law does not make provision for a primary election to ascertain the choice of the party for this important position; and

"Whereas, this committee is the duly elected and qualified representative of the Republican party when there is no primary election now; and

"Whereas, there is real danger of the election of a Democrat to represent this overwhelmingly Republican district if the Republican vote is split up between a multiplicity of Republican candidates.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved, that the Republican County Executive Committee does hereby heartily indorse the action of the Congressional committee and joins with it in calling upon all of the Republicans in the district regardless of previous alignment, to actively support and vote for Capt. John D. Fredericks as representative in Congress of the Tenth Congress District."

The meeting of the committee was one of the most largely attended in years and the opinion of the various committee members was so strong and so unanimous for Capt. Fredericks's indorsement that the resolution was adopted without a dissenting voice. The meeting was, in brief, "all Fredericks," as one committeeman expressed it, as the outstanding qualifications of the former District Attorney and former president of the Chamber of Commerce made him tower over all other candidates.

Chairman Ralph Arnold, of the County Central Committee, who

TO ACCEPT GIFT FOR BOWL

W. A. Clark, Jr., Offer of $50,000 Provided $100,000 More is Raised Depends Only on Directors

The Hollywood Bowl and its site at Cahuenga and Highland avenues is to be further beautified, if the board of directors of the Community Park and Art Association, sponsors of the project since its inception, ratifies conditions of a $50,000 gift from W. A. Clark, Jr., wealthy and prominent benefactor of the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, as accepted by the association's executive board at a recent meeting, it became known yesterday.

Under the terms of Mr. Clark's proffer, he will donate $50,000 for permanent improvements to the Bowl and its environs if the association will provide $100,000 to be spent for a like purpose, members of the executive board announced last night.

A meeting of the board of directors is to be called soon to consider Mr. Clark's offer and the action the association's executive board has taken concerning it. Persons in close touch with the administration of the Bowl property last night predicted that Mr. Clark's gift would be accepted.

In addition to this condition imposed by Mr. Clark two other provisos were included in his offer. One was that the association would give a 1923 series of concerts at the Bowl by the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra. The other had to do with the direction of the concerts.

Mr. Clark's proposition came up for formal discussion for the first time at a meeting of the Bowl Association's executive board last Sunday evening. F. W. Blanchard, Mrs. J. J. Carter, C. E. Toberman and C. Percival Gerson, four of the board's seven members, were present to hear details of Mr. Clark's offer from his personal representative, F. E. Keeler, Mrs. Rankin Clark and M. F. Farmer were the absent members.

Plans for the raising of the $100,000 have already been perfected, members of the executive board declared last night. Only the action of the board of directors on Mr. Clark's proposition intervenes before the needed sum can be obtained.

Dead Girl and Man Now Being Tried

FIRE MENACES FORESTS

Supervisor Charlton Asks Aid in His Plan for Guarding Wooded Section Against Destruction

Supervisor Charlton, of the Angeles National Reserve, has sent out the "S.O.S." call. He asks help in his program of caring for the water-shed, on which Los Angeles and neighboring cities are dependent for their water supply, in view of the unprecedented spring drouth and the unusual dryness that exists all over the ranges of Southern California. He is fearful of forest fires.

He will ask aid from the city of Los Angeles, San Francisco, Sierre Madre, Monrovia and Arcadia, to the end that additional rangers may be employed to watch for expected fires in the big woods.

In the Big Tejunga Canyon there is but one ranger employed by the government, stationed at Sunland, and others are needed. This is the source of the water supply of San Fernando, and miles of territory are left uncovered by the riding rangers. There are little canyons off the big one where a ranger has never penetrated, and they are all sources of danger by fire, according to Supervisor Charlton.

The city has large interests in the Big Tejunga, the building of an immense reservoir for the storage of water, being among the enterprises contemplated in the near future. The preservation of the water shed is of prime importance. He points out most this can only be done by keeping a sharp lookout for dangerous and devastating fires.

By reason of the lack of rain in the Angeles Reserve, conditions are ripe for the breaking out of big fires. In all the history of the local forest station they have never been more menacing. Rangers are needed to assist in watching the territory. But thirty men are employed by the government in all that vast area of timber and undergrowth that today is almost tinder ready for a spark to set the whole contiguous territory ablaze. Immediate action must be taken or the preservation of the water shed and the municipalities mentioned will be asked to help. In other parts of the reserve financial help has been given from time to time.

In addition the Southern Sierras Power Company will be asked to put a ranger in Cajon Pass, and the tri-county reforestation committee, will be urged to place additional men in the vicinity of Santa Ana and the Big Bear Valley.

DOWNTOWN PLAYHOUSE NOW SOLD

Grauman and Lasky Turn Over Metropolitan Theater to New Owners

Grauman's Metropolitan Theater, Sixth and Hill streets, with the property on which it stands, was sold yesterday by Sid Grauman and the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation to a syndicate of local and San Francisco business men headed by A. C. Blumenthal of A. C. Blumenthal and Company, for $4,000,000, according to announcement last night of Mr. Grauman. One-half of the purchase price is for the building, the rest for the site. It is expected that the purchasers will at once take steps to make the building a thirteen-story structure by the addition of seven stories.

Mr. Grauman and the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation were joint owners of the property, each holding a 50 per cent interest. They participate equally in the proceeds of the sale. The former owners have not relinquished the theater, but have taken a fifty-year lease, and it will continue to be the local outlet for Paramount films, as formerly, under the management of Mr. Grauman.

Mr. Grauman last night set at rest the rumor that he had sold an interest in Grauman's Egyptian Theater, Hollywood, by stating that no such deal had been made.

The property, 154 by 250 feet, on which Grauman's Metropolitan Theater stands, has more than doubled in value since its purchase three years ago. It was bought then as a prospective site for the theater for $970,000 and now is sold for $2,000,000.

Ambassadress From Seattle Arrives Today

An ambassadress of the allurements of summer in the Puget Sound country will arrive at Los Angeles Harbor this morning from Seattle on the express liner H. F. Alexander. She is Miss Florence Rogers, University of Washington student and selected by the Seattle Chamber of Commerce to carry Puget Sound's summertime message to the Southland.

As Miss Charmed Land, Miss Rogers will be welcomed at the port this morning by representatives of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. She carries a letter to Mayor Cryer from Mayor Edwin J. Brown of Seattle and is being accompanied on the voyage by the University of Washington quartet.

The H. F. Alexander, fastest commercial vessel under the American flag, enters Los Angeles Harbor in the resumption of the Admiral Line's Seattle-Los Angeles service, it being her first call here in almost five months. The twenty-four-knot flyer is bringing a capacity passenger list.

Threatening Note Laid to Bootleg Ring

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, March 29.—A threatening letter purporting to come from members of the bootleggers' ring, whose Long Beach activities recently were exposed, has been received by E. C. Clay, night watchman at a plant in the harbor district, police disclosed today.

The letter, left in Mr. Clay's mail box, orders him to get out of the State at once or suffer the consequences. The writer apparently is under the impression that Mr. Clay "tipped off" police to the large shipment of liquor seized in a raid last week.

Officers Murphy and Bevin, assigned to the case, deny that Mr. Clay tipped off agents to any shipment, declaring the raid was made on information received from Federal authorities in Los Angeles.

SAN DIEGO, March 29.—The chain of circumstances against Capt. Louis L. Jacobs with which the San Diego District Attorney hopes to hang the young Army surgeon or to imprison him for life began to weaken late today.

Attorney Paul W. Schenck, director of Capt. Jacobs's defense, has charged in court that no evidence of a crime committed has been introduced into the trial. Dist.-Atty. Kempley has admitted the murder has not yet been established, but he has hopes of doing so next Monday. A recess was taken until next week.

CITY TAKES OPTIONS ON INYO LANDS

Purchase of 11,000 Acres Purposed as Guarantee for Future Water Supply

In order to increase the city's water supply to meet needs of the growing population, representatives of the Los Angeles Bureau of Water Works and Supply are obtaining options on approximately 11,000 acres of land in Inyo county on the Owens River, it was announced yesterday at the water department offices.

The estimated cost of exercising these options and purchasing the land, if the entire acreage is purchased, is about $1,500,000. This amount would come out of the department's revenues, no bond issue being required.

The $5,000,000 water-bond issue voted in November will be used, as Chief Engineer Mulholland announced at that time, for storage reservoirs and for extensions and enlargements of mains.

The land which the department is seeking to purchase is on the east side of Owens River and includes control over what is known as McNally ditch and two other ditches, which are valuable water rights. Department engineers say that the land desired would stabilize the water supply of the city.

ALUMNAE LUNCHEON

Wells College alumnae will meet at their annual Easter luncheon at the Wells College Club on Tuesday, April 3, at 1 p.m., at the Rose Tree Tea House, 167 North Orange Grove avenue, Pasadena. CHURCHES PLAN SPECIAL MUSIC

Easter Programs Elaborate at All Edifices

Sunrise Services Will Be One of Features

Orchestra to Play at Fete in Hollywood Bowl

"Our Lord is risen as He promised!" shouted followers of the crucified Nazarene, nineteen centuries ago, as they dashed through the streets of Jerusalem in a frenzy of gladness—and up from the dark tomb of despair a hopeless world leaped suddenly into the light.

And next Sunday, in commemoration of that most eventful day of history, Christendom's millions will lift their voices in songs of praise. And here in the Southland the voice of music will resound not only from God's "temple hills," but from every man-made temple and cathedral.

In addition to elaborate musical programs prepared for the sunrise services, almost every church in Los Angeles has arranged to give musical programs.

OPEN-AIR SERVICES

Perhaps the most elaborate musical program in the open air, at sunrise, will be at the Hollywood Bowl, when the principal feature will be selections by the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra. Community singing will also be a part of the service, and soloists of unusual talent have been obtained.

Other sunrise services, at which music will be the main feature, will be conducted at Mt. Rubidoux; Peace Hill, Pacific Palisades; Fairview Heights, Inglewood; at the head of Fifty-fourth street, Angeles Mesa; Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Glendale; Eagle Rock; Ventura; Catalina Island, and at the Greek Theater of Owensmouth High School. At the latter service the speaker will be the Rev. Bob Shuler, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church of Los Angeles.

ORGAN DEDICATION

Dedication of the new pipe organ in St. Alban's Pro-Cathedral, 2041 Argyle avenue, Hollywood, will take place Sunday. Made by a Los Angeles company, this organ is said to be the third largest instrument of its kind in the Southland, containing 2357 pipes and twenty-five cathedral chimes. Three recitals will be given next Sunday, one at 3:30 p.m. and one at 7 p.m., by S. H. Mowbray, and another at 8:15 p.m. by L. C. Chapter, sub-dean of the American Guild of Organists.

IMMANUEL PRESBYTERIAN

One of the most elaborate Easter musical programs is that announced by the Immanuel Presbyterian Church, as follows:

MORNING

Processional hymn, "Jesus Christ is Risen Today"
Trio (organ, harp, violin) "As bord d'un Ruisseau".....Bolsdeffre
Anthem, "An Easter Ode".....Barnes
Contralto solo, "The First Easter".....Scott
Violin solo, "Cartenmelodie".....Schumann
Anthem, "The Singing of Birds".....Warren
Harp solo, "Papillon".....Tournier
Anthem, "Break Forth Into Joy".....Barnby

EVENING

Processional hymn, "Lift Up, Lift Up Your Voices Now"
Anthem, "At It Began to Dawn".....Frederick
Violin solo, "Abendlied".....Schumann
Soprano solo, "Easter Dawn".....Woodman
Harp solo, "By the Brook".....Saar
Anthem, "Why Seek Ye the Living Among the Dead".....Orsi
Pageant choruses and recessional hymn.

Quartet—Soprano, Lillian Boetter; contralto, Ada Pare Tuttle; tenor, David Bacon; bass and director, William James Cluck; organist, Elizabeth A. Geddis.
Vested choir of twenty-five voices.

SCOTTISH RITE CATHEDRAL

The choir of St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral will give an Easter musical program Sunday evening at Scottish Rite Auditorium. The program follows:

Organ prelude, Angelus du Soir.....Jay Bennet
Violin, Air for G String.....Bach
Miss Bessie Chaple
Choir, God Hath Appointed a Day.....Tours
Harp, Song Without Words.....Verdalle
Miss Mattida Turrish
Choir, Singing of Birds.....Warren
Violin, Nocturne F Major.....Chopin
Harp, Mazurka.....Schreiner
Organ postlude, Hallelujah Chorus.....Handel

HOLLYWOOD PRESBYTERIAN

At the morning service at Hollywood Presbyterian Church, the pastor will speak on "The Real Significance of Christ's Resurrection." Mrs. Lamport will sing "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth," from the "Messiah." Mrs. Euretta Wolf Douglas will give a violin solo, "Meditation," by Goldblatt. The quartet will sing "They Have Taken Away My Lord" (Stainer,)

KIDNAPING CLEW IS FOUND

Missing San Bernardino Tots Were in Grocery Store Late Saturday Evening

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN BERNARDINO, March 29.—Fears that little Dickey Jensen and Dean Meecham were drowned along Warm Creek in Meadowbrook Park, a children's playground, were discredited at nightfall today as nearly 500 weary searchers trudged back into the city after combing creek bottoms, swamps and miles of country southeast of San Bernardino.

In a lull in the search for the missing boys a new clew strengthening the theory of kidnaping stalked into the hunt when Y. Abi, a Japanese grocer, told officers that he saw Dickey and Dean at 7 o'clock Saturday night, six hours after the search by the mothers began.

BOUGHT CANDY

Abi said the boys came to his grocery store on Third street near Arrowhead avenue at 7 o'clock to buy a nickle's worth of candy. The Japanese is certain of the identity of the boys as they frequently visited his store to make penny purchases of candy. Abi said he watched the boys leave his store. They went directly across the street to the Motor Transit Bus Company's station, the groceryman said.

Officers regard the clew as one of the most important discovered in the six days of searching. The boys' parents told the officers that Dickey and Dean disappeared early Saturday afternoon from Meadowbrook Park. The clew, however, overshadows the belief that gypsies kidnaped the boys, as no gypsies were known to be camped in the city later than Saturday afternoon.

HUNDREDS AID

San Bernardino saw its greatest boy hunt in its history during the day. In answer to Mayor S. W. McNabb's appeal, nearly 400 men, women and boys joined the officers at 10 o'clock in the morning.

From Meadowbrook Park, where the boys played by the hour along the banks of Warm Creek, the searchers were divided into squads of ten and twenty. Chief of Police A. A. Burcham and Undersheriff T. O. Carter directed the search through thick underbrush along the stream, swamps and through and "Lift Your Glad Voices" (Schnecker.) There will be a public reception for new members. At the close of the service the breaking of ground for the new $200,000 building will take place.

At the evening service the quartet, assisted by four other artists, will give Stainer's "Daughter of Jairus." Members of this double quartet are Mrs. Lora May Lamport, Miss Hellame Eyeman, Miss Reba Rice, Mrs. Clifford Biehl, Clifford Biehl, Langdon Proeger, Fred Dye and J. P. Allan. A violin solo will be given by Miss Amanda Caesar, and an organ prelude at 7:15 p.m. by William T. Killgrove. The pastor will give a brief address on "Proving the Resurrection for Yourself."

FIRST BAPTIST

The Easter program, by the choir and musicians of the First Baptist Church from The Times' radio broadcasting station, last night, will be repeated Sunday evening at the First Baptist Church. The program, consisting of nine scenes from Loveland's "Cantata of Rabboni," is as follows:

Scene 1—"Chorus of the Prophets" sung by Florence S. Scott, Mrs. R. Deitz, W. E. Ooley, Julian Marshall and Warren Webster. Scene 2—"The Entombment," sung by Florence Scott, Mrs. R. Deitz, William Ooley and E. H. Adsit. Scene 3—"The Sabbath," sung by Warren Webster and Ladies' Chorus. Scene 4—"Setting the Watch," sung by William Ooley, Warren Webster and Edward H. Adsit. Scene 5—"Resurrection," sung by Warren Webster and chorus. Scene 6—"Women at the Sepulcher," by Bessie Hopkins, Florence Scott, William Ooley and E. H. Adsit. Scene 7—"Appearance to the Magdalene," by Florence Scott, Bessie Hopkins, W. E. Ooley, Warren Webster and chorus. Scene 8—"The Ascension," by Mr. Ooley and quartet. Scene 9—"Benediction," by the quartet.

WILSHIRE PRESBYTERIAN

Reception of a class of new members, baptism of adults, a program of Easter music and a sermon by Dr. John A. Eby will make up the Easter morning service at the Wilshire Presbyterian Church. The quartet will sing "As it Began to Dawn," by Vincent, and "O Death, Where is Thy Sting?" by Turner. Lura Malle Bacon and William J. Reed will sing Shelly's "Hark, Ten Thousand Voices." Meryl Wolfe Regnier will sing "Hosanna," by Granier. At the evening service the picture, "The Passing of the Third Floor Back," will be shown, and Dr. Eby will preach.

INDIANS TO ENTERTAIN

The Mission Players will participate in the Easter masque to be given on the lawn of Hotel Huntington, Pasadena, Sunday at 9 a.m. The public is invited. This observance will be in the form of a pageant, reproducing scenes of 1770, when California celebrated its first Easter. Twenty-two California Indians will take part in the pageant, which was written by John S. McGroarty. The old mission bell from San Gabriel will be rung and the flag of the Blessed Virgin will be unfurled. Historic hymns will feature the program, and a modern Easter service will also be conducted.

WESTLAKE MESTHODIST

An Easter program of exceptional charm will be given Sunday morning at Westlake Methodist Church. The quartet and chorus choir will sing the "Resurrection Story," an Easter cantata by Carrie B. Adams. The tragedy, with Mary weeping, the resurrection glory, the triumphant appearance afford many fine climaxes in the music. Prof. E. A. Hulse will be director, and Prof. W. W. Ellis organist, Earl Alexander tenor, Mrs. Amber Fay Haack soprano, Murray Smith baritone and Mrs. John E. Loomis contralto. The pastor's sermon, "The Last Enemy That Shall be Destroyed is Death," will be in accord with the triumph of song. The pastor's evening theme will be "The Eternal City."

"JOY OF EASTER"

The principal Easter service at St. Matthias's Church will be the high mass at 11 a.m. The music will be largely from Mozart's melodious "Seventh Mass" and the anthem is a dramatic setting by Dr. Stainer. The program will be given by the choir of men and boys under direction of Ernest Douglas. The sermon on "The Risen Life" will be by Rev. Irving J. Spencer, rector. Special music will also be given at 7:30 p.m., and Rev. James Niblo will preach on "The Joy of Easter."

BROADWAY CHRISTIAN

Special music by the chorus choir, a solo by Miss Elsie Ealey and a duet by Alma K. Moss and Vaughan R. Harlan will feature the Easter morning service at Broadway Christian Church. At 7:30 p.m. the chorus choir of sixty voices, directed by Alma K. Moss, contralto, will give the sacred cantata, "Victory," in which the following members will be featured: Miss Elsie Ealey, lyric-soprano; Mrs. Kate Webb, contralto; Mrs. J. H. Keever, soprano; Miss Frances Bowers, contralto; Lynn Dean, George Puritan, Harry B. Cole, tenors; Albert E. Moss, Earl Puritan, basses; Dwight Tock, baritone. Canaries singing during all services will be a feature.

SOME EXCELLENT PROGRAMS

Among other musical programs will be that to be given Sunday morning and evening at Pico Heights Congregational Church. The morning program will include an organ prelude by Harry R. Shelly, solo by Roe Plimpton, anthems by the choir, and community singing. In the evening a program of songs and recitations will be given, including hymns and solos by members of Sunday-school classes conducted by Miss Pearl Brinkmeyer, Mrs. J. M. Schaefle and J. Bennett. A duet entitled "Night and Morning" will be sung by Misses Elizabeth Kitchen and Amy Fickett.

At the Hyde Park Congregational Church the Bible School will give a program in the morning, and a special musical program will be given in the evening in connection with the sermon by Rev. J. M. Schaefle.

An Easter choral service by the Bible school will feature the evening service at St. Mark's Lutheran Church. Appropriate music will also be given in the morning, following holy communion and reception of new members.

Directed by Annis R. Howell, the quartet at Wilshire Boulevard Christian Church will sing, Sunday morning, the Festival Te Deum, No. 7, in E Flat, by Dudley Buck. Mrs. M. H. Fagan and Miss Howell will sing "The Conquer," of Coombs. In the evening the quartet will sing Steiner's "They Have Taken Away My Lord," and Nichol's "If Ye Then be Risen With Christ." Albert Quast will sing "Easter Morn," by Gertrude Ross.

"Darkness and Dawn" is the Easter cantata to be given in the evening at the Vernon-avenue Methodist Episcopal Church.

Mme. Ragna Linne, formerly a member of the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company of New York, will sing "The King of Glory," by Coombs, Sunday morning at South Hollywood Presbyterian Church. The choir will give the anthem, "This is the Day," by Foote. Simper's "Hallelujah, Christ is Risen," will be given in the evening.

"DEATH AND LIFE"

The morning program at Boyle Heights Presbyterian Church will be as follows: Processional, "Jesus Christ Is Risen Today;" solo, "Then They Took the Body of Jesus;" duet, "The First Day of the Week;" chorus, "Now the Earth in Resurrection Light," from Shelley's cantata, "Death and Life." In the evening the chorus will give selections from Handel's "Messiah."

The choral rendition of Gaul's "Holy City" will be the special musical offering at the First Methodist Church Sunday evening. Appropriate music will also be given at the morning service.

THOMAS TAYLOR DRILL

A special musical program will be given at 10:30 a.m. Sunday at S.S. James and Barnabas Church, under direction of Thomas Taylor Drill, choir director, with Wesley Kuhnle at the organ. The choir, with Mrs. A. R. Jaquith, soprano; Mrs. Elvera Lamar, contralto; Dr. W. E. Green, tenor, and Leslie Brigham, baritone, will give the following program: Hymn, "Jesus Christ Is Risen Today;" Introit, "Christ Is Risen," by Turner; Tours's "Kyrie;" hymn, "The Strife Is O'er;" anthem, "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today," by H. Wilson; Gounod's "Sanctus;" Tours's "Agnus Dei," and "Gloria in Excelsis" and hymn, "Come ye Faithful."

"IMMORTALITY"

Following a sermon on "Immortality," by Dr. James Hamilton Lash, a special musical program will be given Sunday morning at Hollywood Congregational Church. The soloist will be Ralph Laughlin. In the evening the choir will give F. W. Peace's cantata, "Victory."

Mrs. Ralph Laughlin will give the following program in organ recital next Sunday evening at the Memorial Baptist Church: "March Nuptiale," by Wider; "Bells of Aberdovey," by Stewart; "Grand Offertoire," by Batiste; Romance in A, by Lieussance; "The Resurrection," by Shelley.

The Girard-La Bonte-Ambassador quartet, whose Palm Sunday music thrilled members of the Wilshire Boulevard Congregational Church, has arranged for an Easter program of songs for Sunday morning at the Ambassador Hotel Theater at the services conducted by Dr. Frank Dyer. Harry Girard will preside at the organ.

A chorus of thirty-eight voices will give the cantata, "The Resurrection Story" Sunday evening at Lincoln Heights Baptist Church.

The choir of Highland Park Christian Church, with J. A. Lewis directing, will give an Easter cantata Sunday evening.

The Easter program of Magnolia avenue Christian Church will be as follows: Sunrise prayer meeting, 5:40 a.m.; breakfast served by Baraca class, 7:30 a.m.; Bible school at 9:30 a.m.; sermon, "Eternal Life," by Rev. C. C. Sinclair, 11 a.m.; Christian Endeavor, 6:30 p.m.; Easter cantata, directed by Frank L. Anderson, 7:45 p.m.; quartet, Mrs. J. PLAN EXTRA CAR SERVICE FOR EASTER

Pacific Electric Will Run Special Trolleys to All Points for Services

Special service, sufficient to meet any demand that may be made, has been arranged by the Pacific Electric Railway to points in Southern California reached by its lines where Easter services are to be conducted. Arrangements anticipate the handling of more than 20,000 persons.

For the service at Easter Rock, Mt. Lowe, cars will be operated from the Sixth and Main-streets station, via Pasadena short line, at 2:00 a.m., 2:15 a.m., 2:30 a.m. and 2:45 a.m. For the accommodation of those wishing to return immediately after the services, a train will leave Alpine at 7:45 a.m. for Los Angeles.

For the services at Mt. Rubidoux, a three-car train will leave Main-street station at 2:15 a.m. and will run to Riverside, from which point ample local service has been provided to handle the crowd to Mt. Rubidoux. Extra service has been arranged to Riverside.

More than 30,000 persons are expected to attend services at Hollywood Bowl. Cars will leave the Hill-street station at frequent intervals, beginning at 3 a.m. Service also will be provided over the Santa Monica Boulevard line from Vineyard, Vermont avenue, as well as Gardner Junction and Highland avenue. The service arranged by the Pacific Electric is so scheduled as to make connections with Los Angeles Street Railway cars destined for the Hollywood Bowl, which arrive at Western avenue and Santa Monica Boulevard at 4:35 a.m., 4:45 a.m. and 4:55 a.m., from which point passengers transfer direct to the bowl.

For the services at Pacific Palisades, Santa Monica, a three-car train will leave Hill-street station at 2:45 a.m. Local service over the Santa Monica Canyon line, Westgate line, and from Venice to Ocean Park to accommodate persons desiring to attend services at the Palisades, has been arranged. Passengers from these points will transfer to the Santa Monica Canyon line at Colorado street. Free bus service will be afforded from the terminus of the Santa Monica Canyon line to the Palisades.

For services at Forrest Lawn Cemetery, Glendale, a special three-car train will leave Los Angeles at Sixth and Main streets at 4:40 a.m. Services also will be operated from North Glendale at 5 a.m. for services at Forrest Lawn Cemetery. Passengers destined to that point will leave train at Cypress avenue, walking to Tropico Hill.

The A.B.C. of Good Tea

THIS diagram shows clearly one reason for the superior flavor, strength and aroma of Ridgways Tea.

In order to get the very choicest pickings, only the leaves marked "A," "B" and "C" are gathered in these ways. These tender, young tip-leaves give to Ridgways Tea that rare quality of flavor which distinguishes the famous Ridgway blends.

The leaves marked "D," "E," "F" and "G" are less flavory and therefore are never used by Ridgways.

This carefully guarded Ridgway quality gives more cups to the pound. When you buy Ridgways Tea you not only get the best tea, but actually pay less for it than is possible from inferior tea. As a test of this rare good tea we suggest that you order a package (GOLD LABEL) the Genuine Orange Pekoe.

EASTER MUSIC BROADCAST

KHJ Program Recognizes Deep Significance of Seasonal Celebration Now at Hand

Rising above matters temporal group of Los Angeles artists last st presented a devoutly beautiful special Easter program consisting of nine scenes from the antata of Rabboni," by Lovead, made up of a vocal picturizaon and commemoration of the st days of Christ.

The program was arranged ough the courtesy of William Ooley, tenor soloist and director the First Baptist Church. Mr. ley has been tenor soloist for Orpheus Club for the past nine rs, is director of music at Occidental College and the Men's rus Club, which is on tour at sent. He has studios in the dio-Art Building, where he ches voice.

Walter Allen, an organist of h standing and a member of Pomona College staff, was acmpanist for the sacred festival sent song. He invoked music in its ssibility for the artists, who ved, as it were, before the altof spiritual song, depicting as motif of the program a resurrection of grace through the medion of passages hymnal, historiand religious.

SINGERS ON PROGRAM

The singers included Warren Webster, bass, member of the Elks Club; Julian Marshall, tenor, member of the Orpheus Club; Edward H. Adsit, bass, soloist with the First Baptist Church; Bessie Hopkins, contralto, and Mrs. R. Dietz, contralto, well known as soloists in large local churches, and Florence Steffens Scott, soprano, a singer of decided ability. Julian Marshall and Warren Webster are also pupils of Mr. Ooley.

The opening scene of Lovesolemn and holy epic was chorus of the Prophets," sung by Florence Steffens Scott, Mrs. R. Dietz, William E. Ooley, Julian Marshall and Warren Webster. Scene 2 was "The Entombment," sung by Florence Steffens Scott, Mrs. R. Dietz, Mr. Ooley and Mr. Adsit; Scene 3, "The Wrath," by Mr. Webster and the male chorus; Scene 4, "Retting the Watch," by Messrs. Ooley, Webster and Adsit; Scene 5, "The Resurrection," by Mr. Webster and chorus; Scene 6, "The Women at the Sepulchre," by Bessie Hopkins, Florence Steffens Scott, Mr. Ooley and Mr. Adsit; Scene 7, "The Appearance of Mary Magdalene," by Florence Steffens Scott, Bessie Hopkins, Mr. Ooley, Mr. Webster and chorus; Scene 8, "The Ascension," by Mr. Ooley, chorus and quartet; Scene 9, "Benediction," by Florence Steffens Scott, Bessie Hopkins, Mr. Ooley and Mr. Adsit.

WILL BE REPEATED

This program, one of eminence, devotion and pious remembrance, will be repeated Sunday night at the First Baptist Church with the same personnel. It is a song of hallowed beauty, carrying real inspiration. The singers make of something illustrious with a regardful interpretation and voicing.

The chorus, which numbered 20 voices, provided a harmonious and highly important feature of the special program. A choral effect of blending, melody of such depth as one rarely hears. Expression was at its zenith in their efforts.

The children's program yesterday evening was presented by Georgia Stark, coloratura soprano, and Florence Frome Livingston in a way to bring joy to the hearts of little lads and lasses.

Georgia Stark was accompanied by Carrie Preston Rittmeister in "The Wind," by Spross; "Smilin' Through," by Penn, and "Me and Mah Pardner," by Strickland.

These charming numbers were sung in a clear and lovely voice. The soprano has favored Radioland before and won for herself an appreciative audience through the high quality of her voice.

Emerson Frome Livingston, the lovable little reader and actor, barely 6 years of age, gave "The Earthquake" and "Why," by Marshall Stedman, under whom he is studying. This lad's penchant for memorizing verses and reciting them interpretively is really remarkable. There is big success in store for him.

The noon program brought Mary Sharp Sibley, soprano, and Jack Innes, Scotch singer.

Mary Sharp Sibley was accompanied by Mrs. Earle Jenny in "Salute of the Page," from "The Huguenots," by Meyerbeer; "To a Young Gentleman," by Carpenter; "Adieu" from "Manion," by Massenet, and "Il Neige," by Bemberg.

Her voice is velvety with an unusual ringing quality. She is a brilliant singer with unique charm of voice and interpretation.

Jack Innes made an instant hit with his fine voice and his apt expression. The heaths and the highlands and the bonny flavor of Scotland were in his songs. He was accompanied by Elsie M. Getz in those favorite Scotch selections, "MacPherson," by Billy Williams; "Bella, the Belle o' Dunoon," by the inimitable Harry Lauder, and "Roderick MacKenzie," by Murdoch, that humorous song of one with legs not built for kilties, sung with such success by Jock Mills.

TO OBSERVE EASTER DAY OVER RADIO

Sunrise Services Will Be Broadcast by KHJ at 5:40 A.M., Appropriately

Easter Sunday will be observed in sincere and beautiful fashion by KHJ, The Times radio, beginning with a sunrise service at approximately 5:40 a.m.

The service will be featured by appropriate music to be played by Dr. E. M. Hiner, noted band leader, and a cornet quartet. Mrs. Anna Hiner, soprano, will sing. Dr. Hiner has been named as the leader of the proposed Greater Los Angeles band.

A program will be given at 10 a.m., with an address by Rt. Rev. W. Bertrand Stevens, coadjutor bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church of Southern California. Archie Wade, flue player, and Ingrid Arnesen, soprano.

The night program, beginning at 8 p.m., will be given through the courtesy of Pryor Moore, orchestra leadre of wide reputation. Sacred music will predominate. Songs by the Sacred Heart choir, chapel chimes, violin solos by Mr. Moore, selections by his orchestra and instrumental solos, will make up the concert.

A SHELL GAME

A man in Washington ate forty-eight eggs at one sitting. It was quite a sitting of eggs, at that. He must have been training for his Eastern breakfast.

CHERRIES ARE RIPE

California has already shipped cherries East. This is the earliest offering known of this fruit and should enable the New Englanders to forget the snowdrifts for a few minutes.

DENTAL OR ACCIDENTAL?

A man is demanding $2500 damages in the courts because his dentist pulled the wrong tooth. He must carry a high-priced bite. He must have lost a wisdom tooth or else he wouldn't have started a lawsuit.

BETWEEN SHAFTS

The fashion folk are telling us what we should wear at the horse show. It would seem that for that occasion one's harness should be a bit snappy. It would be all right for a young matron to don her bridal outfit—or at least a trace or two of it.

THE PROFITEERS

We noticed a sign in one of our tesselated marble refectoriums the other day reading: "Old-fashioned lemonade, 20 cents." And there are still a few on earth who can remember when they were two for a nickel! They never figured on the high cost of lemon juice in California.

THE SUGAR SUPPLY

It is a good thing that the tariff commission and not Congress is going to investigate the sugar market. These legislative investigations only spend a lot more of the people's money and uncover nothing but politics. The tariff commission can make a dent in the custom's duty if it feels warranted. And it won't have to play politics in the doing, either.

PROPER PUNISHMENT

Denver has a city ordinance that automatically deprives a man of the use of his car for six months if he is convicted of reckless driving. It is possible that this might not stand the test of a higher court, but thus far no one has fought it and some 400 careless motorists have had its provisions applied to them. This is a sensible way of dealing with speed bugs. Take away their cars and they become as gentle and respectable as any other citizen.

THE MIND WANDERERS

The maxim of "Truth in Advertising" has taken root in many lines of big business and industry, but has not yet been wholly accepted by our picture purveyors. Brother Hays has not been able to swing them all into line. Some of the press agents occasionally lapse into extravagance in their incubrations. One enthusiast informs the world that Pola is 10,000 times better in "Bella Donna" than in any European picture she ever appeared. Those who remember the spirit, charm and tragedy of "Passion" will wonder where the publicity sharp gets that idea.

THE COMPENSATIONS

The possibility of seeing with the skin has been demonstrated by a French scientist and fully illustrated by a blind student in Chicago. It isn't the skin that sees, however. It is presumably the delicate nerves beneath the skin. Now it is being further demonstrated that it is possible to hear in the same way. There is the case of a deaf girl in Wisconsin who is able to distinguish words and sounds as they are recorded on her finger tips. Another pupil at a school for deaf mutes is able to understand a vocabulary of fifty or sixty words through the impressions of sound waves on the palm of the hand. The compensations which God gives the blind and the dumb and the deaf may be developed until the hardship itself is forgotten.

VOTING BY MAIL

Some day we may be able to do all our voting by mail. The Montana Legislature is considering the adoption of a measure which provides for the holding of primary elections by mail instead of at the usual polling places. The bill is sponsored by five of the leading members and is backed by the State Tax Association and other civic groups. It is explained that it is an economy measure. At the last primary election the expense represented more than $1 for each vote cast. It is calculated that through voting by mail this could be reduced to 10 cents and that a heavier vote would be cast, at that. There are hundreds of citizens who will not take the trouble to go to the polls who would be willing to mark a ballot and hand it to the letter carrier. The ballot can be protected and safeguarded so that a reliable election would be assured. It is figured that Montana would save nearly $200,000 in a single election if voting by mail were adopted. Nevada is urging the same idea and it is likely to extend to other States—especially where voting places are widely scattered or where long distances must be covered. Under this plan there is no hiring of polling places or purchase of election booths. There is no cordon of judges and election officials. The votes would be received and canvassed at the County Clerk's office in the presence of regular court judges and representatives of the candidates.

THE PAY-ROLL PATRIOT

Various and sundry forms of oppression of the people by a dictator or a dictatorial government have been invented during the last few thousand years; but it has been reserved to Clyde L. Seavey, one of the holdovers from the old State machine now enjoying the salary and the perquisites of a railroad commissioner, to discover a form of new and unusual punishment that is being inflicted on the people of California. Before a joint committee of the Legislature on Monday he drew a harrowing picture of a people oppressed by a reduction of taxes.

It is not the jobholders who are being hurt. They joyfully accept an enforced vacation without pay. But the dear people are going to be left with more money in their pockets than is good for them.

Money that is spent for taxes leaves no sting behind. It is gone and forgotten. No one ever got into trouble over paying taxes.

But think of the number who have suffered the ill effects of the things which money can buy. That left-over tax money may tempt them to violate the Eighteenth Amendment; and those who reduce the taxes must take the responsibility for making criminals out of them.

According to the jobholder's point of view it is all wrong. The people have become accustomed to paying taxes. It tends to develop the virtues of thrift and economy. Besides, we have numerous State commissions in California. Under two wise Progressive administrations they have acqured the habit of opulence. Under the appropriations made by Gov. Richardson's budget it will be impossible for the members of those commissions and their families to live in the style to which they have become accustomed.

Mr. Seavey is an adept at the system known as getting the greatest amount of feathers from the goose with the least amount of squawking. He is prepared to show that California is prosperous enough to permit a substantial increase in the amount of money collected for State expenses; and he is an exponent of the theory that what can be done ought to be done.

His system of collecting more taxes is a shining example of the jobholder's logic. The Legislature should increase the rates of the transportation, light, power, gas, telephone and insurance companies. These companies would not suffer, as they would pass the rise along to the people in increased rates. The public would make its usual protest, but it would be limited to denouncing the public utility companies. They are all corporations and they are accustomed to being denounced.

It is a wise administration that knows how to supply the public with a harmless goat.

The public would not voice its resentment at the State government, because it would be the corporations and not the politicians that would be collecting the money. That admirable system was devised during the first Johnson regime and it has never failed to work.

But Mr. Seavey does not seem to have found the majority of the members of the Legislature responsive to his appeal. The Governor has been preaching a false philosophy. He has suggested that the experiment be made of leaving a little more money in the pockets of the people and giving the jobholders a little less. He thinks it would be interesting to see how the people would get along with the excess and how the jobholders would get along without it.

From the point of view of a political machine that is a dangerous experiment. If the people should once find out how little money is necessary to run the State government they might get out of the habit of paying high taxes; and the political game would not then be worth the candle.

Take Mr. Seavey's own position. He has acquired the habit of feeding at the public trough; he is now out of sympathy with the administration and some unfeeling members of the Legislature have brutally told him that he ought to resign. But that isn't done. His political education has taught him how to spend money. His case deserves consideration.

The Times suggests that all of its readers who feel that they will pay too little taxes under the Richardson budget, who would like to see the railroad, gas, electric and telephone rates increased sufficiently to permit the State commissions to continue to live in the style to which they are accustomed—that they shall all wire to the Governor and the members of the Legislature from their districts to let Mr. Seavey and the other corn-fed commissioners have what they want.

PAYING THE PRICE

One has to go back to the fall of Darius and the destruction of Hannibal's legions before Carthage by Scipio to find parallels for the utter collapse of Germany. As a political entity her government is not even a third-rate power.

It seems unbelievable that the powerful nation which delivered so terrific a smash to the Allied lines in Flanders five years ago should be the same nation whose attitude of passive resistance has been contemptuously likened to "the performance of a street urchin, who has been caught in the act, wildly trying to kick a burly constable in whose hands he is struggling."

Germany is still the most populous nation in Europe, outside Russia; the physical courage of her troops was proved repeatedly during the great war; the thrift and industry of her civilians are proverbial; yet she has fallen so low that even little Belgium walks on her face with impunity.

Where once she commanded respect she now awakens only contempt. She is as helpless before France as were the Chinese before the Japanese, and she has fewer friends in the world than China.

Five years ago France, with the support of England, Italy, Portugal and Belgium, was too weak to defend her frontiers against the German attack and was crying wildly to our country for help. France now walks through Germany where she lists and informs her late Allies, that she is not in the slightest danger and will they please not interrupt her sport.

One cannot blame the French that the thorough taming of so powerful and brutal an enemy should have gone to their head. It is something that happens only once in 1000 years.

Perhaps some of the Germans themselves are beginning to suspect that they did not win the war.

But attacking dry agents does not kill the Honor law. Some folks seem to think it has the effect.

THE SPEECH LIMIT

In good old Boston the telephone company serves notice on its subscribers that visiting over the wire will not be permitted—or at least it must be paid for as an extra if indulged. There was a time when telephone companies advertised their social possibilities as an argument for new business, but that day has passed. Now the exchanges appear to have more subscribers than they need and there are waiting lists as long as the Santa Fe road. The telephone is a business adjunct after the manner of the quick lunch or the short haul. It is a rush order or an emergency brake. When a subscriber calls a number and finds it visiting with another number for a half-hour stretch the roar that goes up may sometimes be heard as far as Baffin's Bay. So it is that in Boston a limit of five minutes has been placed on social conversations. When a man has any telephoning to do he usually gets over with it in some speed. He doesn't even find much sport in listening to a funny story over the wire. But when a couple of women get to jatting over the line and exchanging ideas on the building of bonnets or the proper dessert to go with a veal roast it seems quite easy to kill twenty or thirty minutes. If it gets to the point where the good ladies are bartering the neighborhood scandal it may take an hour. There is a record of a local call in which a couple of ladies chinned for 130 minutes. This is more than two hours of frolicsome conversation and when the gossipers finally hung up the wire was so weak that it could not record a whisper. When one of the principals in a long-drawn conversation is on a two-or-three-party line the selfishness or thoughtlessness of one subscriber may have its tragic import to the others. That is why Boston, a city in which conversation is on a high and lofty plane, is going to be among the first to apply the brake. Anything essential may be said in five minutes. The story of the creation is told in two.

SOUTH AMERICA'S SEA POWER

Complaint has come from Chile and Argentina that Brazil has caught the European fever of domination and is preparing to play a role in South America similar to that of Germany in Europe during the quarter of a century previous to the World War. The controversy has arisen over the notice given by Brazil that she will not be a party to any naval-reduction agreement that may be negotiated at the present Pan-American conference.

Article XII of the conference agenda deals with the limitation of armaments. It was proposed by Chile. Argentina had agreed to consider the proposition; but the Brazilian delegation, acting on instructions from its home government, declines to consider armament reduction at this time.

Brazil made known some time ago that it was opposed to the reduction of military establishments. Her representative in the League of Nations protested formally against armament limitation.

In justifying her position on the question of naval armaments Mello Franco, head of the Brazilian delegation, pointed out that Brazil has a coast line 4000 miles in length to guard, that there is no internal railroad system connecting all parts of the country and that naval expansion is necessary to promote commercial and industrial expansion.

Brazil has at the present time the most powerful of the South American navies. Argentina is second and Chile third. While the latter country has a long coast line to defend, the Chilean government is opposed to a policy of further naval expansion. The arguments used are similar to those advanced against competitive armament in Europe. If the countries are left to their own resources naval expansion in one will mean a similar expansion for all; and the result will be greatly increased taxation and the possible foundation for a future South American war.

It is known that the American delegation to the conference hoped to use its good offices in bringing about an agreement for limiting naval expansion among the Central and South American states. Brazil, Argentina and Chile compose the "big three" in South American affairs. They are business competitors, and the rapid expansion of each during the last quarter of a century has made them territorially ambitious.

Fifty years ago they were mere children who proved more or less docile to counsel and direction from the United States. But they are now approaching manhood and they are very jealous of their independence. They stand where England, Russia and France stood a century ago; and it is possible that the policies formulated at the present conference will decide their political impulsion for a generation.

Peaceful co-operation or armed isolation are the alternatives by which they are faced. Brazil, territorially and numerically the strongest, is not inclined to surrender the advantage which her superior force would give to her in case of military solutions. As the people of the United States do not desire to see a little war-ing Europe established to the south of them the influence of this country will be thrown on the side of peaceful settlements, limited armaments and international association.

RIPPLING RHYMES

FACING THE MUSIC

The long night through James Kickshaw wept and kept the boarding-house awake; men tossed in bed who should have slept, because his teeth were filled with ache.
I faced him at the midnight hour and said,
"You've wailed enough, I guess; a dentist dwells in yonder tower and he will end your fierce distress. If haply you should lack the price your fellow-boarders will chip in; but go at once, take my advice, and stop this most outrageous din." But still he journeyed fro and to and wept and wailed and wrung his hands, until the boarders bore in view in earnest and determined bands. We rushed him swiftly down the hall and fired him through the large front door and took his chromo from the wall and bade him to return no more.
You have unpleasant work ahead, some task that makes your spirit quail? Approach it with a dauntless tread and don't send up a yip or wail. Then all the boys when they tune up the festive lyre. But if you gnash your teeth and bawl when face to face with painful chore, some gents will rush you down the hall and kick you softly through the door.

XII. THE STRUCTURE OF THE LIVING MOLECULE

Amoebae are familiar examples of single-celled animals. To obtain specimens one should have an infusion of water and decaying vegetable standing in a warm place for several hours, then transfer a droplet of the water to a microscopic slide. At first the amoeba will not be easily recognized, because it is almost as watery as the solution. If your focus is right, however, you will presently see it as plainly as one sees a fish through the glass wall of an aquarium. A tiny globule of almost transparent, naked protoplasm, it pushes out an arm, draws it back and pushes out another in a different direction, being in constant movement and motion. Such movements are amoeboid. In the center of the watery body the darker nucleus appears.

Chemically, both the body and the nucleus are composed mainly of compounds of carbon, nitrogen, hydrogen and oxygen, intermixed with water; but the body protoplasm also contains a slight addition of sulphur and the nucleus a slight addition of potassium. The nucleus is to the organism what brain is to body—it controls movements. The nuclear protoplasm also contains innumerable granules and a few larger bodies, each of which performs particular functions. As a whole, the organism has been defined as an emulsion of fats, water and proteids. The chemical constitution of the water and fats is fully understood and, as these compose more than 95 per cent of the entire organism, the only remaining mystery resides in the less-than-5-per-cent proteid content. In the chemistry of proteid, therefore, lies the secret of living substance.

The proteid molecule is known to contain a large number of atoms, but the way in which they are combined is not known. Huxley predicted that the formula will be found varying only slightly around the following figures: Carbon, 53 atoms; oxygen, 23; hydrogen, 7; nitrogen, 16; sulphur, 2, and potassium, 1. A cluster of such molecules, loosely held together by water, could hardly be inert. Every change in the temperature or pressure of the surrounding water would induce changes in the combination. Feeling new attractions and repulsions atoms would leap out of old embraces and seek new partners, and with every change energy would be stored up or set free. The fermentation would be greatly increased by the introduction of particles of food; the food it began to digest, its energies crowd de-energized molecules and take dead food thus broken substances, and bring breaking down into Since mankind ready a good deal ture of living himself artificially of its products in tities, are we supposing that the which now resides ingredient, will ered?

THE NATURAL CONCLUSION

Speed! Speed!

It had become the ruling passion of Claxton's life, all that he dreamed of and strove for. He was old at 23 because he had lived so fast, yet nothing in his life had ever gone fast enough. An insatiable yearning was devouring him.

As a schoolboy he had believed that he would be satisfied if he could only run the 100 yards in less than ten seconds. Daily and nightly he dreamed of the triumph of that achievement. Yet the day he astounded the world by finishing the century dash in nine flat he only burst into childish tears. He had suddenly realized that men on bicycles could go faster.

He at once became a cyclist and every time he led his wheel out to the curb anxious mothers all up and down the street rushed out and began gathering in their offspring. That gave him a momentary thrill and he fondly imagined that when he became the fastest cyclist in the world he would be happy. But once the speed demon enters one's soul he outsighs Alexander in his desire for greater conquests. The time came when he could pedal a mile in one thirty-four, but only brought him bitterness when he heard some one acclaim:

"Why, that's nearly as fast as automobile race time!"

He invested his prize money in a racing car and once more hoped to find something like fulfillment for his growing lust. Every time he took the wheel his visions called to him and he responded. People whose motto was "Think twice before acting" had to move clear out of his neighborhood or be mowed out in funeral cars. People who followed the old copybook rule, "Look before you leap," never got a chance to leap. Speed cops never learned his number because it always was a mere receding blur, and bullets fired at his tires just after he had passed fell a block behind him. He made 100 miles an hour in competition and knew an hour's gratification, but when the sport extras came out his heart sickened. The headline read:

"Drives Car Almost at Airplane Speed."

With a wild howl of despair and hope he rushed out to buy an airplane. He set himself a new goal and vowed that when he reached it he would be content. He would drive a plane at 250 miles an hour!

One morning while practicing near New York he noticed a lovely girl admiring him. She looked fast and he was instantly smitten. He invited her to fly, whirled her all over the city in a few minutes and then, cursing himself for his slowness, popped the question:

"Will you fly on with me through life?"

"Let's go," she answered promptly.

He eloped to Chicago with her, alighting on the Cook County Courthouse at two minutes after twelve. By some strange freak of fate the license clerk had not yet quit for luncheon and by twelve-six they were married. At twelve-ten they started on their honeymoon trip to the Pacific Coast, but stopped off in Reno the next afternoon and were divorced. That evening, as Claxton flew on toward Los Angeles, he decided that romance was too slow for him and he would have no more of it.

There, the next day, he established the record which set two continents exclaiming, flying 300 miles an hour for two hours when he was forced to make a miracle he had performed groaned hollowly.

"I'm going to the [illegible] York," he said. "I believe now the one place I can make real speed and be happy. What a fool I was ing of it before!"

Though 'twas night when the ...manna fell.

Oh, fainting soul, look ...
God lives and all is ...
In the morning you will ...
For the night when the manna ...fell.

COAST GUNS TO ROAR IN TRIALS

Annual Target Practice Will Begin Next Week

Actual Battle Conditions to Be Simulated

Fort MacArthur Commander Outlines Program

Seismic disturbance as occasioned by the dreadnaughts of the United States battle fleet in gunnery practice will be outdone at the port during the morning hours of April 4, 10 and 12. Annual target practice at Fort MacArthur, in which the giant fourteen-inch rifles and twelve-inch mortars of America's finest coast defense will be fired over the greatest range in the history of the post, will be held on those dates.

Actual battle conditions will be simulated in the practice, although a tiny, fourteen-foot, red triangular target, towed by the army tug Cochrane will be all that will represent the giant enemy dreadnaughts supposedly sweeping in from sea to level the defenses of Los Angeles.

In the subterranean plotting rooms of the batteries the range-finders and plotters will have the plan of a battleship in front of them during the firing periods. The tiny red target will represent the center of the enemy ship. This plan will be used during the practice with the twelve-inch mortars, as a mortar hurls a heavy shell high in the air to drop down from a great height on the target.

PLAN FAST FIRING

In the practice with the fourteen-inch disappearing rifles, however, the profile of a battleship will cover the plotting boards, the red target representing the amidships section. The crack artillerymen of Fort MacArthur will attempt to hurl enough 1400-pound projectiles in the space covered by the profile to sink an enemy dreadnaught before she could be obscured by a smoke screen from destroyers.

High up in towers back in the Palos Verdes hills artillerymen will spot the fall of shot during the practice, thus determining instantaneously the accuracy of the fire from the hidden batteries. Maj. George Ruhlen, commanding Fort MacArthur, yesterday extended an invitation to all Reserve and National Guard officers, as well as distinguished civilians, to view the practice from the batteries.

MORNING FIRING

Firing will begin at 10 a.m. on each of the three days designated, according to Maj. Ruhlen. On April 4 eighteen rounds will be fired by the mortar batteries; on April 10 ten shots will be fired by the fourteen-inch rifles, and on April 12 the exercises will be completed by the mortars.

Maj. Ruhlen advises that all residents of the harbor district and beach towns open their windows and remove all glassware and bric-a-brac to safe places during the days designated for practice.

Wife Awarded Damages From Mate's Parents

In the suit of Mrs. Beatrice Marsh against Samuel S. Marsh and Agnes Marsh, her husband's parents, for $50,000 for alienation of affections, a jury yesterday in Judge Willis's court brought in a verdict awarding the plaintiff $1000.

Mrs. Marsh charged that her parents-in-law, who are wealthy Pasadenans, had lured away her husband, R. S. Marsh, and she introduced letters purporting to show that her husband continued to love her, even after they had separated.

Mr. and Mrs. Marsh, Sr., testified that there had been discord in the home of the young couple before they themselves had taken any hand in the matter.

EASTER

EVERY woman knows that a new Easter Hat, more than any other thing, can give her apparel that indispensable look of Spring! These Hats will do this in an overwhelming degree. Then, too, they are splendid values—the most attractive of the new season's Hats. Priced at $10 to $69.50

THE LARGE HAT makes a point of many a new touch. For instance, there are crinkly, fascinatingly flat roses in delectable shades, laid tightly against under brims near the hair—or there are various delightful ribbon trimming novelties or beautiful handwork. As for shapes themselves—the only way you can know their charm is to see them here.

MODES of the Moment

HAT MODES of the moment are rejuvenating affairs. Glorious color—mountain haze, almond green, mimosa—makes many a cloche, picturesque poke or sweeping capeline joyously Springlike.

To Make It Right

—from the "out" look, things must be right underneath with the frock. A high one, a low one, or one just between, which Corset is it that suits you? But, no matter! There are plenty of each in the mercerized brocade and this certain wrap-around is going to be the best you've ever worn.

The Easter Blouse

Printed Patterns Are Colorful

HAIL the debut of new Blouse styles that forecast a brilliant season. They are in the newest and most exotic of new prints to wear with plaited sports skirts or the Spring tailleur. Others, monogrammed or beaded, embroidered or tucked, furnish more than one reason for including a Blouse or so on Easter shopping lists.

The Egyptian vogue is represented in Blousedom in striking bandings or allover patterns on costume and sports Blouses.

Easter Gloves

All Colors

FOR their wrists alone you will love them—these Easter Gloves! For charming stitcheries and cut-out designs embellish gauntlet styles in suede or glace kid. Others with turn-down cuffs are lined in contrasting color. They are special values.

Castor — White — Beaver — Black — Pearl

Not to Be Overlooked

SPOTLIGHT items in our aisles include things listed in the column below—those little timely items that have an assured place on April shopping lists.

French Perfume Flagonettes, $1.00

YOUR favorite perfume is no doubt here, in an interesting container to slip in your bag, ready to administer a bit of sweetness at any time. Such names as Coty, Houbigant and Guerlain are represented.

Handkerchiefs for Easter Gifts

IT'S a pretty Easter custom —the giving of some little gift that expresses the happy spirit of the season. These Handkerchiefs are in white with decorative colored corners, or are gay in color.

Candy Eggs for Easter Baskets

CANDY eggs, bunnies, baskets, chickens, fluffy ducklings and other Easterish things are to be found at the candy counter. Among them many brand new Easter ideas.

HATS

RIBBON!—choux, bows, plaits, bindings—ribbon in every conceivable form—trims some of the smartest Hats. Fine tight plaitings of it are particularly effective on new clothes—indeed, it seems to be especially made for them.

VEILS in All Lengths

THE VOGUE for Veils is so supreme that it were folly to ignore the tiny face veils that drop just over the front brim of a Hat—or those long ones that drop clear to the waist. Then, too, scarfs that pass through slits in the brim are chic.

Presenting the New

Manhattan Shirts

Greater assortments, more beautiful patterns and colors than ever before. Known as the best—the best known SHIRTS that are thought out with a fine regard for the exactions of good taste, are Manhattans.

Shirts of madras, oxford, silk-striped madras—all colors guaranteed fast.

We have never seen an assortment so interesting from every standpoint of variety and quality as is evidenced in these new shirts for Spring.

Madras Shirts

In plain white, fine quality; corded patterns; durable and good-looking; all sizes $2.00

Pajamas

Of Fruit of the Loom muslin; neat stripes; fast colors and sterling quality $3.00

Union Suits

Athletic style—of fine count crossbar muslin; a Chalmers garment; sizes 34 to 46, $1.

CHARITY CIRCUS NEXT

Best Attractions of Real Shows to Be Secured for Benefit of Children's Hospital

A mammoth charity circus, with 100 per cent of the profits going to the Children's Hospital, is to be held from May 4 to 12, inclusive, at Praeger Park, according to announcement just made by Harcourt Hervey, who has been appointed supervising director of the big event, with Sheldon H. Barrett as general manager and Herman Henneberger as treasurer. It will be one of the largest charity affairs ever put on in the West and three gigantic tents are to be putup at Washington and Grand streets to house the attractions offered in the name of charity. It will be known as the "Charity Circus."

Official headquarters have been opened in the Eshman Building, and the executive committee will be made up of Mrs. Albert Crutcher, Mrs. E. T. Newlin, Mrs. John Milner, Mrs. Alfred John Murietta, Mrs. Russell McDonald Taylor.

On the advisory committee are Mayor George E. Cryer, R. L. Criswell, C. A. DeCou, P. P. O'Brien, R. M. Allan, W. J. Sanborn, W. E. McConnell, M. C. Larigdon, W. C. Mushet, Ralph J. Scott, Louis D. Oaks, R. S. Sparks, F. C. Wheeler, J. H. De La Monte, Walter Mallard, O. P. Conaway, Thomas Lee Woolwine, B. H. Dyas, William R. Traeger, Eugene W. Biscailuz.

The Charity Circus has been indorsed by the Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, and sponsors of the Children's Hospital expect to raise a large sum through the entertainment, which will be a popular-priced affair with ten admissions selling for $1.

A score of big circus acts are to be imported from the East. Wires have been sent to secure the Hannaford family of rough riding clowns, headed by "Poodles" Hannaford and John Robinson's famous trained elephants. May Worth, who claims to be the world's champion equestrienne, the Siegrist Silbon family of aerialists and numerous other headliners of the sawdust ring.

On the ticket committee are Mrs. Russell McDonald Taylor, Mrs. C. C. Bullis, Mrs. John L. Garner, Jr. On the program committee are Mrs. Rhodes Hervey, Mrs. Bernal H. Dyas, and Mrs. Charles F. Stern.

The legal committee consists of Judge William Rhodes Hervey, Stuart O'Melveny, Walter K. Tuller, E. W. Britt, and Buron Fitts.

The Charity Circus will run every night for ten nights with matinees on Saturday and Sunday to which the unfortunate youngsters of the city's institutions will be admitted without charge of any kind.

Harcourt Hervey is Lieutenant-Colonel of the One Hundred and Sixtieth Infantry, California National Guard, and was executive officer of the recent "Soldiers Show" at Exposition Park, while Sheldon H. Barrett, his general manager, staged the "Grotto Circus" for the Jinnistan Grotto and was managing director for Col. Walter P. Story, of the "Soldiers Show."

OPTIMISTS ON MAYFLOWER

Club Has Unusual Setting for Luncheon With High Court Judges as Honor Guests

With more than a score of United States District Court and Superior Court judges as guests of honor the Optimists's Club yesterday held its weekly luncheon in an unusual environment.

The occasion was civic affairs day, and as an appropriate place for the formal exercises, Ira W. Bynes, chairman, chose the main deck of the Mayflower, which Charles Ray has built at his studio on Fleming street for his production, "The Courtship of Miles Standish." Mr. Ray set aside all work for the day and turned his place over to the club and guests to the number of more than 400.

Mayor Cryer, Judges Bledsoe, Trippet and James of the United States District Court, twenty-six judges of the Superior Court and Justices of the peace and City Attorney Stephens were among the guests.

TRIBUTE TO RAY

An incident of the affair was the tribute paid to Charles Ray by Judge Bledsoe, acting for the club, day, and as an appropriate place who presented the producer-star with an engrossed testimonial praising him for the invariably clean and uplifting character of his films and especially his choice for his latest and largest production of one of the important events in American history, the planting of democracy on this continent by the Pilgrim Fathers.

Mr. Ray responded in a brief address telling why he had chosen as a theme real events in American history rather than the creation of some fiction writer, and he assured the assemblage that this material was far more thrilling and stirring than any imaginative plot.

A note of added sentiment was given to the occasion by the appearance of Priscilla Alden Evans, direct descendant of John and Priscilla Alden in the ninth generation, who spoke for the Mayflower kindred and their interest in the production soon to be released.

Luncheon was served on a large stage where the scene builders have constructed a complete reproduction of the settlement of the Pilgrims on the Plymouth shore, with its block houses, and log cabin habitations. The meal was served under a giant tree like that under which the Pilgrims held the first Thanksgiving feast which established the annual custom in this country.

After the luncheon the visitors spent a half hour inspecting the Mayflower, which is a marvel of motion-picture construction and the most expensive set of its dimensions ever built.

BUSCH IS ACQUITTED

A jury in Justice Shenck's court yesterday returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of Louis Busch, charged with a statutory offense against Hermogens La Fouge, 15 years of age, on February 7, last, at her home in Santa Monica. Busch admitted that he had known the girl well and had visited her apartment. He declared that such visits were innocent and that he had long been a friend of the family.

CHURCH FOLK VISIT AT ROACH STUDIOS

FILM SHOWING CORNER-STONE LAYING IS PRESENTED TO RECTOR

More than on shundred members of St. John's Episcoal Church, accompanied by Bishops Stevens and Johnson, and Rev. George Davidson, rector of St. John's, were the guests yesterday of the Hal Roach Studios at a special showing of a film covering the ceremonies attending the laying of the corner-stone for the new St. John's church.

Warren Doane, general manager of the studio, acting for Mr. Roach, who is now in New York City, presented Mr. Davidson with the negative of the film, which is to be preserved in the archives of the church as a lasting record of the corner-stone laying.

Mr. Davidson is regarded as the chaplain of the Roach studios. Mr. Roach is communicant of St. John's. Mr. Davidson united Harold Lloyd, one of the leading lights on the Roach lots, and Mildred Davis, in marriage several weeks ago.

Watsekans Ask Change of Name to Save Time

Clarke Irvine and other motion-picture residents of Watseka avenue, Culver City, have become tired of spelling and trying to pronounce and explain the meaning of their street name.

So they have requested the City Council to change the name, and have suggested that it be called Cinema Drive, because many of the residents are engaged in local studios and also because the town now boasts of some of the largest producing organizations such as Goldwyn, Ince, Roach and Pacific.

"We see no reason for this funny name," states Irvine, who started the alteration movement. "We want more local and simpler things instead of foreign, complicated or old-fashioned things."

"Too much time is wasted every day in spelling and pronouncing Watseka. Every time this trick name is given on the phone or to an order clerk, it takes hours to get it over—and then they take it for Swastika!"

CINEMA PLANTS IN NEW MERGER

Goldwyn to Handle Output of Distinctive Pictures

Deal Gives Distribution Firm Enormous Capacity

Three Films Are Soon to Be Ready for Release

On the heels of the affiliation with Goldwyn Pictures Corporation of Cosmopolitan Productions, news was received by the Goldwyn Studio officials last night of a second big film merger arranged in New York.

Officials of Distinctive Pictures Corporation yesterday signed contracts whereby the Goldwyn Distributing Corporation will handle the entire future output of Distinctive Pictures.

IMPORTANT DEAL

The deal is considered one of the most important of the year in film circles. Distinctive Pictures has valuable production material on hand and a production program that will add twelve big special features to Goldwyn releases.

One production, "Backbone," directed by Edward Sloman from Clarence Budington Kelland's story is now ready for release.

Three Distinctive productions, all of which are made in New York, are nearing completion. They are "The Ragged Edge," by Harold McGrath, being directed by Harmon Weight; "Steadfast Heart," by Kelland, directed by Sheridan Hall, and "Two Can Play," by Gerald Mygatt, also directed by Weight.

ENORMOUS BOOKINGS

Distinctive Pictures Corporation also owns the motion-picture rights to Anzia Yezierska's "Salome of the Tenements;" William Archer's melodrama, "The Green Goddess;" Gilbert Parker's "The Weavers;" Edgar Franklin's "The Adopted Father;" I. A. R. Wylie's "The Inheritors;" Kelland's "Hearts and Fists," and others.

The acquisition by Goldwyn of Distinctive's output, together with its own pictures and those of Cosmopolitan, gives the Goldwyn corporation a strategically commanding position in the motion-picture industry. Goldwyn now has sufficient big features scheduled to book theaters solid for a year at a time.

PICTURE ACTRESS DEFIANT OF TIME

Miss Kate Lester

"It is nonsense for a woman to permit age to interfere with her work." Thus Kate Lester, "grande dame of the screen," who has taken roles in scores of motion pictures in the last few years, defied time as she prepared to start for Coso Hot Springs, Cal., for her first vacation in two years.

During the last two years, during which time she has worked under contract with the Goldwyn Studios, Miss Lester has not missed a day and never permits illness or fatigue to interfere with her work.

She always keeps in condition through exercise and confidently predicts she will be playing in pictures when "Jackie Coogan is playing in grandfather roles."

Some of the pictures in which Miss Lester has appeared are: "The Fourth Musketeer," "Dangerous Curve Ahead," "Don't Neglect Your Wife," "The Glorious Fool," and "Doubling for Romeo."

FILM FOLK IN DANGER OF FLAMES

Patsy Ruth Miller Hurt Slightly in "Two-Reel" Blaze at Universal

That half a dozen people make a multitude when they all try to go out the same door at the same time was learned yesterday at the Universal lot when the first two reels of the "Hunchback of Notre Dame" took fire in the projection theater.

The reels were there for the first showing of the "rough cut" and were being viewed by Patsy Ruth Miller, leading woman of the cast, and Lon Chaney, who plays the Hunchback; Eulalie Jensen, Perley Poore Sheehan, the adapter of the picture, and Eddie Curtis, film editor.

Suddenly the magazine of the projecting booth caught fire and suddenly those in the room rose and made for the door.

All got out safely except Miss Miller, who injured her elbow.

The fire was confined to the film, and the operator was unhurt. The rough cut, it was said, represents several weeks' work, but the damage will not necessitate any retakes as the negative was not involved. The "Hunchback of Notre Dame" has been about five months in production.

Palm and Olive oils—nothing else—give Palmolive its distinctive green color.

Keep that schoolgirl complexion

A firm, fresh and blooming skin, radiant with health and free from blemishes, isn't the attribute of early youth alone. Every woman can keep her schoolgirl complexion long after early youth has flown.

Proper care is the secret—care which keeps the skin in perfect health. This means the scientific cleansing which makes each tiny pore and skin cell active. You must use soap and water freely—you must use it every day.

But not harsh soap—not soap which dries and irritates. Select mild, soothing soap, which cleanses gently, soap with a smooth, creamy lather—soap made from the bland, cosmetic oils Cleopatra used.

Cleanser, tonic and lotion

This soap is Palmolive, delicately fragrant, and the attractive palm oil color of its beautifying ingredients.

Its profuse, creamy lather penetrates every pore, dissolves dirt, perspiration and excess oil secretions. The rinsing water carries them away. No clogging accumulation remains to make your skin coarse.

This gentle cleansing acts as a tonic, reviving tired nerves and muscles, and stimulating each minute gland and capillary. This gives natural color.

It is lotion-like in its action, leaving your skin soft and smooth. Just add a touch of cold cream and you are through.

If your skin is very dry, or when you use rouge and powder, apply cold cream before as well as after washing.

If your skin seems soft and lacking in firmness, apply cold water liberally. This condition often follows the use of cold cream alone for cleansing.

This finest facial soap costs 10 cents a cake

This price is possible because we make Palmolive in such vast volume. The Palmolive factories work night and day. We buy the costly ingredients in enormous quantities.

You can't buy a better soap, no matter what price you pay, because science can't make finer soap.

But the price allows you to provide it for general family use, a luxury all may enjoy.

The Palmolive Company, Milwaukee, U.S.A. The Palmolive Company of Canada, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

The beauty secret of ancient Egypt

This use of palm and olive oils as cosmetic cleansers was a beauty secret discovered 3,000 years ago in ancient Egypt.

The Greeks and Romans also knew their value. Palm and olive oils adorned their sumptuous marble baths.

Now in scientific modern days these same beautifying oils are combined in the most popular of facial soaps. They still hold first place as soothing, healing, beautifying cleansers.

Volume and efficiency permit us to sell Palmolive for

ACTOR PROMOTED

RALPH LEWIS SIGNS TO STAR IN PRODUCTIONS

By Grace Kingsley

You don't have to be a handsome young juvenile of 20 with patent leather hair and an Arrow-collar profile to win a starring contract in the movies these days. Experience and ability are beginning to count, which would seem to augur well for the pictures.

The newest recruit to silent drama stardom, who waited until he was say at least well over 35 years old to achieve the recognition due him, is Ralph Lewis, who has just signed with Robertson-Cole to star in a series of pictures.

Lewis's stories are not yet announced, but will be within a day or two. Lewis spent his youth on the stage, appearing in the classics as well as in various New York stock companies.

He went into pictures about ten years ago, and has been successful from the first. Of late his success has been so pronounced that his services have been in constant requisition, and Robertson-Cole decided to tie him up in star harness.

Robertson-Cole is busy gathering in other talent also. They have just signed. Al Santell and James Horne on long-term contracts to direct features, and James Horne has been assigned to direct Warner Baxter in that actor's first starring vehicle called "Blow Your Own Horn."

Tom Wilson, who made a hit in "Reported Missing," has also been signed. Whether Robertson-Cole intends to let Wilson follow up his success in black-face roles by playing "Uncle Tom" in the film version of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" which they announced once they were going to do, remains to be seen. Yes, yes!

Chip-of-the-Block Note

Fred Niblo's son, Fred Niblo, Jr., who is also the son of the late Josephine Cohan Niblo, and nephew of George M. Cohen, is like to follow in his illustrious fam'ly's footsteps. He has been taken in tow by his famous uncle back in New York, and has been given the post of manager in "So This is London," at the Hudson Theater.

EDWARD SLOMAN TO DIRECT FOR METRO

Announcement of the signing of Edward Sloman by Metro to direct "The Eagle's Feather," the first of the new series of all-star production, was made yesterday by Milton Hoffman, Metro production manager.

"The Eagle's Feather" is a story by Katherine Newlin Burt, which was published recently in a magazine. Winfred Dunn is preparing the screen adaptation.

This will be the first of six all-star specials to be made by Metro during the coming season, and actual filming will be started in about three weeks.

"The Eagle's Feather" is a western drama and will require many interesting locations, among which will be a trip to Wyoming to secure scenes on a real western ranch where a rodeo is to be staged.

Mr. Sloman is not a newcomer at Metro. Several years ago he directed "Burning Daylight," and "The Mutiny of the Elsinore," two Jack London stories released by Metro.

Milton Hoffman Hurries

Maybe you didn't even know that Milton Hoffman, Metro production manager, has been out of town. Well, he has been, but he made the trip to San Mateo in record time, leaving here Tuesday night, spending the day in the San Mateo studios where "The Fog" is being made, and getting back to Hollywood yesterday morning.

Mr. Hoffman reports that "The Fog" will be completed in about a week. Among the members of the Hollywood film colony who are in the north working in this picture are Mildred Harris, Cullen Landis, David Butler, Ethel Wales, Ralph Lewis, Louise Fazenda, Anna May, Edward Phillips, Frank Currier, Louise Dresser and Percy Prevost.

Alice Calhoun Likes Desert

There's one picture star, at least, whom the Chamber of Commerce of Victorville may depend on for an indorsement of the town, and that person is Alice Calhoun, Vitagraph star, who has been working on location up there in a picture called "The Man Next Door," with Victor Schertzinger directing.

"I love the desert, and I've gained three pounds during the three weeks I've been away," said Miss Calhoun. "I rode horseback, hiked over the hills and led a regular outdoor life. When I finish my picture I intend to go back there and gain another three pounds. There's nothing to do evenings except rest. There isn't even a picture show to tempt you out at night. Oh yes, and the desert is perfectly sweet, especially at sundown."

Lovee Loses Tonsils

With a telephone on a stand at his bedside and a stenographer within call, M. C. Levee is running affairs of the United Studios from a sickbed at his home this week. He has had his tonsils removed and hardly feels that he will be used to going about without them for a week or so.

Baby Peggy Plays Comforter

Pandemonium let loose yesterday at the Century studio when the four youngsters being used in Baby Peggy's current picture, "The Orphan," at the end of the day began howling because they couldn't take the respective dollies they had been playing with in the picture home with them.

Nothing in fact would pacify them until Baby Peggy came on the scene, wiped the little girls' eyes with her own hanky, and promised them the dolls should be theirs on completion of the picture.

Palmer Finishes

Camera work on "Judgment of the Storm," formerly called "Out of the Night," the first Palmer Photoplay Corporation screen production, which has been filming at Ince studios, has been completed. The story was written by Mrs. Ethel Styles Middleton of Pittsburg, one of the screen authors trained by the Palmer organization.

Lloyd Hughes, Lucille Rickson, George Hackathorne, Myrtle Stedman, Philo McCullough, Claire McDowell, Bruce Gordon, Frankie Darro and Fay MacKenzie form the cast. Del Andrews directed.

They're Sincere Russians All

"Yarmark," the big Russ spectacle at the Orpheum, is composed of real Russians. In it are three girls who were of the nobility in the old Russian days. One escaped through the night and one was a member of the famous Battalion of Death.

All the men were in the Russ army, and several were wounded. They escaped through the Crimea and thus into Rumania.

The act was formed in Paris, and came thence to New York, only a few weeks ago, where it was eagerly grabbed up by the Orpheum. It will play all of next week.

Mrs. Reid Changes Title

Mrs. Wallace Reid has changed the title of her antinarcotic film from "The Living Dead" to "Human Wreckage."

EASTER CONCERT

Special Program Planned for Sunday Morning Concert

An Easter concert will be the feature of Grauman's fiftieth Sunday morning "Discovery" concert.

As an appropriate attraction to the event, Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher will make a short address on the significance of Easter to the world thought. Dr. Brougher is a brilliant speaker whose long experience in the pulpit has given him a broad and comprehensive grasp of humanity's needs.

Other features will be Alice Dorn, dramatic soprano; Jeanette Rogers, flutist, with Will Garroway at the piano; F. Gaillard, 'cello; Idah Lidward, soprano, and J. Pinkerton Day, baritone, in duet; C. Margadena, trombone, and A. Indreani, trumpet, in operatic selections.

INTENSE EMOTION IN SYMPHONY PHOTOPLAY

Selection of stories for Priscilla Dean is a difficult task. She requires real dramas with the stellar role of intense emotional qualities. Such a story is "The Flame of Life," the screen version of Frances Hodgson Burnette's "The Lass o'Lowrie's," which starts its second week at the Symphony Sunday.

Miss Dean, one of the great emotional actresses of the screen, portrays the role of a slate picker in the mining country of North England. Wallace Beery, inimitable villain, plays the part of her brutal father; Robert Ellis is seen as the ever-man of the mines and the balance of the cast includes Kathryn McGuire, Fred Kohler, Emmett King, Beatrice Burnham, Frankie Lee and others.

The picture carries a stunning climax in the form of a great mining disaster, one of the most realistic things of its kind ever presented on the screen.

"RED BULLDOGS" AT EGAN'S NEXT WEEK

Willard Mack's latest play, "Red Bulldogs," which is his pet name for the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, was written at Lac La Biche, Alberta, where the locale of the story is situated. As was the case with his other story of the Mounted, "Tiger Rose," which he wrote at Peace River Landing, Mr. Mack believes the true way to absorb atmosphere is to "go" where the atmosphere is, hence these two plays of the Mounted Police, Hudson Fay factors, Indians, traders and the rest were concocted in the society of these identical people.

"Red Bulldogs" comes to the Egan Theater next Monday evening surrounded by a notable cast of players.

CLEMONS DANCES AT METROPOLITAN

An unusually novel combination of terpsichorean talent is affected in the feature dance act on the new program opening at Grauman's Metropolitan Theater tomorrow.

James Clemons, musical comedy and vaudeville eccentric dancer, is combined with Easter and Hazelton in a unique dance number entitled, "His Dream."

The feature picture on the new program is Allan Dwan's first production since "Robin Hood," "The Glimpses of the Moon," with Bebe Daniels and Nita Naldi in the featured roles. This picture also marks the return of Maurice Costello, and also includes several other popular favorites.

Tragedy of Toreador to Return

Lila Lee and Rose Rosanova

They appear in "Blood and Sand," which will show next week at Miller's Theater.

GLADYS BROCKWELL IN "OLIVER TWIST"

In 1915 Gladys Brockwell was one of the stellar queens of the stage. She played heroic roles of near-juvenile character, and, earning the proper reward for her gifts of acting and her zeal in her profession, she retired from professional life.

Among her several directors in those days was Frank Lloyd, who, when he was secured for the directorial role of "Oliver Twist," starring Jackie Coogan, coming to the Alhambra tomorrow, was puzzled as to who could properly play Nancy.

Miss Brockwell fortunately, was prevailed upon to forsake her domesticity and return to the screen; and she makes her return in one of the finest characterizations she has yet given to the silver sheet.

OPERA STAR OPENS AT LOEW'S SUNDAY

Dorothy Jardon is to begin her engagement at Loew's State Sunday, after a triumphant tour of Marcus Loew's other Pacific Coast theaters.

For her opening program the prima donna will offer the "Habannera," from Bizet's "Carmen." In addition she will render other numbers, including "Love Sends a Little Gift of Roses," and "Juanita," a lighter melody.

Jack Laughlin is arranging a Carmen setting in which Miss Jardon will work. It will be atmospheric of the famous opera, with Spanish dancers and their clinking castanets, together with other characters of sunny Spain.

REALTOR TO GO ABROAD

Philip D. Rowan, real estate man of this city, applied yesterday for a passport at the office of the United States District Court to enable him to visit the British Isles, Spain, Switzerland, Netherlands, Italy, France and Belgium. The duration of his stay will be indefinite. He goes abroad to study the architecture of the state buildings and private residences in the various countries.

GIFTED ACTRESS READS "SALOME"

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Noted as an actress and for a time a resident of this city, Hedwiga Reicher last night was heard in recital at Gamut Club auditorium. She presented a series of readings, varying in intensity of dramatic material from the vague transparencies of Tagore poems to the superheated exoticism of "Salome" by Oscar Wilde. She interpreted her various selections with a great variety of artistic inflections, and fascinated for the most part a small through receptive audience.

The "Salome" reading was, of course, the main feature of her program. In this she revealed her skill in costuming and settings, suggesting the mood of the whole exotic drama through the placing of two tall lamps, a screen and a carpet, as well as by the bizarre gown that she wore and the clinking ornaments that were on her arms.

Miss Reicher attains a widely diversified quality of intonation. To the character of John the Baptist and of Salome she seemed to give an especial and definite character. The other roles, with the exception of Herod, were perhaps less finely shaded, but the whole spirit of the drama was admirably conveyed, and while she gave to this spirit considerable seriousness, she at the same time impressed one with the idea that Salome was truly naive.

The Tagore selections are at best very fragile affairs, nor do they escape an unconscious humor at times. Tagore, at any rate, with his pink clouds and white-footed maidens flitting o'er the dewy grass, and all the rest of it, is pretty much passe. But for those who still like him I suppose he is still fine. Personally, I am satisfied to live some place either east or west of such Nirvana.

The other interpretation offered by Miss Reicher was "The Forsaken," by Amy Lowell, very effectively staged and acted by her. In fact, all of her readings have the distinction that goes with an intense personality and art.

STAGE IS HOBBY OF MAX DILL

Comedian Designs Settings, Evolves Lighting Novelties and Writes

Max Dill, the rotund comedian of the team of Kolb and Dill, the principal comedians in Aaron Hoffman's latest comedy, "Now and Then," at the Mason Operahouse, is an actor without a hobby, unless it be the stage. It is Dill's delight to write plays, evolve novelties in stage lighting, build miniature scenic settings, or do any of the countless things that find place in that interesting realm behind the asbestos curtain.

It may be of interest to know that the scenic settings of all of the Kolb and Dill plays first are built in miniature and painted by Max Dill. With infinite care he first works out a plan of an act's scene and then makes a cardboard model to represent the picture to be presented in the footlights' glare. All of the major tones and the combinations of color in the painting of the scenery of the Kolb and Dill productions now come under the supervision of Max Dill.

Stored away in his home in California, Dill has preserved his models of every scene in any of the Kolb and Dill productions for nearly a score of years. To him these are priceless as a record and as a guide to further originality.

In making the models of "Now and Then," Dill built clay replicas of the various characters in the cast and with these puppets worked out the various stage pictures of the three acts.

Is it Possible?

to accumulate millions without playing the business game ruthlessly, mercilessly, selfishly?

SOME MEN pile up vast fortunes caring little how many they crush. They are out to win and they are little troubled by how many lose thereby. Their sole concern is for Number One.

Other men never try to get rich. They are tremendously interested in their work. Their imaginations are captivated by a vision. They love to construct and develop. They become millionaires automatically—not through profits as their aim but service.

During his recent trip to the Pacific Coast, B. C. FORBES met and interviewed many of the Men who are Making the West and the March 31st issue of FORBES MAGAZINE contains the story of

HERBERT FLEISHHACKER
President
THE ANGLO & LONDON PARIS NATIONAL BANK OF SAN FRANCISCO

IT is planned to publish each month the story of one of the Business and Financial Giants of the Pacific Coast. Some of them are such outstanding successes as:

WIGGINTON E. CREED
President, Pacific Gas & Electric Co., San Francisco.

E. A. STUART
President, Carnation Milk Products Co., Seattle.

HENRY M. ROBINSON
President, The First National Bank of Los Angeles.

JOHN B. MILLER
President, Southern California Edison Co., Los Angeles.

PAUL SHOUP
Southern Pacific Co., San Francisco

KENNETH R. KINGSBURY
President, Standard Oil Co., (California), San Francisco.

FORBES is a magazine of business for business executives. It deals with fundamentals and fundamental conditions. It is published every two weeks and each issue contains a business forecast, a stock market outlook, Wall Street Pointers, bond market outlook, opportunities for investors, digest of corporation news, and articles on industrial relations and management.

Forbes is edited by B. C. Forbes who has spent a lifetime studying business and business men. Mr. Forbes has a nation-wide reputation among business executives for his fearless reviews and sound forecasts on the trend of business and finance. And he knows and understands equally well the human side of business. He is said to know intimately and have the confidence of more of America's business and financial leaders than any other living writer.

Read one issue of Forbes Magazine and you will realize why 30,000 executives find Forbes invaluable and indispensable.

This Beauty Now For You
—guaranteed!

Science discovers falling, lustreless hair due to a simple infection (Sebum) which is quickly overcome—Amazing results in a few days

Wonderful hair, silky, lustrous, and a world of it!—this remarkable new method offers it to you under written guarantee!

If it fails, the treatment costs you nothing. Women by the thousands have recently made this test. Results are almost incredible.

That Infected Sebum

91% of hair troubles now are traced to infected Sebum.

Sebum is an oil that forms at the roots of the hair and frequently becomes infected. It cakes on the scalp. It plugs the follicles and forms a breeding place for bacteria—germs by the millions feed upon the hair and destroy it.

But note this scientific fact: Remove that infection—the Sebum—and soon your hair has the silken loveliness, the sheen and beauty for which every woman strives.

Our method accomplishes that result. It is sold with written guarantee.

Make the test. It is safe to do so, for you assume no risk. Go today to your drug or department store and obtain the Van Ess Liquid Scalp Massage. Written guarantee comes with each 3-bottle treatment. Results will be a revelation.

Note the rubber cap. You massage this treatment directly into the follicles of the hair.

How Guests Were Delighted in Homes.

RUSSIAN DRAMA TOPIC AT EBELL

Life Expression of Feeling, Says Speaker

Dancing Outgrowth of Spirit of Community

Joy of Acting Is Greater Than Realism

"Dancing isn't an art with the Russian people, it is the expression of feeling." This interesting statement was made by Mrs. Zelenko, who, with her husband, was a guest at the Wednesday Ebell Club luncheon. Mrs. Zelenko is a native of Russia and taught folk dancing there before coming to the United States. According to her, "There is a great community spirit in Russia. The Russian peasants work together, get tired together, rest together and dance together. After the work of the day is done they assemble in the market place and dance. It is their method of expression.

"The Russian, in order to express himself," Mrs. Zelenko explained, "uses nearly all the arts. He wishes to say something, and resorts to poetry. But this isn't all; he has to have music, so he creates a little tune to go with the poem, and then he uses the dramatic art in gesticulating and in acting out his little musical poem. The American people have never had the opportunity to really know Russian folk dancing, for the keynote of it is the community spirit—the group idea. When groups of Russian peasants can be brought over here then the spirit of Russian dancing will be truly understood."

Mr. Zelenko, who talked on the folk theater in Russia, told many interesting bits of information of the stage and the qualities which make for success in acting. He used the illustration of Chaliapin, the musician who has recently been in Los Angeles, and who, when he first went on the stage in Russia, made a miserable failure. Later, success came, because the imagination of Chaliapin was released. That, according to Mr. Zelenko, is the keynote of the ability to act. He said: "Our life consists not only of what we do, but in our ability to change and multiply our personality. We must forget ourselves and use our imagination to impersonate a character in a different way from what we ourselves are."

Mr. Zelenko claimed that the folk theater in Russia played an important part in the life of the people because "the crude forces within the village man or village girl were able to expand under the influence of the theater, and they themselves were forgotten in the joy of acting."

As a suitable ending to the drama luncheon, Mr. Wheeler Dryden, son of Cleo Dryden, noted English actor, and he himself the author of the play "Suspicion," which has been at Egan's Little Theater, told of the theater in India and the many quaint and different ways of acting and putting on a play there. Several years ago, when he was acting with the Howard Phillips company in Bombay, he told of visiting an Indian play given in the Gujerati language, in which the "asides" were spoken in perfect English, thereby creating a weird and odd effect. The three favorite plays in India, said Mr. Dryden, were "The Boomerang," "Peg o' My Heart" and "Within the Law."

The meeting of the drama section in the morning was unusually interesting, having as a program a talk on the origin and educational value of puppets by Mrs. Clara Winlow, and "The Witch's Curse," presented by the Mary marionettes and their creators, the little Miss Jean Sellers and Miss Grace Myers, who not only built the furniture and scenery, but took the eight parts in the play.

Alumnae Club Meeting

The Alumnae Club of the University of Southern California will have its regular meeting tomorrow noon. Luncheon will be served at 12 o'clock in the university parlors, Administration Building, Thirty-sixth and University. Reservations may be telephoned to Miss Eleanor Fulton, 59010, not later than Friday noon.

Sorority Plans Meeting

A meeting of the Los Angeles Alumnae Chapter, Sigma Kappa, will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ray L. Morrow, at 328 West Patterson avenue, Glendale, at 2:30 o'clock.

To Speak for Normal Students

Mr. Frederick Warde, noted actor, left last night for a short trip to Tempe, Ariz., where he will deliver an address on Shakespeare before the State Normal School this evening. Mr. Warde expects to return in time for the Easter sunrise service at Glendale, and will give a talk on "The Sanctification of the Cross" at the Ambassador Sunday afternoon.

NEW ROTARY STEAM ENGINE IS INVENTED

NOVEL MACHINE VIEWED BY EXPERTS PRONOUNCED TO BE SUCCESS

A rotary steam engine which, it is said, will be a tremendous factor in future automobile and locomotive building has been invented here and was successfully tried out Wednesday. The demonstration took place in an Alameda-street machine shop before the inventor, Frank D. McNaughton, Jr., and a number of newspaper men. Later mechanical experts viewed the engine.

McNaughton, who is a former reporter on a local paper, invented the engine which is of the so-called positive expansion type. The pistons rotate and are cam shaped, the pressure of the steam being exerted against the raised portion of the central core.

Engineer friends of McNaughton had predicted that the machine would not move. Following yesterday's performance, however, a number united with him to build and perfect a large machine with a steam generating plant to be placed in a testing automobile.

THIS charming guest, Miss Annette Gano of Philadelphia, who is spending the season at the Huntington, is trying out the new "obstacles" on the golf course there. She loves outdoor sports and is an ardent golfer, playing the game with remarkable skill. Miss Gano has been the inspiration of many social courtesies during her stay in Southern California.

SOCIETY

Prenuptial Tea

To honor Miss Margaret Lucienne Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Gray, who is to marry Mr. Constant Bilicke on April 12, Miss Adele Smith will entertain with a large tea on next Wednesday afternoon. Miss Smith has sent out 100 invitations and she will be assisted by Misses Nancy Bilicke, Virginia Martin, Helen Orendof and Marie Haggerty. It will be a gay springtime affair, the masses of spring blossoms a fitting background for these lovely debutantes.

Kappa Garden Fete

Among the patronesses who will sponsor the Kappa garden fete to be given in the beautiful grounds of the M. H. Whittier home are Mmes. Dean Mason, Oscar Trippet, M. H. Whittier, C. H. Inman, R. L. Hargreaves, C. Frankel, A. R. Jaquith, W. B. Scott and Pearl Selby.

Here for the Summer

Mrs. Courteney Ballagh has arrived from Fort Worth, Tex., and is the guest of her husband's mother, Mrs. James Henry Ballagh, who is planning many delightful entertainments. In a few weeks Mr. Courteney Ballagh will join his wife here.

Bridge Tea

One of the very smart bridge teas of the week was given yesterday by Miss Violet Ander of Lafayette Park Place. The complimented guests were Misses Lura and Martha Spangler, whose engagements were announced on Tuesday, and their house guest, Miss Ellen Callender of North Dakota. The hostess was assisted by her sister, Miss Ellen Andrews, and the guests included the group of college girls who are at home this week for the Easter vacation.

Luncheon Party

Misses Eloise and Marjorie Lysle entertained with a delightful luncheon Tuesday at their beautiful home in Alhambra. The event was to honor Mrs. Donald Cochran Amour of Santa Ynez. There were twenty guests and the affair was typically Californian in every appointment, glowing California poppies being used in the decorating.

Bridge Tea

Miss Mary Langdon entertained with a bridge tea yesterday for Miss Jane De Van. This delightful affair took place at Miss Langdon's home on South Alvarado street, and the company included Misses Dorothy Green, Cosette Cook, Catherine Reynolds, Doris Smith, Peggy Quinlan, Mildred Pitkin, Elizabeth Taylor, Corinne Ross, Margaret Barnard and Helen Thompson.

Linen Shower

An attractive linen shower was given by Miss Norma Riedeman recently in honor of Miss Florence Annabel, who is to wed Mr. Arthur Sucksdorf in April. The table was gaily decorated with red hearts and those present were Mmes. W. Sucksdorf, F. Annabel, J. H. Riedeman, E. Plate, A. Meyers, J. G. Suess, W. H. Ingold, Misses Bertha Sucksdorf, Ruth Wooden, Bess Peck, Margaret Denny, Helen Boettcher, Agnes Vail, Virginia Stoneman, Louise Crook, Aline Feetham and Margaret Kibbe.

Dinner Party

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shults entertained with dinner and bridge last night for Messrs. and Mmes. Ralph Hoard, Milton Taenser and Russell Wilson. The decorations were entirely in yellow, the yellow spring flowers being used on the dinner table.

Motor Trip

Mrs. E. R. Brainerd is motoring to Sacramento today. She has been appointed a delegate from the Friday Morning Club to attend the Educational Federation there. Dr. Grace Fernald is accompanying her. They will go to San Luis Obispo on Tuesday for the exhibit by former soldiers, and return home Wednesday morning.

Afternoon Tea

Mrs. Frank De Long of North Gramercy Place received a large company of friends yesterday afternoon for tea. The house was decorated throughout with gayly colored spring flowers. Mrs. De Long is planning a series of events for the spring months.

Society Notes

This afternoon Mrs. C. M. Williams of the Rampart Apartments is giving an informal tea to a large group of friends.

At the Annandale Country Club next Thursday Mrs. F. M. Rollins of Minneapolis will be the guest of honor at a bridge luncheon given by Mrs. Frank E. Day of the Rampart Apartments.

Mrs. Charles W. Musick entertained a company of friends Tuesday evening at her home in the Ramona Apartments. About twenty-five guests were present from this city and Pasadena.

Mrs. Charles Modini Wood and her daughter, Mrs. Florence Wood Clark, are spending the week at Lake Arrowhead.

Mrs. Dudley Sutton and Mrs. A. L. Cheney have gone to Del Monte and will spend Easter with their daughters, Misses Margaret Sutton and Catharine Cheney, who are attending school at Mills College.

Miss Jane De Van has come home from Miss Harper's School for Girls to spend the Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Durward Shaw De Van.

Mrs. George H. Melford is entertaining at luncheon today at her home on Hillcrest Road.

SPECIAL RAIL RATES

Special round-trip fares to the annual convention of Disabled American Veterans of the World War, to be held at Minneapolis, June 25 to 30 next, has been granted by the Southern Pacific, according to announcement today by F. S. McGinnis, general passenger agent for the company.

The reduction on the basis of a one-way charge for the round trip, applies to members of the organization, dependent members of their families and widows of deceased veterans.

Tickets will be on sale June 19 to 23.

I, I, I: I, MYSELF, I
THE HISTORY OF ME BY ME

Chapter XL

Here we are again, mama-dears; your little rofessor, A. Sockums. You know what "A" stands for? Adorable! The name you gave me! And it stands for thousands of adorables.

Doctor and I just love the letters you are writing us telling you have babies just as adorable as I am. And we have so many letters from boys and girls saying they love me too. Isn't that beautiful? I know that when these boys and girls have the sweet wholesome love for babies they are showing, they sure will keep themselves fine and clean physically and morally so that when they grow up they can have some beautiful healthy babies like me.

Today we are going to continue our little conference on babies' stools. If your baby is ill, mamas, and you have to call upon your physician, here is what he will ask you about the baby's bowel movements and you must be observing so that you can answer correctly. You must also save some of them so he can examine them personally.

First: Number of stools in twenty-four hours.
Second: Color.
Third: Degree of firmness—formed or unformed.
Fourth: Size.
Fifth: Odor.
Sixth. Presence of mucus, curds, blood, or anything abnormal. Your doctor will also want to know if the baby has had any medicine and the foods he has eaten, for of course these influence the character of the stools.

Last week I told you about the normal number and color of the stools. Today I want to speak a little more about the color.

Green stools: Don't be worried, mamas, if our bowel movements turn green after standing. As I told you last week, that is due to the bile changing back to its original color on contact with the air. However, if our stools are green and looser than normal when they are passed, that means diarrhea and your physician should be notified. We shall talk on this later.

The color of our stools depends upon the foods that we take. For instance, when cereal gruels or malted sugars are added to our diets these will give the stool a brownish color. When we begin to eat other foods our stools begin to take on the characteristics of adults' stools and vary from day to day according to the food we eat.

There is very little odor to breast-fed babies' stools. Sometimes babies' stools will leave a pink stain on their napkins. This is due to a change in the bile coloring matter and is of no special significance. Perhaps we need a little more water.

Black stools: The first two or three days our stools are black and sticky and tarry looking, due to the meconium. (Contents of our intestinal tract at birth.). If they should be black after all the meconium is all passed and they have been yellow, that may mean there is a hemorrhage in the intestines and your doctor should be notified. This does not happens very often, mamas, so do not worry. This is due to a rare disease known as melena or hemorrhagic disease of the newborn. It is usually curable under the right treatment.

If there is blood in the stools which can be recognized as blood, that means it comes from the lower bowel and there may be a little crack around the rectum or it may come from little hemorrhages when there is a serve diarrhea.

I see we have to talk on this important subject still another time.

Au Revoir.

Get Back Your Old-Time Here Is the Way—Says

Strength, Vim, Vitality Restored by the Great General Tonic.

Proved in Thousands of Cases

Mr. W. L. Lawler, a well known citizen of Northern Alabama, reports an experience which will interest everyone who is in an ailing, weak or generally run-down condition. Mr. Lawler writes:

"After using the wonderful tonic Lyko, I have received more benefit from it than any other remedy I ever used. I say that this is one of the greatest tonics for vitality, digestion and the liver; a general rebuilder for run-down persons. It has made me an entirely new man at the age of 55. I feel like 30 today."

The power of Lyko to keep a man fit is also well proved by the experience of Mr. H. Jenkins, of Chicago, who says: "My business keeps me closely confined to the office and at a desk all day long. As a result, my system became all clogged up, I was always tired, rested poorly at night and grew nervous and irritable. I began using Lyko and now I am in fine shape again, feel cheerful, and am able to do much more work without fatigue or nervous strain."

An Oklahoma man, Mr. Gallion, also tells about the help Lyko gave his wife after other remedies had failed. His letter reads: "The wonderful relief Lyko has given my wife. She has been taking all kinds of medicine, which did no good. I saw Lyko advertised and got it and it is doing her lots of good."

Mrs. Dennis, of Mississippi, writes: "I have been taking Lyko and have found it the best medicine in the world for indigestion."

Lyko gives its beneficial effects through the action of its pure medicinal ingredients, which are blended and compounded in a way that has rivalled general tonics for constructive agent.

Lyko has a gentle but positive effect. It also puts new energy into the kidneys when they are sluggish, which is shown when the urine is scanty, dark and strong, or are "all unstrung," when the urine is exhausted and burning, when the face and looks old and haggard. In such cases Nature's warning is plain—the system needs the help that Lyko gives.

The fact that Lyko helps to keep the bowels regularly and restores the liver to healthy action is the good this great tonic is doing. Lyko is sold by all reliable druggists. Ask for it.

PLAN WELCOME FOR OPERA STAR

Miss Dorothy Jardon

Police Chief Oaks is to extend a Los Angeles official welcome to Dorothy Jardon, prima donna of the Chicago Grand Opera Company, on her arrival here tomorrow morning via the Southern Pacific. Miss Jardon, it is said, is the only woman in America holding a police captaincy. She won this distinction in New York City by lending her assistance for the annual police drills and exhibitions during the last few years. She was commissioned in 1922 by Police Commissioner Dwyer.

She is coming here for a limited engagement at Loew's State Theater. Motion pictures are to be made of Chief Oaks and Miss Jardon, and will be shown at Loew's here and the 300 other Loew houses in America.

The opera star's appearance in Los Angeles was made possible by Marcus Loew. She will be the first opera star in history to sing three times daily for any lengthy engagement. Known as one of America's great Carmens, Miss Jardon is to sing those numbers with which she has won fame. Following her arrival at the station the police will escort her to the Alexandria.

Funeral Today for Veterinary League Leader

Funeral services for Dr. J. A. Dell, president of the Southern California State Veterinary Association, who died suddenly at his home Wednesday, will be conducted at 2 p.m. today at the Breese Brothers' mortuary, 855 South Figueroa stret. Interment will be in the Rosedale Cemetery.

Dr. Dell was 65 years of age, coming to Los Angeles twenty years ago from Ann Arbor Mich., where he was widely known, his family, being pioneers in that section of the country. Death was due to heart disease, coming after a day's illness.

He leaves a widow, Mrs. Ella V. Dell, an two sons, Oliver C. and Raymond Dell, the latter of Ypsilanti, Mich. Dr. Dell was recently made a life member of the State Veterinary Association of Michigan and took a leading part in the work of the Southern California organization for many years. He also was a member of the Maccabees.

GAS COST CUT BY ORDER

Instruction to Local Company to Increase Heat Units is Equivalent to 2-Cent Slash

Consumers of gas in Los Angeles will be saved approximately $328,500 annually as a result of an order issued yesterday at San Francisco by the State Railway Commission. The order directs the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Company, the Southern California Gas Company and the Southern Counties Gas Company to increase their gas standard from 750 British thermal units to 850 British thermal units, which is expected to effect a reduction of approximately 12 per cent in meter consumption.

The entire Los Angeles district will benefit by the increase in the heat unit of the product, it was stated by members of the commission. It was estimated that the annual saving to the ditrict, which contains 275,000 consumers, would reach $1,135,000 yearly.

Pasadena, South Pasadena, Alhambra, San Gabriel, San Marino, Eagle Rock, Monterey Park, Huntington Park, Vernon, Watts, Inglewood, Hawthorne, Beverly Hills, Sawtelle, Culver City, Santa Monica, Ocean Park, Venice and adjacent unincorporated territory will all come under the new ruling.

The commission's action followed a long investigation on its own initiative in which the gas companies co-operated. It was believed by the commission that greater good could be accomplished by ordering an increase in the thermal units of the product than to slash the rates. Its order was prompted by the fact that the Los Angeles field is supplied by natural gas to a great extent, thus permitting an increase in the standard.

It was pointed out by members of the commission that the change will be equivalent to a reduction in price of 2 cents per thousand feet. A daily saving of approximately $900 will be effected in Los Angeles alone, it was stated. This saving is based on a normal consumption rate averaging 45,000,000 cubic feet a day.

The increase in heat value will be accomplished by the use of a greater proportion of natural gas in the mixture of the artificial and natural product. The additional cost to the companies will be compensated in part by the lesser amount of petroleum needed.

ASSERTS POLITENESS DOESN'T ALWAYS PAY

MAN GIVES SEAT TO WOMAN AND CAR LURCH HURLS HIM TO STREET

Politeness does not always pay, Charles W. Clark testified yesterday in Judge Willis's division of the Superior Court in his suit for $31,000 damages against the Pacific Electric Company. Mr. Clark admitted that the accident for which he is seeking damages never would have happened if he had not given up his seat to an elderly woman on the same car.

He stated that after leaving his seat the car suddenly lurched and he was precipitated head first to the pavement. The case was continued until today.

BOYS REWARDED FOR FINDING SAFE

Three boys who went treasure hunting in the Los Angeles River bottoms and dug up a steel safe belonging to W. L. Wilson of Santa Monica, got no part of the "treasure" itself, but yesterday they were rewarded for their honesty in notifying the Sheriff's office of their find.

Mr. Wilson, to whom the safe and a quantity of bonds and jewelry were returned, presented Deputy Sheriffs Stensland and Brooks with $15, which sum was changed to three $5 gold pieces, one for each of the three boys. The boys were Jack French, John Bissinger and Belmont Griesiman.

The safe was thought to have been stolen by members of the Tom Garwood gang.

PRISONER TAKES LEAVE OF COURT

Munzie Spamineto walked out of Justice Scott's courtroom yesterday afternoon and from all indications he is still engaged in putting as much distance between himself and the courtroom as possible.

Spamineto began walking shortly after Justice Scott announced that he would be held to answer to the Superior Court on a charge of manslaughter, growing out of the death of Edward Ruise, whom the prisoner is asserted to have stabbed during a quarrel. When the court announced that his bail also would be raised from $2500 to $10,000 the prisoner slumped dejectedly into his chair.

That was the last seen of him in the courtroom. He is being sought by police and deputy sheriffs.

Strong Glands Helped Dempsey Win

Dr. W. A. Brady, famous health publicist, said before the Dempsey-Carpentier fight, "The man with the strongest glands will win." No truer statement was ever made. Not only in the prize ring, but in every human activity, strong glands mean supremacy, because strong glands mean courage, ambition, a keen mind, and tireless energy. When the glands slow down, weakness and old age step in.

Physicians and scientists, knowing that inactive glands are often the cause of trouble and weakness, are enthusiastic about gland treatment for nervous and run-down persons. Gland treatment is now offered in the form of Glandogen, in tablet form, which is prepared from the glands of healthy young animals and other valuable ingredients, compounded in highly concentrated form.

Glandogen is obtainable at the Chambers Drug Co., First and Broadway; Henderson-Chambers Drug Co., 3rd and Main; and Blaney-Chambers Drug Stores, 9th and Spring and 5th and Los Angeles. Mail orders given prompt attention.—[Advertisement.

Skin Ablaze with Eczema

Constant Itching Almost Unbearable!

We know there is one thing that stops eczema, and that is more red-blood-cells! S. S. S. builds them by the million! You can increase your red-blood cells to the point where it is practically impossible for eczema to exist. We know that as blood-cells increase in number, blood impurities vanish! We also know that night follows day. Both are facts! But have you, eczema sufferers, ever actually taken advantage of this wonder-ful fact? Thousands just like you have never thought about it! Skin eruptions, rashes with all its fiery, skin-digging torture and its sobbing, unreasonable itching, pimples, blackheads and boils, they all pack up and go, when the side of blood-cells begins to roll in! Blood-cells are the fighting-giants of nature! S. S. S. builds them by the million! It has been doing it since 1826! S. S. S. is one of the greatest blood-cell builders, blood-cleansers and body-builders known to mankind! When you put these facts together,—then to continue to have eczema and skin eruptions looks more like sin than a disease. Mrs. Arthur F. Smith, Pearl St., Newark, Ohio, writes:

"My little girl had a very bad case of eczema. She began taking S. S. S. and it soon cure. I wish you very much, all my friends, as a good medicine is it. I cannot talk too much about it, for I know it is O. K."

Here is your opportunity. S. S. S. contains only vegetable medicinal ingredients. Because S. S. S. does build red-blood-cells, it routs rheumatism, refills firm flesh, fills out hollow cheeks, beautifies the complexion, builds you up when you are run-down. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

What Children Read

Every one who is interested in children, and has the privilege of watching the youngsters grow up, meets numerous surprises when the question of proper reading for children arrives.

There is, to begin with, our American classic, Mother Goose. We give that to the child almost as mechanically as we give it food, for Mother Goose is a part of the birthright of every child and no one is willing to deprive an infant of the inheritance.

And yet, looked at from the standpoint of literature, few things are worse than the doggerel of Mother Goose. It is silly, uncouth, at times ungrammatical. And we are constantly told, and we know without being told, that the first requisite of reading for a child is that the reading should be good literature.

We console ourselves for the bad English of Mother Goose by reminding ourselves that if a child did not get the jingles from us it would get them from playmates. Indeed, I have known parents who kept Mother Goose out of their homes as carefully as if it were a contagious disease, and then listened to their children chanting it by the hour!

TWADDLE FOR CHILDREN

One's next reflection is that one will make up for the literary lack in Mother Goose by providing something really beautiful to follow and perhaps wipe out the memory of the jingles. One starts hopefully on one's quest—and behold, most of the so-called classics of childhood are hopelessly stilted in tone, hopelessly out of date. One finds words, expressions and ideas that one is unwilling to put into the eager little minds so thirstily drinking in all that is offered.

Turning from the so-called classics, one seeks the modern substitutes, and behold one has another jolt! The best one can say of most of them is that they are innocuous—a skim-milk mental diet for babes. But, and here is the rub, they are not interesting—and it is at least as important that they should be interesting as that they should be good literature.

One necessary thing at least the modern literary paper for children has, and that is a purpose of helpfulness—a constructive moral tone. But, alas, most of the material is so deadly, and the moral is so persistently plastered all over it, that a clear-minded child usually rejects the whole business. Such a child is not lured by the goody-goody little girls and goody-goody little boys of up-to-date juvenile fiction. So, once again the helpless adult casts about for the right stories.

Of course, there are always the fairy tales. But here, as in Mother Goose, one comes up against the fact that the influence of most fairy tales can hardly be called developing. There is much in them to terrorize a child, to overstimulate its imagination, to give it false notions of right and wrong. For example, two 5-year-old friends of mine recently diverted themselves by a secret "killing game," and stopped, they later confessed, only because they had mentally killed off everyone they knew! Pressed for an explanation for such a game they explained that folks were always being killed in fairy stories and that it was very "interestin'."

IMPORTANCE OF GRADING

Meeting today's conditions the anxious adult who is cultivating a child's literary instincts finds herself "up a tree." I, myself, have tried to solve the problem by holding to the classics, but carefully editing them as I read them aloud. Also, I do not feel it necessary to confine myself to the so-called juvenile literature. Children will listen to anything that is interesting; and they will interrupt to ask an explanation of what they do not understand—which is in itself an excellent aid to their education.

An authority who has made a careful study of the question of children's reading, utters a warning as to the "grading" of stories, and this is a point which should certainly be borne in mind. A tale that holds a healthful appeal for a child of 8 may be unwholesome reading for a child of 3.

Infants of 3, according to this expert, should have nothing to force their emotions. Give them tales of the real world, of birds and bees and flowers and the like. At 5 or 6 may come the best and least exciting of the fairy tales. At 7 or 8, entering upon the imaginative age, the child is ready for hero tales and tales of adventure. Still later, at 12 or 14—the romantic period—tales of chivalry are in order. About the high school or sentimental age, more sentimental literature is indicated.

But whatever the period, let it be literature one gives the child and not twaddle. That is the first and most important rule.

Question: Who is the Governor of Alaska? W. W.

Answer: Scott C. Bone holds that office.

Q.: What is the Ivory Cross? A. M. P.

A.: The Ivory Cross is an organization founded by Miss Ada Elizabeth Fletcher during the late war for the purpose of aiding in the dental care of discharged service men of the English forces, and, since the war, has continued its work and embraced in its scope free dental care of worthy civilians. This organization sells pictures of St. Appolonia, also a booklet giving her history. The funds go to pay for dental care of worthy poor.

Q.: How much more soap does it take to wash things in hard water? G. L. C.

A.: It depends upon the degree of hardness. A general statement is that it take four to eight times as much soap to make a satisfactory cleansing lather when hard water is used than when soft water is available.

Q.: What is the origin of the phrase "Fourth Estate" as applied to newspapers? R. G. T.

A.: The expression "The Fourth Estate" is a name humorously given in recent times to the newspaper press or the body of journalists constituting a power in the state distinct from that of the three political orders. The clergy, nobles and commons compose the other three estates.

Q.: How did Canada get its name? H. N.

A.: The name "Canada" is derived from the Iroquois Indian word "Kanada," meaning "a cabin." The name "Canada" began to find place on the map soon after Cartier's voyages. It appears from his "Eref Recit" to have been applied by the Indians to the kingdom or district extending from Ile-Aux-Coudres on the lower St. Lawrence to the kingdom of Ochelay, north of Stadacona. The name was first used officially when Francis I commissioned Sieur de Roberval, a friend of Cartier, as "Lord of Norambega, Viceroy and Lieutenant-General in Canada" in 1540.

Q.: What is the difference between a ladybird and a ladybug? A. R.

A.: These names are both given to a beetle of the family Coccinellidae.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES

Credit Where It Is Due

DEL MONTE, March 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Having read your article in "The Times" dated Monrovia, February 7, I beg to call your attention to the fact that this is by no means the first of this kind of work to be done in Southern California. My husband, the late Mr. W. E. Pedley of Riverside, was the inventor of the "Bolder Bag" for use in flood control. His invention was patented and recorded in the United States Patent Office and the final papers taken out.

Examples of the use of his "Boulder Bag" can be seen between Redlands and San Bernardino, also near to San Bernardino, and at Santa Ana and Monrovia, San Bernardino and Santa Ana paid him the royalty on his invention. Monrovia and Redlands refused to do so and unless he had carried it to the Supreme Court he had no way of inforcing this claim. His invention is in every way identical with the one described in the letter from Monrovia, only "Mattress of Rock" has been substituted for the correct term of "Boulder Bag." Under this name it is patented and so appears in the papers of the British Institute of Civil Engineers (of which society he was a full member) and I think also in the papers of the American Institute of Civil Engineers, of which he also a member.

Any slight changes which may have been made in order to justify the new name of "Mattress of Rock" must be quite immaterial as the "Boulder Bag" fulfills every requirement of flood control as anyone can see who will take the trouble to look at the examples I have cited. No one was more alive to the need for flood control in Southern California than Mr. Pedley, also of the spreading of flood waters.

He had made a study of it, not only here, but also in India, where he was in the Indian Civil Service at Karachee for eight years before coming to America, and several years ago he wished to use his "Boulder Bag" in the San Gabriel Valley, but, he was ahead of his time.

Many of his articles on flood control have been published in your paper and I feel sure the editor would be the first to wish to do full justice to my husband's memory and achievements in his profession.

For Speeders and Murderers

LOS ANGELES, March 29.—[To the Editor of The Times:] With great attention I have read the letter the gentleman from Hollywood sent you regarding the conditions in one of our City jails. This is not the first time we have heard about this disgrace, but what can you expect when people vote money for a fancy new library instead of spending the money for more necessary institutions, more policemen, etc. Our jails, court-rooms, City Hall are a shame. As to the speeders, I have no sympathy for them. I know of an excellent remedy, the whipping post for these scoundrels and murderers.

A WARNER.

Real and Near East

OCEAN PARK, March 27.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In the name of the real East I want to protest against an article by a Mrs. C. E. Bence, in which she says: "I don't like Los Angeles now, there are too many easterners there."

From the tone of Mrs. Bence's article I think she never has seen a real easterner or talked with one, she simply confounds the middle westerner with the real easterner.

Let me tell her that the easterner is a man born and brought up east of Buffalo, and inhabitants of the States of Indiana, Iowa, Ohio, Illinois and the like are not easters but middle westerners. They have not the culture of the New Englander or the Middle Atlantic States, and by those who know they are regarded as good, plain people, mostly off the farm, lacking in knowledge of the fine arts, literature and all that makes life worth living.

Los Angeles, I am sorry to say, is filled with people from Iowa and Illinois and other Middle Western States, good, worthy people, who have made their fortune by the work of their hands, and in their old age want to rest and enjoy life in their plain, provincial way. Their idea of a restaurant is not the French or Spanish, but the cafeteria; not the theater, but the good old movies, with our Mary in the title role. As for books, what do they want with books? The paper from the home town with its column of local gossip fills the bill exactly; but these people are not easterners, not for a minute. Do you think that the man from Boston or New York or Washington would be content to live in an atmosphere like Los Angeles? No. He would die of ennui in a week if he didn't commit suicide.

I lived in San Francisco before the fire, and I do admit it was a nice little town, where one could get more for two bits than anywhere else in the world. It was a Bohemian sort of a place, and not without a charm of its own. It was not the least like Los Angeles, I am happy to say, and I don't wonder that Mrs. Bence couldn't stand Los Angeles.

As for Mrs. Bence's remarks about the Pacific, one must take them with whole cloth. I don't believe she ever saw the Atlantic Ocean or her opinion would change, and for this reason. I have lived ten years out here on the slope and never found the Pacific warm enough to take a comfortable swim in. And for the fish, there's no comparison, in the Atlantic we have scollops, clams, little neck and soft shell, and real lobsters, and soft-shell crabs, and bluefish. Think, in the whole Pacific there isn't one bluefish; no, nor any other fish worthy of being compared in the same breath with him.

My advice to Mrs. Bence is to take some of the money she made in the real estate game and buy a ticket to New York, and meet and talk with some of the real easterners, and I think her opinion would change, and for the better.

Wants Standing Room Only

LOS ANGELES, March 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I notice that nearly all of our street cars have more passengers than they can accommodate with seats. Sometimes there are as many standing up as sitting down. Now, it seems to me that that is not fair. All should be treated alike. Besides, to sensitive souls, it is a breach of good manners to occupy seats while fellow-passengers must stand. I move that all seats be abolished. There would be twice the space for passengers if they could be arranged perpendicularly instead of being allowed to spread their feet and legs horizontally halfway across the cars. Besides, it would make it possible and advisable to use flat cars instead of covered coaches, and so save the companies great expense in rolling stock. A good strong railing could be placed along the sides of the car to prevent unfortunate mishaps and the accompanying accident costs to the companies. Of course, this kind of car would not be best in rainy weather, but there are always drawbacks in any great reform movement. Besides, the companies might have an ordinance passed requiring their patrons to wear rubber clothing in such weather. This program should not be carried so far as to make the company abolish those jewels of comfort, the one-man cars.

J. H. HARWOOD.

Lacked Team Work

The sermon at a certain Kansas City church was preached last Sunday morning by a visiting minister, and, says our informant, absolutely no teamwork was used in fitting the music program to the text of the sermon. The sermon was a red-hot one on prohibition. At its conclusion, the choir started off the hymn, "Arise ye sinners," and the minister rose and joined lustily with his congregation in singing, "I drink, yet am forever dry."—[Kansas City Star.

What She Imagined —and What She Saw

"IS that floor linoleum?"

The question springs naturally to the lips of the woman who sees a floor of Armstrong's Jaspé Linoleum for the first time.

The woman who has never seen such a floor has formed a mental picture that is all wrong. She has imagined a linoleum floor with a pattern such as is used only in kitchens, and instead she sees a beautiful, rippling, two-tone Jaspé in a soft, delicate color that blends perfectly with the room's decoration.

She had imagined rows of tacks running along unsightly seams, and she sees a smooth, unbroken surface extending to and under the molding on the wall boards.

Her imagination had conceived a bare expanse of floor and she sees rugs placed as on any wood floor. She sees the soft, mellow glow that comes from a waxed finish, a smooth, nonslippery surface that is obviously easy to clean. She treads on a floor silent, warm, resilient.

You get a sensation of beauty

When you first see a well-planned living-room with a properly laid floor of Armstrong's Linoleum in a modern design, your first impression is one of pleased surprise, with perhaps an idea that such a floor is rather costly.

That is an error. Linoleum is not unduly expensive, and the cost of keeping it in good condition is trifling. Your architect, contractor, or any good linoleum merchant can give you estimates of the cost of Armstrong's Linoleum laid in your home.

WOUNDS WIFE, KILLS HIMSELF

Fires as Fourth-Street Crowd Looks On

Bystander Slightly Hurt by Stray Shot

Woman Likely to Die; Note Tells of Trouble

While a crowd of several hundred persons looked on, Howard Boehme, a mechanic, about 40 years of age, struggled with his wife in front of a barber shop at 1 East Fourth street yesterday afternoon, and before witnesses could interfere shot and seriously wounded Mrs. Boehme and then killed himself.

The first bullet from Boehme's pistol, missing the woman, struck the sidewalk and rebounding, inflicting a flesh wound on a bystander, Tolley of Lankershim, standing about ten feet away.

The crowd clustered so thickly around the dead man and the wounded woman that police had difficulty in breaking through.

The shooting was the climax of a meeting arranged by Boehme at his wife, Ollie, to effect a settlement of personal property with a view to permanent separation, according to Mrs. H. Proud who accompanied Mrs. Boehme to the meeting place.

MET FOR CONFERENCE

Mrs. Proud told police that she met with Mrs. Boehme in an automobile to meet the husband by appointment. She said he drove up in another machine, and Mrs. Boehme got in her own car while her husband and wife talked in the street a few feet away.

After the two had talked briefly, Mrs. Boehme seized a gun and began to struggle with her. Tony Kolokilitas, a motorman standing in the doorway of a car, started to interfere. Then Boehme drew a revolver and fired three times. The first bullet went into the sidewalk, the second went in Mrs. Boehme's right side, and the third penetrated her own head, killing him at once. Three notes found in Boehme's pocket are believed by police explain the tragedy.

FORM OF WILL

The first, drawn up in the form of a last will and testament, and dated January 8 last, gives a list of his belongings and adds:

"I want my wife, Mrs. Ollie Boehme, who on the first day of January, 1923, left my house without word or notice, to have such things mentioned—or my sister, Mrs. J. McMahon, to have all of my wife's things, and my brother, Antone of Venice, to have all. I do as they please with them. Written and signed by me this 8th day of January."

A second note, written in red pencil and signed Ollie, read as follows:

"Howard, I don't stay. I am sorry. Don't look for me. I cannot forget that awful night. It haunts me all the time."

TRIANGLE HINTED

A third, in the husband's handwriting, gives the name and address of a man and adds:

"If anything happens to me, look this man up. He broke my wife and I apart, who have lived as man and wife together for seven years since the 16th of September, 1915, until Jan. 1, 1923. My wife, Mrs. Ollie Boehme, has no relatives living. She was an adopted child when 2 years old."

Mrs. Boehme and Talley were taken to the Receiving Hospital for treatment. Mr. Talley's wound was reported slight. Police surgeons reported, however, that Mrs. Boehme will probably die.

PLAN WILL ELIMINATE CROSSINGS

Supervisors Approve Move to Do Away With Highway at Railroad Level

The Board of Supervisors yesterday aproved plans presented by the City of Pomona to eliminate three grade crossings of the Southern Pacific and Union Pacific Railroads on the highway between Pomona and Los Angeles, by means of constructing an overhead bridge at a cost of $81,000. The cost is apportioned between the city and the two railroads, the city to pay one half and the railroads the other half. The crossings are said to have been the cause of a number of fatal accidents in recent months.

The plan was outlined to the Supervisors by Mayor Ovington of Pomona, and H. J. Nichols, chairman of the road committee, and J. M. Paige, secretary of the Pomona Chamber of Commerce.

The present road runs from First street in Pomona west over both railroads, and about half a mile further turns back again over the Southern Pacific tracks, all three being grade crossings.

The new road as approved will run west from Pomona on Second street, south of the two railroads, and will turn north about half a mile west of Pomona, crossing the Union Pacific tracks by the proposed bridge. The road then will proceed between the two railroad tracks for about half a mile further to join the old highway.

The plan means construction of about a mile of highway and of the overhead bridge across the Union Pacific tracks, and will eliminate grade crossings on the Los Angeles-Pomona highway.

Film Man Held Under Bail as He Surrenders

H. Y. Romayne yesterday surrendered to Deputy Constables Adams and McCullom and was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Scott on suspicion of embezzlement and grand larceny from the Cinema Distributing Company, of which he is a director. His bail was set at $15000, which he furnished. His hearing will be on the 31st inst.

The complaint against Romayne, to be issued by Dep. Dist.-Atty. McClelland, will charge embezzlement of $5000 on Sept. 15, 1922, and of grand larceny of $10,000 on January 30, last. Falsifying of the corporate records will be charged against Romayne, according to Mr. McClelland, on the ground that, following a meeting of the board of directors of the company, Mr. Romayne called in a stenographer and instructed her to write into the minutes a resolution purporting to approve an agreement whereby the company would pay to the Romayne Superfilm Company, of which Mr. Romayne is president, the sum of $150,000 for a film which the latter company would furnish.

HELD ON LARCENY CHARGE

H. R. Mahoney was held to answer by Justice Baird yesterday on charges of grand larceny and issuing checks without sufficient funds. It is charged that Mahoney obtained an automobile warehouse without paying for it. Then he is asserted to have purchased a car, but the check which he presented in payment of the freight charge is said to have been uncovered by funds in the bank. The case is being prosecuted by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Heinecke. Mahoney is at liberty under $1500 bail, having been released in the custody of his attorney.

DRY RAIDERS ARREST HYMEN

Asserted Leader of Bootleg and Still-Manufacturing Ring Taken With Three Others

Four other members of the asserted band of bootlegger financiers and still manufacturers, including Jake Hymen, said to be the ringleader of the band, are in the County Jail today as a result of a raid conducted Tuesday by Federal agents at Burbank.

The three other suspects captured in the roundup at Burbank gave their names as John Smith, Jr., John Smith, Sr., and Sam Zusman. The four men were brought here from Burbank yesterday and arraigned before Justice Scott. Their hearing was set for April 11. Hymen's bail was set at $5000 and that of the other three at $2500 each.

It is believed by authorities working on the case that with the arrest of the four suspects the entire sand has been broken up and that practically all of its members are now in jail. Six other members of the asserted gang were arrested about two weeks ago and are awaiting trial. One of these was Mrs. Ida Hymen, wife of the asserted chief.

It was also learned yesterday that five complaints charging violation of the Volstead Act and conspiracy have been issued against Hymen by Federal authorities. He gave bail in each case, it was stated, on one occasion depositing $6500 to guarantee his appearance at the forthcoming trial.

When arrested at Burbank Hymen is said to have given his name as Joe Goldberg. His identity, however, was established by Charles Farley, investigator from the District Attorney's office, who was brutally assaulted a few days ago near Hymen's house here while checking up the activities of the gang. A still of the same type which the band is said to have manufactured and supplied boot'eggers at Downey and Clearwater, was also found by the Federal agents in the Burbank raid.

It was revealed at the District Attorney's office that Hymen had been placed under arrest about a week ago by an investigator, but had made his escape when his captor stumbled and fell over an ash can.

The band is said to have supplied stills to scores of bootleggers operating in this section. The stills, it is charged, were manufactured by the wholesale in a sheet-metal factory rented by the band. It is also charged that the band financed many bootleggers and aided them in carrying on their operations.

STATE WEAKENS IN JACOBS CASE

resembles more closely the man who was last seen with Fritzi Mann than does Capt. Jacobs.

COMPANION UNIDENTIFIED

Mr. Kern was the only person who saw Fritzi, the butterfly girl of San Diego, with a man on the night of her mysterious death. With the unidentified man, she called at the La Jolla cottage about 5:30 o'clock on the evening of January 14. They were in a closed two-passenger car and while the man registered as "Alvin Johnson and wife," Fritzi remained in the car. Then Fritzi and her companion drove away, saying they would return later. A short time later, Mr. Kern noticed lights burning in the cottage and the car was standing outside. At 10:30 p.m. the lights were out and the car was gone.

"Have you ever seen Dr. Jacobs?" Dist.-Atty. Kemplay asked the witness.

"Yes, in Chief Patrick's office on January 17."

"Are you able to say that Capt. Jacobs is the man who rented the cottage with Fritzi?"

"No."

"NOT JACOBS'S CAR"

Under cross-examination by Attorney Schenck, Mr. Kern described the automobile in which Fritzi arrived at the Blue Sea Cottages. He stated he was later shown an automobile, the property of Capt. Jacobs.

"The car I saw that night was not Capt. Jacobs's car, I am positive," declared the witness.

Two weeks following the finding of Fritzi's sparely clad body on the beach of Torrey Pines, Mr. Kern was confronted with Capt. Jacobs.

"I could not identify him as Fritzi's companion," said Mr. Kern.

He was later confronted by two suspects. One was Roger V. B. Clark, a Los Angeles motion-picture promoter, who was arrested on suspicion of being implicated in Fritzi's mysterious death and later released. At that time, Mr. Kern testified, he told the officers that Roger Clark looked more like the man than did Capt. Jacobs.

There was said to be a certain resemblance in Clark's features to those of Fritzi's companion.

"In your opinion," Mr. Schenck asked the witness, "does Roger Clark resemble the man who was in the car with Fritzi more than this defendant does?"

"Yes sir."

"Do you think he is the man who was there on that night?"

"I could not positively identify him. I would say that Clark closely resembles the man."

CAPT. JACOBS SMILES

Mr. Kern told the jury that the man with Fritzi was slightly built and with sunken cheeks, about five feet and eight or ten inches tall, and with a cold sore on his face.

"He looked as if he was in very poor health, either a consumptive or a drug addict."

Dorothy Armstrong was the dancing partner of Fritzi. She flitted into the courtroom and climbed to the witness chair as the crowds surged in their seats and leaned forward.

Her testimony had just begun. She had told the jury of meeting Fritzi and Dr. Jacobs shortly after Fritzi's return from her last visit to Los Angeles. It was here where Capt. Jacobs's defense forces struck their heaviest offensive blow at the prosecution's chain of circumstances. Attorney Schenck objected to admitting Dorothy's testimony into the court record. He declared no foundation had been laid for it. He charged that the San Diego prosecutor had failed to show a crime had been committed. Mr. Kemplay admitted he had not established the corpus delecti, that the calling of the witness was premature and out of order, but that he would be able to establish this fact with the testimony of Autopsy Surgeon J. J. Shea, the next witness to be called.

RESUME TRIAL MONDAY

Dr. Shea will take the stand Monday. An adjournment was taken until that date. If the autopsy surgeon at that time fails to assist the prosecutor in establishing the corpus delecti, it is expected that Capt. Jacobs's four attorneys will request a dismissal of the case against him.

Coroner Schuyler had made a preliminary investigation of the mystery and had conducted the inquest over Fritzi's body. He had found something on Fritzi's rouge-tinted lips. He did not know whether it was dry saliva or poison. It was the suggestion of murder, contained in the chain of circumstances. He said it looked like a certain kind of poison, but but there were no crystals, powder grains or blood specks, such as poisonous exude from the mouth would contain, and he admitted he had applied no tests to determine if it was poison.

The green garters which Fritzi had worn were exposed to the overcrowded courtroom. With a crumpled pink "teddy" and a pair of silk stockings they were dragged from a handbag. Fritzi had worn them when she died. Coroner Kelly pawed over them, examined them closely through his extra pair of spectacles. Thea Atty. Schenck held them up to the light and examined them thoroughly.

FRITZI'S BROTHER CALLED

The Coroner described the sand-crab bites on the cheek and the eyelids of Fritzi. These tiny wounds interested Attorney Schenck and his questions indicated that he will attempt to prove the sand-crabs were responsible for the pool of blood found in the socket of one of Fritzi's eyes and which the prosecution has hinted resulted from a head injury.

William Mann, former overseas aviator, is the brother of the dead dancer. He was called by the prosecution, ostensibly to prove the sincere affection said to have existed between his pretty sister and Capt. Jacobs.

Dr. Jacobs had called on Fritzi on an average of once each week since their first meeting last April, the brother testified, and during the last week of Fritzi's life he had telephoned to her daily.

William last saw Fritzi on the afternoon of January 14. She seemed cheerful, took a bath, curled her hair, ironed her frock, "doll'ed all up," and said she was going on a house party.

"After leaving the house she telephoned to her mother about 5:30 in the evening and said she was going to a party on a ranch near Del Mar," said the witness. "She was very evasive. She would not reveal the name of the man who was to accompany her. She said he was a 'gent' from Los Angeles. It was the first time she had ever refused to tell her mother what man she intended to spend an evening with."

HAD JACOBS'S CHECK

William McKeighan is a clerk at the Hotel Rosslyn. He testified that Fritzi had registered at the hotel on Dec. 6, 1922, and had checked out on December 19. On December 21 Fritzi showed the clerk a check for $75. It was made payable to her and signed by somebody named "Jacobs."

The hotel clerk's testimony was admitted over strenuous objections from Capt. Jacobs's counsel. Mr. Kemplay admitted it was secondary evidence, but that he would lay the required foundation at a later date.

"The check is in the defendant's possession," said the prosecutor.

Mr. Schenck vigorously objected to the remark as a statement with no proof or foundation and requested the court to instruct the prosecutor that he was guilty of misconduct.

Superior Judge Marsh stated that unless proper foundation was later laid for the hotel clerk's testimony, it would be stricken out.

Other witnesses included the hearse driver who carried Fritzi on her last ride and a photographer who took photographs of the scene where the body was found.

War Veterans and Auxiliary for Fredericks

Further indorsements of Capt. Fredericks's candidacy for Congress have come from Roosevelt Camp No. 9, United Spanish War Veterans, and the women's auxiliary of the camp.

The two organizations adopted resolutions Wednesday night urging all members to support Capt. Fredericks. Roosevelt Camp No. 9 has a membership of 1400 and the auxiliary has a membership of 360.

Capt. Fredericks, a Spanish-American War veteran, is a past commander of Roosevelt Camp.

PROTEST AGAINST WIDENING OF STREET

At a mass meeting at the Santoua Junior High School on West Pico street, protesting against the widening of Tenth street, a committee was named to employ legal counsel to represent the group in a protest to the City Council Monday. The contention of the objectors is that, if the street is to be widened at all, the city should levy a general tax to pay for the project.

ENDS LIFE WITH GUN; NOTE BLAMES ILLNESS

John W. Otterson, 61 years of age, of 315 South Bunker Hill avenue, killed himself yesterday by firing a bullet into his head. He left a note stating that he had been in ill health for some time and did not care to live longer. Police have been unable to locate any relatives.

NEW CLEW IN HUNT FOR BOYS

ranch country, over an area of twenty square miles.

Mrs. Lulu Jensen, mother of Dickey, personally directed one squad of searchers. Her frantic efforts to find her boy continued throughout the day and tonight she was on the verge of collapse. Physicians fear she will become mentally deranged through the long days and nights of sleepless agony.

At home nursing her 4-month-old babe was Mrs. Rose Meecham. With each passing automobile, each sound of footsteps on the walks she runs to the door, expectant and waiting.

CLEWS FADE

Scores of clews, each of which faded before investigation by officers, were received during the day. The city was excited when a wire came from El Centro saying a boy answering the name of Dean had been found by officers in that city. Mrs. Meecham became hysterical and fainted when it was definitely established that this Dean was not the missing boy of San Bernardino. The search will continue tomorrow.

Search for Dean Meecham and Dickey Jensen, was continued yesterday by Sheriff Walter A. Shay of San Bernardino and Deputy Sheriffs Brook and Stensland among the gypsy camps between San Fernando and Tropico, but without result. A tow-headed child, answering somewhat to the description of one of the missing tots, was found in one of the camps, but he turned out to be the son of one of the gypsies.

REPORT TO SHERIFF HERE

Sheriff Traeger's office was notified last night that four gypsies, two men and two women, riding in a car which answered the description of the machine in which little Dicky Jensen and Dean Meecham of San Bernardino, are believed to have been kidnaped, had been seen in Los Angeles.

C. S. Siesricht of 940 Albany street, told the Sheriff that the gypsy quartette had called at his home during the day and offered to tell his fortune.

Mr. Siesricht said the curtains of the automobile in which the four were riding were closely drawn and that as they drove away he heard voices, apparently of children, coming from the back seat.

The Sheriff's office did not consider the clew important and made no effort to trail the gypsies, who drove away when Mr. Siesricht refused to give them money. Their car bore the license number 6Z4699.

FREDERICKS IS PARTY'S CHOICE

presided, spoke briefly and warmly in support of Capt. Fredericks. Some doubt as to the efficacy of the action was voiced by Galena Welch, of Long Beach, which is in the Ninth District. However, W. E. Evans, also of the Ninth District, declared that the necessity for having a strong man represent the county as a whole overshadows any purely local considerations. Others who spoke in support of the action were John Mott, E. P. Clark, Joe Craft and E. D. Seward.

The members of the executive committee, nearly all of whom were present at yesterday's meeting at the Clark Hotel, are:

Ralph Arnold, chairman; Joseph A. Allard, Jr., William H. Archdeacon, Mrs. Dorothea B. Ashcraft, Mrs. Louise Brainerd, W. E. Brown, Arthur E. T. Chapman, E. P. Clark, Louis M. Cole, Joe Craft, Volney H. Craig, Harvey B. Dalton, Arthur W. Eckman, H. J. Evans, William E. Evans, M. M. Fogel, Clarence W. Horn, W. I. Hollingsworth, G. E. Hughes, W. P. Jeffries, J. Webster Johnson, Parley M. Johnson, William H. Kilgore, Mrs. Kathryn W. Leighton, John McDonald, A. C. Malone, J. L. Matthews, John O. Mott, Frank H. Mouser, Herman L. Perry, Mrs. Florence Collins Porter, W. J. Sanborn, C. H. Salina, E. D. Seward, Cadet Taylor, Charles H. Toll, Leonard E. Thomas, Charles E. Treat, Galen H. Welch, John Robert White, Jr.

Headquarters for Fredericks Opens Monday

Headquarters for Capt. John D. Fredericks's Congressional campaign will be opened Monday in the Pacific Mutal Building, O. R. W. Robinson, Capt. Fredericks's campaign manager, announced yesterday.

Charles H. Treat, temporary head of the Fredericks campaign committee, met Capt. Fredericks and Mr. Robinson yesterday in conference. A second meeting will be today and the names of Tenth District Republicans who are to be placed on the committees announced.

With the selection of the committees Mr. Robinson will turn his attention to organization work among Capt. Fredericks's friends. A call already has gone forth for volunteer speakers.

Try This to Break Up Cold

Prescription Used 30 Years Prized Highly

MOST people don't know that a "cold" is very similar to a headache in origin. Each is caused by congestion or gorging of the blood vessels. In the case of a "cold," the linings of the nose and throat passages become inflamed and discharge poisons that make you feel sick all over.

You can break up a cold with one or two Orangeine powders compounded from famous prescriptions. Ask for it by name—Orangeine. This treatment reduces the congestions and so the cold "goes." For more than 30 years druggists have been dispensing this prescription as a positive form of relief for Headache and various kinds of pain.

Women Should Act Quickly

When a woman finds herself afflicted with backache, headaches, nervousness, dragging-down pains, pain in her side, irregularities and irritability, dark circles appear under the eyes and her complexion gets sallow, she may be sure the underlying cause is some ailment peculiar to her sex. Such women should act quickly and take the great American remedy for such conditions, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and they may be saved years of suffering. For generations this old-fashioned root and herb medicine has been restoring ailing women to health, and it may be relied upon with perfect confidence.—[Advertisement.
